SUMMARY ANALYSIS

The Florida Birth-Related Neurological Injury Compensation Plan (plan) is the alternative to medical malpractice claims for birth-related neurological injuries. The plan provides compensation and other services to persons with birth-related neurological injuries. The benefits are more restricted than the remedies that would be provided by tort law, but a claimant is not required to prove malpractice. One issue that arises in cases to determine whether a family is required to file for benefits under the plan is whether the mother was properly notified regarding the plan.

This bill provides that the Division of Administrative Hearings has the exclusive jurisdiction to decide whether the statutory notice provision has been met.

Additionally, the bill authorizes the Florida Birth-Related Neurological Injury Compensation Association (NICA), which administers the plan, to contract with the State Board of Administration to invest and reinvest plan funds. NICA currently has authority to invest plan funds, and the bill provides that the State Board of Administration is one of the entities with whom NICA may contract for this service.

This bill does not appear to have a fiscal impact on state or local governments.

This bill provides an effective date of upon becoming law.

FULL ANALYSIS

I. SUBSTANTIVE ANALYSIS

A. HOUSE PRINCIPLES ANALYSIS:

This bill does not appear to implicate any of the House Principles.

B. EFFECT OF PROPOSED CHANGES:

Florida Birth-Related Neurological Injury Compensation Plan

The Florida Birth-Related Neurological Injury Compensation Plan (the "plan") was enacted by the Legislature in 1988.<sup>1</sup> Currently, Virginia is the only other state in the nation that has a no-fault coverage plan that is similar to Florida's plan.<sup>2</sup> The plan was created to provide compensation, long-term medical care, and other services to persons with birth-related neurological injuries. Although the benefits paid under the plan are more restricted than the remedies provided by tort law, the plan does not require the claimant to prove malpractice and provides a streamlined administrative hearing to resolve the claim.<sup>3</sup>

A "birth-related neurological injury" as defined in s. 766.302(2), F.S., is an injury to the brain or spinal cord of a live infant weighing at least 2,500 grams for a single gestation or, in the case of a multiple gestation, a live infant weighing at least 2,000 grams at birth caused by oxygen deprivation or by mechanical injury occurring in the course of labor, delivery, or resuscitation in the immediate postdelivery period in a hospital. The injury must render the infant permanently and substantially mentally and physically impaired.

Florida Birth-Related Neurological Injury Compensation Association (NICA)

The entity charged with administering the plan is the Florida Birth-Related Neurological Injury Compensation Association (NICA or association). Under s. 766.315(4), F.S., NICA's duties include:

- Administering the plan;
- Administering the funds collected;
- Reviewing and paying claims;
- Directing the investment and reinvestment of any surplus funds over losses and expenses;
- Reinsuring the risks of the plan in whole or in part;
- Suing and being sued, appearing and defending, in all actions and proceedings in its name; and
- Taking such legal action as may be necessary to avoid payment of improper claims.<sup>4</sup>

The funding for the plan is derived from an appropriation by the Legislature when the plan was created and annual fees paid by physicians and hospitals.<sup>5</sup>

The plan pays, on behalf of a qualifying infant:

- Necessary and reasonable care, services, drugs, equipment, facilities, and travel;<sup>6</sup>

<sup>1</sup> Chapter 88-1, ss. 60-75, L.O.F., was enacted by the Legislature in an attempt to stabilize and reduce malpractice insurance premiums for physicians practicing obstetrics, according to the legislative findings and intent cited in s. 766.301(1)(c), F.S.

<sup>5</sup> Section 766.314, F.S., requires non-participating physicians to pay $250 per year, participating physicians to pay $5,000 per year, and hospitals to pay $50 per infant delivered during the prior year.

<sup>6</sup> Expenses that can be compensated by state or federal governments, or by private insurers, are not covered by the plan.

- One-time cash award, not to exceed $100,000, to the infant's parents or guardians;<sup>7</sup>
- Death benefit of $10,000 for the infant; and
- Reasonable expenses for filing the claim, including attorney's fees.

Filing a Claim for Benefits

A claim for benefits under the plan must be filed within five years of the birth of the infant alleged to be injured.<sup>8</sup> The parents or guardians of the infant petition with the Division of Administrative Hearings (DOAH). DOAH serves a copy of the petition upon NICA, the physician(s) and hospital named in the petition, and the Division of Medical Quality Assurance.<sup>9</sup> Within ten days of filing the petition, the parents or guardian must provide NICA all medical records, assessments, evaluations and prognoses, documentation of expenses, and documentation of any private or governmental source of services or reimbursement relative to the impairments. An administrative law judge (ALJ) from DOAH will set a hearing on the claim to be conducted 60-120 days from the petition filing date.

The issue of whether the claim for compensation is covered by the plan is determined exclusively in an administrative proceeding.<sup>10</sup> The ALJ presiding over the hearing makes the following determinations:

- Whether the injury claimed is a birth-related neurological injury;
- Whether obstetrical services were delivered by a participating physician; and
- How much compensation, if any, is awardable under s. 766.31, F.S.<sup>11</sup>

If the ALJ determines that an injury meets the definition of a birth-related neurological injury, compensation from the plan is the exclusive legal remedy.<sup>12</sup> If the ALJ determines that the injury alleged is not a birth-related neurological injury or that the obstetrical services were not delivered by a participating physician, the ALJ will enter an order to that effect. The ALJ may also bifurcate the proceeding and address compensability and notice first, and address an award, if any, in a separate proceeding.<sup>13</sup> If any party chooses to appeal the ALJ's order under s. 766.309, F.S., the appeal must be filed in the District Court of Appeal.<sup>14</sup>

Notice Requirement

Section 766.316, F.S., requires any hospital with a participating physician on its staff, and each participating physician under the plan to provide notice to an obstetrical patient as to the limited no-fault alternative for birth-related neurological injuries. The notice must:

- be provided on forms furnished by the association; and
- include a clear and concise explanation of a patient's rights and limitations under the plan.

This section also provides that notice does not need to be provided to a patient when the patient has an emergency medical condition or when notice is not practicable. This section does not specifically address the effect of failure to provide notice to the obstetrical patient.

Courts have addressed the issue of who determines whether notice has been properly provided. Four of the five District Courts of Appeal have held that the ALJ has the exclusive jurisdiction to determine whether notice has been properly provided. However, in the Second District Court of Appeal, in

<sup>12</sup> Section 766.303(2), F.S., only allows a civil action in place of a claim under the plan where there is clear and convincing evidence of bad faith or malicious purpose or willful and wanton disregard of human rights, safety, or property.

Bayfront Medical Center, Inc. v. NICA, 893 So. 2d 636 (Fla. 2nd DCA 2005), the court affirmed its approach that the ALJ's jurisdiction extends only to the determination of whether the child suffered a neurological injury that was compensable under the plan. The court recognized the conflict with the other district courts of appeal, but declined to recede from its holding and certified the conflict to the Florida Supreme Court.<sup>15</sup> In Tabb v. Florida Birth-Related Neurological Injury Compensation Association, 880 So. 2d 1253, 1256 (Fla. 1st DCA 2004), the First District Court of Appeal reasoned that "[i]n order to 'hear and determine' a claim, an ALJ must, almost of necessity, decide whether notice was given, because if no notice was given, the exclusivity provision of the statute does not apply." In addition, the court pointed to recent amendments to the statute that implicitly acknowledge the existing case law indicating that an ALJ has jurisdiction to determine whether notice was provided.

Effect of Bill

Notice

This bill amends s. 766.309(1), F.S., to provide that it is the exclusive jurisdiction of an administrative law judge of DOAH to determine whether the notice requirement in s. 766.316, F.S., has been met.

The bill also states that it is the intent of the Legislature that the amendment contained in this act clarifies that since July 1, 1998, the administrative law judge has had the exclusive jurisdiction to make factual determinations as to whether the notice requirements in s. 766.31, F.S., are satisfied.

Contracts for Investment

This bill also authorizes NICA, which administers the plan, to contract with the State Board of Administration<sup>16</sup> to invest and reinvest plan funds. NICA currently has the authority to invest plan funds, and this bill authorizes NICA to utilize the State Board of Administration to provide NICA an additional source for managing investments at no cost to the state. The State Board of Administration has agreed to invest the funds of NICA, should this bill become law.

C. SECTION DIRECTORY:

Section 1. Amends s. 766.309, F.S., to provide that an ALJ of DOAH has the exclusive jurisdiction to determine whether the notice requirement in s. 766.316, F.S., has been met.

Section 3. Amends s. 766.315, F.S., to authorize the State Board of Administration to invest and reinvest funds for NICA.

This bill does not require counties or municipalities to take an action requiring the expenditure of funds, nor does it reduce the authority that counties or municipalities have to raise revenue in the aggregate, nor does it reduce the percentage of state tax shared with counties or municipalities.

2. Other:

Florida courts have found that the Legislature has the authority to apply law retroactively as long as the new law does not impair a vested right.<sup>17</sup> Courts have used a weighing process to decide whether to sustain the retroactive application of a statute that has three considerations: the strength of the public interest served by the statute, the extent to which the right affected is abrogated, and the nature of the right affected.<sup>18</sup> In this instance, the bill does not appear to impair a vested right of a claimant or defendant, but may rather seek to serve the public interest. The bill provides that an ALJ of DOAH has exclusive jurisdiction to determine if the notice requirements were met.

SUMMARY ANALYSIS

Current law provides that it is a criminal offense to:

- Obtain property or equipment by trick or false representation with the intent to defraud the lawful owner;
- Hire or lease property or equipment with the intent to defraud the lawful owner; and
- Abandon or refuse to redeliver hired or leased property at the termination of the agreed upon time period with the intent to defraud the lawful owner.

However, this offense may not be prosecuted if the agreement between the lessor and lessee is a rental-purchase agreement, unless the lessor holds title to the personal property or equipment throughout the agreement.

This bill removes the exclusion regarding rental-purchase agreements, and the related exception to the exclusion regarding title to the personal property or equipment.

This bill does not appear to have a fiscal impact on state or local governments.

FULL ANALYSIS

I. SUBSTANTIVE ANALYSIS

A. HOUSE PRINCIPLES ANALYSIS:

Promote personal responsibility -- This bill may expand the scope of s. 812.155, F.S. and thereby increase the number of persons that are subject to criminal penalties for failure to return leased personal property or equipment.

B. EFFECT OF PROPOSED CHANGES:

Background

Chapter 812, F.S., contains theft crimes. Section 812.155, F.S., creates a theft offense related to hiring, leasing, or obtaining personal property or equipment with the intent to defraud.

Subsection (1) provides that it is a crime to obtain any personal property by trick, deceit, or fraudulent or willful false representation. Subsection (2) provides it is a crime to hire or lease personal property with intent to defraud. Subsection (3) provides that it is a crime to fail to return rented personal property at the conclusion of the rental period if such failure to return is done with the intent to defraud, abandon, or willfully refuse to return the property. Subsections (4) and (5) provide conditions and evidentiary presumptions by which a court may infer that a lessee intended to defraud the lessor should the lessee fail to timely return the leased personal property or equipment.

The offense is a first-degree misdemeanor if it involves property valued at less than $300, and is a third-degree felony if the property is valued at $300 or more.<sup>1</sup>

When first enacted, the law contained an exclusion which provided that the criminal offenses at s. 812.155, F.S., would not apply to a "rental-purchase agreement that permits the lessee to acquire ownership of the personal property or equipment".<sup>2</sup> An exception to the exclusion was added in 2001.<sup>3</sup> The exception provides that the exclusion does not apply, and thus a person may be prosecuted under s. 812.155, F.S., if the "rental store retains title to the personal property or equipment throughout the rental-purchase agreement period."

The current law is unclear in several respects. It is unclear what the term "rental store" means and what persons or entities it includes, as the term is not defined by statute. As the rental store must retain title throughout the agreement period in order to preserve the store's ability to prosecute a lessee who fails to return personal property or equipment, it appears that a rental store cannot sell or assign the right to collect the payments due under the agreement.<sup>4</sup> Finally, as it is not common for a rental store to sell or assign the right to collect the lease payments, it appears that the exception may, in practice, render the exclusion meaningless in all but a few cases.

In criminal law, every element of the offense must be proven beyond a reasonable doubt. As to s. 812.155, F.S., elements of the offense that the prosecution must prove include: that the agreement between the lessor and the lessee/defendant was not a rental-purchase agreement or, if it is, that the <sup>1</sup> A first degree misdemeanor is punishable by a fine of up to $1,000 and imprisonment of up to one year. A third degree felony is punishable by a fine of up to $5,000 and imprisonment of up to five years. See ss. 775.082 and 775.083, F.S. The third degree felonies in this section are not ranked in the Offense Severity Ranking Chart, and thus default to a level 1 offense. See s. 921.0023, F.S.

<sup>4</sup> Sale or assignment of the right to collect payments would, in the case of a rental-purchase agreement, also involve transferring title of the personal property or equipment to the entity entitled to collect the payments. This type of transaction is sometimes referred to as selling the commercial paper. There is no apparent public policy consideration for limiting or restricting the sale of commercial paper by a rental store.

rental store retains title to the personal property or equipment throughout the rental-purchase agreement period. In practice, the exclusion and the exception can create confusion as they require the prosecutor to prove the absence of a fact.

Effect of Bill

This bill amends s. 812.155, F.S., to delete the exclusion related to rental purchase agreements. Thus, a lessee may be prosecuted for failure to return leased property or equipment regardless of whether the agreement between the parties was a rental-purchase agreement, and regardless of whether the lessor retains title to the personal property or equipment throughout the rental-purchase agreement period.

C. SECTION DIRECTORY:

Section 1 amends s. 812.155, F.S., to delete the exclusion related to lease-purchase agreements.

Section 2 provides an effective date of July 1, 2006.

III. COMMENTS

A. CONSTITUTIONAL ISSUES:

1. Applicability of Municipality/County Mandates Provision:

This bill does not appear to require counties or municipalities to take an action requiring the expenditure of funds, reduce the authority that counties or municipalities have to raise revenue in the aggregate, nor reduce the percentage of state tax shared with counties or municipalities.

2. Other:

Article I, s. 10, of the Florida Constitution provides that "[n]o bill of attainder, ex post facto law or law impairing the obligation of contracts shall be passed." This bill as drafted may apply to a rental purchase agreement effective prior to the effective date of the bill. It is possible that courts will limit application of this bill to rental-purchase agreements made on or after the effective date of the bill.

B. RULE-MAKING AUTHORITY:

None.

C. DRAFTING ISSUES OR OTHER COMMENTS:

The bill has an effective date of July 1, 2006. Traditionally, general bills and bills affecting state revenues have an effective date of July 1, 2006, to correspond to the state's fiscal year. Bills affecting the criminal law traditionally have an effective date of October 1, 2006.

A bill to be entitled

An act relating to the unlawful taking of personal property or equipment; amending s. 812.155, F.S.; deleting a provision specifying that the prohibition against obtaining personal property or equipment with intent to defraud does not apply to a rental-purchase agreement unless the rental store retains title to the property or equipment throughout the period of the rental-purchase agreement; providing an effective date.

Be It Enacted by the Legislature of the State of Florida:

Section 1. Section 812.155, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

812.155 Hiring, leasing, or obtaining personal property or equipment with the intent to defraud; failing to return hired or leased personal property or equipment; rules of evidence.--

(1) OBTAINING BY TRICK, FALSE REPRESENTATION, ETC.--Whoever, with the intent to defraud the owner or any person lawfully possessing any personal property or equipment, obtains the custody of such personal property or equipment by trick, deceit, or fraudulent or willful false representation shall be guilty of a misdemeanor of the second degree, punishable as provided in s. 775.082 or s. 775.083, unless the value of the personal property or equipment is of a value of $300 or more; in that event the violation constitutes a felony of the third degree, punishable as provided in s. 775.082, s. 775.083, or s. 775.084.

(2)   HIRING OR LEASING WITH THE INTENT TO DEFRAUD.--Whoever, with intent to defraud the owner or any person lawfully possessing any personal property or equipment of the rental thereof, hires or leases said personal property or equipment from such owner or such owner's agents or any person in lawful possession thereof shall, upon conviction, be guilty of a misdemeanor of the second degree, punishable as provided in
 s. 775.082 or s. 775.083, unless the value of the personal property or equipment is of a value of $300 or more; in that event the violation constitutes a felony of the third degree, punishable as provided in s. 775.082, s. 775.083, or s. 775.084.

(3)   FAILURE TO REDELIVER HIRED OR LEASED PERSONAL PROPERTY.--Whoever, after hiring or leasing any personal property or equipment under an agreement to redeliver the same to the person letting such personal property or equipment or his or her agent at the termination of the period for which it was let, shall, without the consent of such person or persons and with the intent to defraud, abandon or willfully refuse to redeliver such personal property or equipment as agreed, shall, upon conviction, be guilty of a misdemeanor of the second degree, punishable as provided in s. 775.082 or s. 775.083, unless the value of the personal property or equipment is of a value of $300 or more; in that event the violation constitutes a felony of the third degree, punishable as provided in s.
 775.082, s. 775.083, or s. 775.084.

(4)   EVIDENCE OF FRAUDULENT INTENT.--

(a)   In prosecutions under this section, obtaining the property or equipment under false pretenses; absconding without

57 payment; or removing or attempting to remove the property or 58 equipment from the county without the express written consent of 59 the lessor, is prima facie evidence of fraudulent intent.

60       (b) In a prosecution under subsection (3), failure to 61 redeliver the property or equipment within 5 days after receipt
62 of, or within 5 days after return receipt from, the certified 63 mailing of the demand for return is prima facie evidence of 64 fraudulent intent. Notice mailed by certified mail, return 65 receipt requested, to the address given by the renter at the 66 time of rental shall be deemed sufficient and equivalent to 67 notice having been received by the renter, should the notice be 68 returned undelivered.

69       (c) In a prosecution under subsection (3), failure to pay 70 any amount due which is incurred as the result of the failure to 71 redeliver property after the rental period expires, and after 72 the demand for return is made, is prima facie evidence of 73 fraudulent intent. Amounts due include unpaid rental for the 74 time period during which the property or equipment was not 75 returned and include the lesser of the cost of repairing or 76 replacing the property or equipment if it has been damaged.

77       (5) DEMAND FOR RETURN.--Demand for return of overdue
78 property or equipment and for payment of amounts due may be made
79 in person, by hand delivery, or by certified mail, return 80 receipt requested, addressed to the lessee's address shown in 81 the rental contract.

82       (6) NOTICE REQUIRED.--As a prerequisite to prosecution
83 under this section, the following statement must be contained in 84 the agreement under which the owner or person lawfully possessing the property or equipment has relinquished its custody, or in an addendum to that agreement, and the statement must be initialed by the person hiring or leasing the rental property or equipment:

Failure to return rental property or equipment upon expiration of the rental period and failure to pay all amounts due (including costs for damage to the property or equipment) are prima facie evidence of intent to defraud, punishable in accordance with section 812.155, Florida Statutes.

~~(7) EXCLUSION OF RENTAL PURCHASE AGREEMENTS. This section does not apply to personal property or equipment that is the subject of a rental purchase agreement that permits the lessee to acquire ownership of the personal property or equipment unless the rental store retains title to the personal property or equipment throughout the rental purchase agreement period.~~

SUMMARY ANALYSIS

HB 147 creates a new section of statute which provides that in criminal prosecutions after the closing of evidence, the prosecuting attorney shall open the closing arguments, the accused or the attorney for the accused may reply, and the prosecuting attorney may reply in rebuttal.

The bill also repeals Florida Rules of Criminal Procedure 3.250 to the extent that it is inconsistent with the bill. The bill will take effect upon becoming law except that the repeal of the rule of procedure will take effect only if the bill is passed by a 2/3 vote of the membership of each house of the legislature.

This bill does not appear to have any fiscal impact.

FULL ANALYSIS

I. SUBSTANTIVE ANALYSIS

A. HOUSE PRINCIPLES ANALYSIS:

Provide limited government: This bill grants the prosecution a statutory right to have the first and last closing argument in a criminal case. The order in which closing arguments occur is currently governed by court rule.

B. EFFECT OF PROPOSED CHANGES:

Florida Rule of Criminal Procedure 3.250 provides that:

In all criminal prosecutions the accused may choose to be sworn in as a witness in the accused's own behalf and shall in that case be subject to examination as other witnesses, but no accused person shall be compelled to give testimony against himself or herself, nor shall any prosecuting attorney be permitted before the jury or court to comment on the failure of the accused to testify in his or her own behalf, and a defendant offering no testimony in his or her own behalf, except the defendant's own, shall be entitled to the concluding argument before the jury.

Florida Rule of Criminal Procedure 3.780 which applies to sentencing in a capital case, provides that:

Both the state and the defendant will be given an equal opportunity for one opening statement and one closing argument. The state will proceed first.

The Florida Supreme Court has characterized the effect of these rules as follows:

Both rules are clear and unambiguous--in a guilt phase proceeding, a defendant has the right to close in final argument only if the defendant presents no testimony other than his or her own; in a penalty phase proceeding of a death case, a defendant always has the right to close in final argument.

Wike v. State, 648 So.2d 683, 686 (Fla.1994); Lamar v. State, 583 So.2d 771, 772 (Fla. 4th DCA 1991)("The final phrase of said rule gives the defendant in a criminal case the right to closing argument unless he offers witnesses other than himself. Stated differently, the defendant is entitled to close the argument if he offers no witnesses, or if he offers simply himself as a witness, but not if he offers someone other than or in addition to himself.").

There are a large number of reported cases in which an appellate court reversed a felony conviction based on the fact that the defendant was not given the opportunity to have the last closing argument. The Florida Supreme Court has determined that the right to make the closing argument where no evidence except the defendant's own testimony has been introduced, "is a vested procedural right, the denial of which constitutes reversible error." Birge v. State, 92 So.2d 819 (Fla. 1957); Freeman v. State, 846 So.2d 552, 554 -555 (Fla. 4th DCA 2003)("This error is not subject to harmless error analysis."); Morales v. State, 609 So.2d 765, 766 (Fla 3rd DCA 1992)(reversing grand theft, burglary and resisting arrest convictions because "[i]n spite of the overwhelming evidence against [the defendant], the trial court did not scrupulously follow a required rule of procedure.")

The Florida Supreme Court has explained the history of this rule as follows:

To fully understand the rights this state has historically provided to defendants regarding concluding arguments under either rule, it is necessary to examine the history of these rules. At common law, the generally accepted rule was that the party who had the burden of proof had the right to begin and conclude the argument to the jury. The rule applied to both civil and criminal cases. The rationale behind this common law rule was to provide the party who shouldered the disadvantage of the burden of proof with the advantage of the opening and closing arguments before the jury. In 1853, this common law rule was changed in Florida ..... to provide that a defendant who produced no testimony at trial was entitled to the advantage of making the concluding argument before the jury. That law was later codified as section 918.09, Florida Statutes.

As early as 1858, this Court determined that a trial judge had no discretion in following the statutory predecessor of section 918.09 and that the erroneous denial of a defendant's right to concluding argument constituted reversible error. Throughout the years, Florida courts have never deviated from the holding that the denial of a defendant's right to close under this rule constitutes reversible error. In fact, this is true even though in 1968 section 918.09 was incorporated as rule 3.250 and in 1970 section 918.09 was repealed.

Wike, 648 So.2d 683, 686 (Fla. 1995)(citations omitted)

At least one court has urged a change in the Florida rule:

Presently in the United States, forty-six states, the District of Columbia and all United States District Courts<sup>1</sup> allow the prosecution to close the final arguments in criminal cases. Florida is one of only four states that have a rule which provides the criminal defendant the right to close final arguments where the defendant presents no evidence other than his own testimony.....[W]e respectfully suggest that the time has come for our Supreme Court to revisit the wisdom of this provision.

Diaz v. State, 747 So.2d 1021, 1025 (Fla. 3rd DCA 1999).

HB 147 creates section 918.19, F.S., relating to closing arguments. The bill provides that, as provided in common law, in criminal prosecutions after the closing of evidence, the prosecuting attorney shall open the closing arguments, the accused or the attorney for the accused may reply and the prosecuting attorney may reply in rebuttal.<sup>2</sup>

The bill repeals Rule 3.250 of the Florida Rules of Criminal Procedure to the extent that it is inconsistent with the bill. The bill will take effect upon becoming law, except that the repeal of the rule of procedure shall take effect only in the act is passed by a two-thirds vote of the each house of the legislature.

C. SECTION DIRECTORY:

Section 1. Creates s. 918.19, F.S.; relating to closing argument in criminal cases.

Section 2. Provides for repeal of rule of criminal procedure.

Section 3. Provides effective date.

<sup>1</sup> See Federal Rule of Criminal Procedure 29.1 which states: "After the closing of evidence the prosecution shall open the argument. The defense shall be permitted to reply. The prosecution shall then be permitted to reply in rebuttal."

<sup>2</sup> The bill also has several "whereas clauses" which state the following:

WHEREAS, the common law rule in criminal and civil cases granted the right to final closing argument to the party bearing the burden of proof, and

WHEREAS, the state has the burden of proving guilt beyond a reasonable doubt in criminal cases, and

WHEREAS, the Federal Rules of Criminal Procedure grant the right to final closing argument to the party which bears the burden of proof, and

WHEREAS, other states follow the common law rule in granting the right to final closing argument to the party bearing the burden of proof in civil and criminal cases, NOW, THEREFORE,

A. CONSTITUTIONAL ISSUES:

1. Applicability of Municipality/County Mandates Provision:

Not applicable because this bill does not appear to: require the counties or cities to spend funds or take an action requiring the expenditure of funds; reduce the authority that cities or counties have to raise revenues in the aggregate; or reduce the percentage of a state tax shared with cities or counties.

2. Other:

The Florida Constitution provides that "[t]he supreme court shall adopt rules for the practice and procedure in all courts". Art. V, Section 2(a), Fla. Const. The separation of powers provision of the state constitution prohibits one branch of government from exercising a power given to another branch. Art. II, Section 3, Fla. Const. According to the constitution, a rule of court "may be repealed by general law enacted by two-thirds vote of the membership of each house of the legislature." The constitution does not give the Legislature the authority to replace the repealed rule with a legislative enactment. The constitution also does not preclude the Supreme Court from reenacting a rule that is similar or identical to one that the Legislature has repealed.

Florida courts generally protect their rulemaking power by striking down laws that they determine are "procedural" in nature. In January of 2000, the legislature passed the Death Penalty Reform Act (DPRA) of 2000 in order to reduce the amount of time spent in litigation of capital cases. The bill advanced the start of the postconviction appeals process in capital cases to have it begin while the case was on direct appeal. The bill also imposed time limitations at key points of the postconviction process, limited successive postconviction motions and prohibited amending a postconviction motion after the expiration of the time limitation. The bill repealed the rules of criminal procedure applying to capital postconviction motions. In Allen v. Butterwoth, 756 So.2d 52 (Fla. 2000), the Florida Supreme Court held that the Death Penalty Reform Act of 2000 was an “unconstitutional encroachment” on the Court’s “exclusive power to ‘adopt rules for the practice and procedure in all courts’.” Id. at 54.

It is possible that the statute created by this bill will be challenged on the grounds that it violates the separation of powers provision of the state constitution by dealing with procedural matters that are the province of the court. In ruling on the constitutionality of a statutory provision, the court determines whether the statute deals with “substantive” or “procedural” matters. As discussed earlier, although the court was not being asked to rule specifically on the issue of whether the rule was substantive or procedural, the Florida Supreme Court has characterized the defendant’s right to have the final closing argument as a “vested procedural right”. On the other hand, based on the fact that the court has reversed a number of criminal convictions because a defendant has not been given the right to a closing argument, it could be argued that the right is substantive in nature and therefore something that the legislature could alter.

SUMMARY ANALYSIS

The 1992 Save Our Homes amendment to the Florida Constitution places a "cap" on annual increases of the assessed value of homestead real property, providing substantial ad valorem tax relief to Florida homeowners. However, the amendment requires reassessment of homestead property to reflect the property's current just value when a "change in ownership", as defined by the Legislature, occurs. Reassessment generally results in higher annual ad valorem taxes assessed against the property due to the higher assessed value. The current statute defining "change in ownership" lists two types of title transfers that do not constitute a "change of ownership", but adding a co-owner to a homestead property is not included. Therefore, it appears that reassessment is required if a co-owner is added to the title for homestead property even when the original owner continues to qualify for the homestead exemption.

This bill amends the statute defining "change of ownership" to specify that adding co-owners of homestead property is not a "change in ownership" that requires reassessment of the homestead property if the same person is entitled to the homestead exemption as was previously entitled. Therefore, the assessed value of the property is not increased and higher ad valorem taxes on the property are avoided. However, if a new co-owner applies for a homestead exemption on the property, the application is considered a "change in ownership" that requires reassessment of the property to reflect its just value.

The bill does not have a direct fiscal impact on state government. However, the Revenue Estimating Conference has estimated that this bill would reduce local property tax revenues by 8.6 million, assuming there is no offsetting change to millage rates

The bill has an effective date of July 1, 2006.

FULL ANALYSIS

I. SUBSTANTIVE ANALYSIS

A. HOUSE PRINCIPLES ANALYSIS:

Ensure lower taxes -- This bill prevents automatic reassessment of homestead real property when a co-owner is added to the deed if the same person continues to qualify for the homestead exemption, thereby preventing a potential increase in ad valorem taxes on the property.

Present Situation

The local ad valorem tax is an annual tax levied by local governments based on the value of real and tangible personal property as of January 1 of each year.<sup>1</sup> Florida's Constitution prohibits the state government from levying an ad valorem tax except on intangible personal property. The taxable value of real and tangible personal property is the fair market value of the property adjusted for any exclusions, differentials, or exemptions allowed by the constitution or the statutes.<sup>2</sup> Tax bills are mailed in November of each year based on the previous January 1st valuation and payment is due by the following March 31.<sup>3</sup> Local ad valorem tax revenues in Florida were approximately $22.4 billion in 2004.<sup>4</sup>

Article VII, § 6, Fla.Const., authorizes an exemption from ad valorem taxation for homestead property owned by a taxpayer and used as the owner's permanent residence or the permanent residence of another who is legally or naturally dependent upon the owner. The value of the homestead exemption is currently $25,000 of the assessed value of the real estate.

In 1992, the electorate adopted an amendment to art. VII, § 4, Fla.Const., known as the "Save Our Homes" amendment. The amendment limits increases in the ad valorem taxation on homestead real property by limiting increases in the assessed value of such property. The amendment provided for a base year "just value" assessment for each homestead as of January 1, 1994, and restricts subsequent increases in assessments to the lower of either (a) three percent of the prior year's assessment, or (b) the percent change in the Consumer Price Index. Homestead real property purchased after 1994 has a base year "just value" set in the first year that the exemption is available, with the same limits on future increases in the assessed value. In 2004, the Save Our Homes amendment provided approximately $4.5 billion in property tax relief to Florida homeowners.<sup>5</sup>

The limitation on future increases in the assessed value of homestead real property is only available to a current owner of the homestead real property. Article VII, § 4(c)3., Fla.Const., provides:

After any change of ownership, as provided by general law, homestead property shall be assessed at just value as of January 1 of the following year. Thereafter, the homestead shall be assessed as provided herein.

The statutory definition of a change of ownership is codified in s. 193.155, F.S., which provides:

(3) Except as provided in this subsection, property assessed under this section shall be assessed at just value as of January 1 of the year following a change of ownership. Thereafter, the annual changes in the assessed value of the property are subject to the limitations in subsections (1) and (2). For the purpose of this section, a change in ownership means any sale, foreclosure, or transfer of legal title or beneficial title in equity to any person, except as provided in this subsection. There is no change of ownership if:

(a) Subsequent to the change or transfer, the same person is entitled to the homestead exemption as was previously entitled and:

1. The transfer of title is to correct an error; or
2. The transfer is between legal and equitable title;

(b) The transfer is between husband and wife, including a transfer to a surviving spouse or a transfer due to a dissolution of marriage;

(c) The transfer occurs by operation of law under s. 732.4015; or

(d) Upon the death of the owner, the transfer is between the owner and another who is a permanent resident and is legally or naturally dependent upon the owner.

It is not unusual for a homeowner to add an additional co-owner to their property. One common reason for this type of transaction is that an elderly person wishes to add adult children as co-owners of homestead property in an attempt to avoid probate. This type of transaction, however, may be deemed a change in ownership that will result in an increase in the assessed value of the property (that is, a loss of the Save Our Homes benefit) in the year following the transaction.<sup>6</sup>

Effect of Proposed Changes

This bill amends s. 193.155, F.S., to provide that when a change or transfer of title is by an instrument in which the owner is listed as both grantor and grantee of the real property, and one or more other individuals are additionally named as grantee, the change or transfer is not a change in ownership that would require an increase in the assessed value as long as the same person is entitled to the homestead exemption as was previously entitled. However, if any individual who is additionally named as a grantee applies for a homestead exemption on the property, the application is considered a change of ownership and reassessment is required.

C. SECTION DIRECTORY:

Section 1 amends s. 193.155, F.S., to provide an additional exception applicable to the Save Our Homes amendment of the Florida Constitution.

Section 2 provides an effective date of July 1, 2006.

A. FISCAL IMPACT ON STATE GOVERNMENT:

1. Revenues: None.
2. Expenditures: None.

B. FISCAL IMPACT ON LOCAL GOVERNMENTS:

1. Revenues: The Revenue Estimating Conference has estimated that this bill would reduce local property tax revenues by $8.6 million, assuming there is no offsetting change to millage rates..
2. Expenditures: None.

C. DIRECT ECONOMIC IMPACT ON PRIVATE SECTOR: As a result of this bill, an individual may add one or more co-owners to the deed for homestead property without losing the Save Our Homes benefit, assuming the individual continues to qualify for the homestead exemption on the property. If the Save Our Homes benefit is not lost, an increase in annual ad valorem taxes may be avoided.

D. FISCAL COMMENTS: None.

III. COMMENTS

A. CONSTITUTIONAL ISSUES:

1. Applicability of Municipality/County Mandates Provision: This bill reduces the authority that cities or counties have to raise ad valorem tax revenues in the aggregate. As such, the mandates provision would appear to apply. However, since the bill is implementing a constitutional provision, it can be argued that the mandates provision does not affect this bill. Nevertheless, it is recommended that the bill be passed by a two-thirds margin to avoid any possible constitutional issues.
2. Other: The Legislature may only grant property tax exemptions that are authorized in the constitution, and modifications to property tax exemptions must be consistent with the constitutional provision authorizing the exemption.<sup>7</sup> This bill implements Art. VII, § 4, Fla. Const., which authorizes the Legislature to define, by general law, what constitutes a change in ownership.

C. DRAFTING ISSUES OR OTHER COMMENTS: None.

IV. AMENDMENTS/COMMITTEE SUBSTITUTE & COMBINED BILL CHANGES

On October 19, 2005, the Civil Justice Committee adopted one amendment to this bill. The language in the bill as filed was not an accurate reflection of technical terminology used in real property transactions. The amendment corrected language without changing the apparent intent of the bill. The bill was then reported favorably with a committee substitute.

SUMMARY ANALYSIS

HB 411 extends the psychotherapist-patient privilege to advanced registered nurse practitioners whose primary scope of practice is the diagnosis or treatment of mental or emotional conditions, including chemical abuse. Advanced registered nurse practitioners are persons licensed to practice professional nursing and certified in advanced or specialized nursing practice.

The Florida Evidence Code includes a number of privileges. Privileges render certain communications or records inadmissible as evidence. One such privilege under Florida law is the psychotherapist-patient privilege. This privilege makes communications between psychotherapists and their patients for the purpose of diagnosing or treating mental or emotional health conditions inadmissible as evidence.

The Legislature has on various occasions expanded the definition of "psychotherapist" to include other practitioners. Currently, "psychotherapist" includes licensed medical doctors, psychologists, clinical social workers, marriage and family therapists, and mental health counselors. Also included are other treatment personnel employed by certain licensed health facilities and engaged primarily in the diagnosis and treatment of mental health and substance abuse conditions.

Fiscal Impact: The bill does not appear to have a fiscal impact on state or local government.

The bill takes effect on July 1, 2006.

FULL ANALYSIS

I. SUBSTANTIVE ANALYSIS

A. HOUSE PRINCIPLES ANALYSIS:

Safeguard individual liberty-The bill could be seen as safeguarding individual liberty by expanding the protections given to certain communications between patients and their mental health professionals.

B. EFFECT OF PROPOSED CHANGES:

This bill extends the psychotherapist-patient privilege to advanced registered nurse practitioners whose primary scope of practice is the diagnosis or treatment of mental or emotional conditions, including chemical abuse. Advanced registered nurse practitioners are persons licensed to practice professional nursing and certified in advanced or specialized nursing practice. Many advanced nurse practitioners are already included within the current definition of "psychotherapist," and enjoy the privilege as staff of a licensed hospital, mental health facility or substance abuse center.

Psychotherapist-Patient Privilege

The Florida Evidence Code contains a number of privileges.<sup>1</sup> Privileges render certain communications or records within a protected relationship inadmissible as evidence in civil and criminal proceedings.

Examples of protected relationships include:

- The relationship between attorney and client;
- Clergy and penitent; and
- Husband and wife.

Another is the psychotherapist-patient privilege. This privilege makes communications between psychotherapists and their patients for the purpose of diagnosing or treating mental or emotional health conditions inadmissible as evidence.

Concerning the psychotherapist-patient privilege, the operative language in the Code provides:

A patient has a privilege to refuse to disclose, and to prevent any other person from disclosing, confidential communications or records made for the purpose of diagnosis or treatment of the patient's mental or emotional condition, including alcoholism and other drug addiction, between the patient and the psychotherapist, or persons who are participating in the diagnosis or treatment under the direction of the psychotherapist.<sup>2</sup>

This privilege includes any diagnosis made, and advice given, by the psychotherapist in the course of that relationship.

The privilege has been extended to various mental health professionals since first incorporated into the Code. Initially limited to psychiatrists, the Legislature has extended the privilege to any person licensed or certified as a psychologist, clinical social worker, marriage and family therapist, or mental health counselor under Florida law and laws of any other state or, as applicable, any nation, and who is engaged in the diagnosis or treatment of a mental or emotional condition.

Later, the Legislature extended it to cover treatment personnel of state-licensed hospitals, mental health facilities and substance abuse treatment centers, when those personnel are primarily engaged in mental health diagnosis or treatment; and state-licensed or certified social workers, marriage and family therapists, and mental health counselors, again, only if primarily engaged in mental health treatment or diagnosis.

Florida's psychotherapist-patient privilege may be asserted by the patient, by a guardian or conservator of the patient, or by the personal representative of the estate of a deceased patient. It may also be asserted by the psychotherapist, but only on the patient's behalf. An assertion of the privilege by the psychotherapist creates a rebuttable presumption that it is made on the patient's behalf.

Advanced Registered Nurse Practitioners

Nursing in Florida is regulated under the Nurse Practice Act, chapter 464, F.S. Under the Nurse Practice Act, nurses licensed in Florida may seek certification as advanced registered nurse practitioners. With this certification, they may "perform acts of medical diagnosis and treatment, prescription, and operation which are identified by" a joint committee of the Board of Nursing and the Board of Medicine.

Advanced registered nurse practitioners perform all duties of a registered nurse, in addition to advanced level nursing in accordance with established protocols, including managing selected medical problems, monitoring and altering drug therapies, initiating appropriate therapies for certain conditions, performing physical examinations, ordering and evaluating diagnostic tests, ordering physical and occupational therapy, and initiating and monitoring therapies for certain uncomplicated acute illnesses.

Advanced registered nurse practitioners may perform medical acts under the general supervision of a medical physician, osteopathic physician, or dentist within the framework of standing protocols identifying the medical acts to be performed and the conditions for their performance.<sup>3</sup> Although advanced registered nurse practitioners may prescribe medications in accordance with a protocol, they cannot prescribe controlled substances.

To be certified as an advanced registered nurse practitioner, a nurse must demonstrate one of the following:

- Successful completion of a course in advanced nursing which is at least one academic year in length and primarily meant to prepare nurses for advanced or specialized practice;
- Certification by an appropriate specialty board; or
- Graduation from a program leading to a master's degree in a nursing clinical area.

C. SECTION DIRECTORY:

SUMMARY ANALYSIS

The Trust Code is that portion of the Florida Statutes which pertains to the administration of trusts. Committee Substitute for HB 425 repeals Chapter 737, F.S., and creates Chapter 736, F.S., a comprehensive new trust code loosely modeled on the Uniform Trust Code of 2000, with a number of changes that center primarily on updating current Florida law. The CS includes the requirements for trust creation, the treatment of revocable trusts, and the rights of creditors within this new Trust Code. Some current provisions of the trust code -- in particular, those dealing with representation and with trust modification, termination and reformation -- are updated and expanded.

The CS proposes significant changes to current law including:

- A lower standard for collecting child support and alimony notwithstanding spendthrift provisions of a trust;
- A person who receives a trust distribution is deemed to submit to personal jurisdiction of Florida courts on any matter involving the distribution by simply accepting a distribution from the trust;
- A presumption that a trust is revocable unless the terms specifically provide that the trust is irrevocable;
- A trustee who commits a breach of trust is liable for the greater of the profit made by reason of the breach and the amount required to restore the trust to the position it would have been in had the breach not occurred;
- Trust modifications that currently require court approval may be effective upon agreement of the parties to the trust without court approval; and
- A trustee is permitted to engage in affiliated services; a bank or trust company trustee is not precluded from investing in investment instruments offered by that bank or trust company and receiving additional compensation for that investment.

The CS does not appear to have a fiscal impact on state or local governments.

The CS specifies that the Code takes effect on July 1, 2007, and includes specific rules relating to retroactive application.

I. SUBSTANTIVE ANALYSIS

A. HOUSE PRINCIPLES ANALYSIS:

Provide Limited Government -- This bill will provide a trustee with additional flexibility in administering a trust.

Safeguard Individual Liberty -- This bill increases the options of an individual, organization or association regarding the conduct of his/her own affairs in the trust arena.

Personal Responsibility -- This bill expands the ability of a person to collect alimony and child support from an obligor who is the beneficiary of a trust.

B. EFFECT OF PROPOSED CHANGES: <sup>1</sup>

Background

A trust is generally defined as:

a fiduciary relationship with respect to property, subjecting the person by whom the title to the property is held to equitable duties to deal with the property for the benefit of another person, which arises as a result of a manifestation of an intention to create it. . . . [A] "beneficiary of a trust" [is] one who has an equitable interest in property subject to a trust and who enjoys the benefit of the administration of the trust by a trustee. The trustee is the person who holds the legal title to the property held in trust, for the benefit of the beneficiary. The settlor, or trustor, is the person who creates the trust.<sup>2</sup>

A "grantor" is "one who creates or adds to a trust and includes 'settlor' or 'trustor' and a testator who creates or adds to a trust."<sup>3</sup> The term "trustee" as used in a technical or legal sense means the person who takes and holds the legal title to trust property for the benefit of another.<sup>4</sup> "Trustee" refers to "an original, additional, surviving, or successor trustee, whether or not appointed or confirmed by court."<sup>5</sup>

Trusts may be classified as express trusts or as trusts by operation of law. Another classification of trusts, from the aspect of whether they become effective after the death of the settlor or during his or her life, is into testamentary and inter vivos trusts. Express trusts have been divided into passive trusts, sometimes known as "nominal" or "dry" trusts, and active trusts, otherwise called "live" or "operative" trusts. Trusts may also be classified as either private or charitable.<sup>6</sup>

An express trust is a trust intentionally created by the direct and positive act of the settlor, by some writing, deed, or will, or oral declaration. Express trusts are distinguishable from trusts by operation of law, resulting and constructive, in that the latter are respectively founded on an intention of the parties to a transaction implied in law, or on fraud or wrong irrespective of the intention of the parties concerned.<sup>7</sup>

Chapter 737, F.S., which is entitled "Trust Administration," is the current statutory scheme that governs trusts. This chapter encompasses: trust registration; the jurisdiction of the courts; the duties and liabilities of trustees; the powers of the trustee; charitable trusts; and rules of construction for trusts. It also sets forth the default rules for trust administration which can generally be limited or altered by the settlor.

CS for HB 425 repeals Chapter 737, F.S., and creates Chapter 736, F.S., a comprehensive new trust code loosely modeled on the Uniform Trust Code of 2000, with a number of changes that center primarily on updating current Florida law. The CS includes the requirements for trust creation, the treatment of revocable trusts, and the rights of creditors within this new Trust Code. Some current provisions of the trust code -- in particular, those dealing with representation and with trust modification, termination and reformation -- are updated and expanded.

What Is Different Under CS for HB 425?<sup>8</sup>

By way of preview, the following is a brief catalogue of some of the more important changes CS for HB 425 (hereinafter "FTC" or "Code") makes to existing Florida law. Each of these is examined in greater depth later in this Analysis.

- Representation: The FTC includes the very useful representation provisions found in the Uniform Code but expands the provision dealing with representation by a holder of a power of appointment<sup>9</sup> and adds a new provision permitting a settlor to designate a representative (e.g., a trust protector).<sup>10</sup>
- Trust Creation: The requirement that trusts containing land be evidenced by a signed writing is affirmed; the unique Florida requirement that the testamentary aspects of trusts be executed with the formalities required for a will is limited to revocable trusts;<sup>11</sup> and the capacity needed to create a revocable trust is specified to be the same as that required for the execution of a will.<sup>12</sup>
- Trust Modification: In general, the FTC includes the Uniform Code provisions dealing with trust creation, modification and termination, although UTC section 411, which has been the subject of considerable discussion on estate planning list serves, was replaced with Florida's existing trust modification provisions.<sup>13</sup>
- Charitable Trusts: The authority the Attorney General has at common law to enforce charitable trusts is codified<sup>14</sup> and standing to enforce charitable trusts is extended to the settlors who create them<sup>15</sup> and to charitable organizations designated in an instrument to receive distributions from them.<sup>16</sup>

<sup>8</sup> The Committee estimated that Florida Trust Code is comprised about 40 percent of provisions found in prior Florida law and about 60 percent of provisions based on the Uniform Trust Code (the Uniform Trust Code of 2000 has been enacted in fifteen states and is under consideration in several others). Of the provisions in this latter group, almost a third were revised in some substantive respect.

- Creditor's Rights: For trusts created after the effective date of the Code, a spendthrift clause must restrain both voluntary and involuntary alienation,<sup>17</sup> and the exceptions for child support and alimony are no longer "last resort" exceptions.<sup>18</sup> Note that the Code does NOT permit the creation of self-settled asset protection trusts or adversely affect the asset protection features of third-party trusts.
- Revocable Trusts: With respect to revocable trusts, the Code provides that trusts are revocable by default,<sup>19</sup> that a method of revocation expressed in an instrument is exclusive,<sup>20</sup> and that while a trust is revocable, the trustee owes duties only to the settlor.<sup>21</sup> This last principle also applies when a beneficiary has a right of withdrawal over trust property. That is, a holder of a right of withdrawal is treated as a settlor while the power is exercisable.<sup>22</sup>
- Affiliated Services: A trustee is permitted to engage in affiliated services; a bank or trust company trustee is not precluded from investing in investment instruments offered by that bank or trust company<sup>23</sup> and receiving additional compensation for that investment.<sup>24</sup>
- Miscellaneous and Conforming: The existing antilapse statute for inter vivos trusts is replaced with a new provision more broadly applicable to the descendibility of future interests in both testamentary and inter vivos trusts;<sup>25</sup> the Worthier Title Doctrine is abolished;<sup>26</sup> sections 731.103 (evidence of death or status) and 731.201, F.S. (definitions) now apply to chapter 736; a new definition for "power of appointment" has been added to section 731.201, F.S.; section 731.303, F.S. (representation) no longer applies to proceedings involving trusts; and section 732.603, F.S. (antilapse) now applies only to outright devises and appointments.<sup>27</sup>

What Is the Same?

The short answer is quite a lot. As was mentioned previously, almost 40 percent of the Code consists of provisions carried over from chapter 737, F.S. with either no or only slight modification. An informative but nonexclusive list of these carryover provisions includes:

- Section 737.204, F.S. dealing with the employment of agents and the review of compensation.<sup>28</sup>
- Section 737.206, F.S. dealing with the effect of fraud, duress, mistake and undue influence.<sup>29</sup>
- Sections 737.4031 and 737.4032, F.S. dealing with judicial and nonjudicial modification of trusts.<sup>30</sup>
- Sections 737.3054 and 737.308, F.S. dealing with a trustee's duty to pay the expenses and obligations of a settlor's estate and to provide a notice of trust at the settlor's death.<sup>31</sup>

- Section 737.306(6), F.S. dealing with the protection of successor trustees.<sup>32</sup>
- Section 737.3035, F.S. dealing with the contents of a trust accounting.<sup>33</sup>
- Section 737.402(4), F.S. dealing with certain powers involving a conflict of interest.<sup>34</sup>
- Section 737.4025, F.S. dealing with powers relating to environmental and human health and contaminated property.<sup>35</sup>
- Section 737.208, F.S. dealing with administration pending the outcome of a contest or other proceeding.<sup>36</sup>
- Sections 737.727, 737.2035, and 737.2041, F.S. dealing with costs and fees.<sup>37</sup>
- Sections 737.307 and 737.3061, F.S. dealing with limitations on actions against trustees in general and against a revocable trust, its beneficiaries and its trustees after the settlor's death.<sup>38</sup>
- Section 737.209, F.S. dealing with liability for improper distributions.<sup>39</sup>

There is much more that is the same. For example, the above list makes no mention of a trustee's powers to split and merge trusts, not because such powers are not important, but because the Code uses the UTC provision in this area, rather than the provision from Chapter 737, F.S. There are numerous other instances of the same thing. The discussion that begins next tells a more complete story.

The Code in Depth

In the interest of uniformity, the Florida Trust Code borrows its structure from the Uniform Trust Code.<sup>40</sup> The Code consists of 13 parts, which correspond in title and content to the eleven articles that make up the Uniform Code, plus two additional parts covering rules of construction and charitable trusts respectively.

GENERAL PROVISIONS AND DEFINITIONS (PART I)

Among the more important things,<sup>41</sup> the several sections of Part I of the FTC address the scope and applicability of the Code;<sup>42</sup> the meaning of important terms;<sup>43</sup> and the relative weight to be given to the

<sup>40</sup> To the extent possible, the Code also borrows its section numbering scheme from the UTC. For example, FTC section 736.0101 covers the same subject as UTC section 101, FTC s. 736.0102 the same as UTC s. 102, etc. In the many instances where an FTC section is identical to or is based on a corresponding section of the UTC, the extensive comments to the UTC section provide important additional guidance and authority. The parallel numbering scheme used in the FTC should facilitate reference to the appropriate UTC comment. Unfortunately though, it was not possible to continue the parallel numbering scheme throughout the entire Code. Under the numbering scheme used in the UTC, a section such as 1010 would appear in Article Ten. Under the numbering scheme dictated by the Florida statutes, a section 736.01010 would appear in Part I, somewhere between sections 736.0101 and 736.0102. Accordingly, the desired parallelism between the two codes breaks down beginning with Part X of the Code.

Code, common law, and the terms of a trust.<sup>44</sup> Also covered are the rules defining when a person or an organization is considered to have knowledge of a fact;<sup>45</sup> the methods of giving and waiving notice;<sup>46</sup> the rules for determining and changing a trust's principal place of administration;<sup>47</sup> and the validity and permissible scope of nonjudicial settlement agreements.<sup>48</sup>

Scope and Applicability

The "scope" of the Code is identical to that of Chapter 737, F.S. It applies to charitable and noncharitable express trusts and to trusts created by statute, judgment or court decree. It does not apply to implied trusts,<sup>49</sup> business trusts, land trusts, or to any other arrangement that does not meet the definition of a trust under s. 731.201(34), F.S.<sup>50</sup> Consistent with that, and except as otherwise provided in Part XIII or in a particular section, the provisions of the Code apply retroactively to all Florida trusts.<sup>51</sup>

For express trusts having contacts in more than one jurisdiction, the Code provides that the law of the jurisdiction designated in the terms of the trust provided there is a sufficient nexus to the designate jurisdiction at the time of creation of the trust or during the trust administration.<sup>52</sup> In the absence of a designation in the terms of the trust, the law of the jurisdiction where the settlor resided at the time the trust was created is controlling.<sup>53</sup> However, a designation in the terms of the trust is not controlling as to any matter for which the designation would be contrary to the strong public policy of Florida.<sup>54</sup>

Important Definitions

Section 736.0103, F.S. includes definitions for terms that are used in more than one section of the Code. These definitions are supplemented by other definitions in individual Code sections and by the definitions found in s. 731.201, F.S. which a conforming amendment makes applicable to new Chapter 736, F.S.

Beneficiaries and Qualified Beneficiaries

Most of the definitions in s. 736.0103, F.S. are sufficiently obvious or straightforward that there is little need to examine them directly. The terms "beneficiary" and "qualified beneficiary," however, are used so pervasively throughout the Code that extended examination of these terms is desirable. And it is informative, at least, to catalog a few other terms as well.

Beneficiary: The term "beneficiary" refers to the universe of persons who have a beneficial interest in a trust as well as to any person who has a power of appointment over trust property in a capacity other than as trustee.<sup>55</sup> It is immaterial for this purpose whether the beneficial interest is present or future, vested or contingent, or whether the person having the interest is ascertainable or even living.<sup>56</sup>

<sup>52</sup> The designation is ineffective if it is contrary to a strong public policy of this state. See s. 736.0107(3), F.S.

<sup>53</sup> In the absence of a controlling designation in the terms of the trust, the law of the jurisdiction where the settlor resides at the time the trust was first created will control. Section 736.0107(2), F.S. With respect to any particular matter, the designation is not effective if it is contrary to a strong public policy of this state. Section 736.0107(3), F.S.

<sup>56</sup> Nor is it relevant how the person acquired the beneficial interest. The term 'beneficiary' includes persons who received their interests by assignment, exercise of a power of appointment, resulting trust, or by operation of an antilapse statute. See generally the discussion of "beneficiary" in the comments to UTC s. 103.

Example 1 — Meaning of Beneficiary. At his death, ninety-year-old D leaves $1,000,000 to T as trustee “to pay the income to D’s spouse S for life, then to distribute trust property to such of D’s descendants as S by will appoints, and in default of appointment in continuing trust to spray income among D’s children from time to time living, and at the death of the last to distribute all trust property per stirpes to D’s then living descendants and if there be none, to D’s alma mater, QB University.” D is survived by S, by two children, C1 and C2, by a grandson Bob (C1’s child) and by a great-granddaughter Fay (Bob’s child). On these facts, the beneficiaries of D’s trust include S, C1, C2, Bob, Fay, QB University, and an indeterminate and unascertainable class of as yet unborn descendants of D. Note that T’s power to spray trust income among D’s children does not make T a beneficiary because T holds that power as a trustee.<sup>57</sup>

Qualified Beneficiary: The term “beneficiary” is to be contrasted with “qualified beneficiary.”<sup>58</sup> The latter encompasses only a limited subset of all trust beneficiaries. In effect the class is limited to living persons who are current beneficiaries, intermediate beneficiaries, and first line remainder beneficiaries, whether vested or contingent.<sup>59</sup> An example may be helpful.

Example 2 — Meaning of Qualified Beneficiary. Same facts as Example 1. The qualified beneficiaries of D’s trust, as of his death, include S, C1, C2 and Bob. S is included because she is a permissible distributee.<sup>60</sup> C1 and C2 are included because they would become permissible distributees were S’s interest to terminate at D’s death (i.e., were she to die at that time).<sup>61</sup> Bob is also a qualified beneficiary because he would take the trust property were the trust to terminate at D’s death (because of the death of S, C1 and C2).<sup>62</sup> As of D’s death, neither Fay nor QB University are qualified beneficiaries. Note however, that if Bob were to die after D’s death, Fay would then become a qualified beneficiary because she would be entitled to trust property as a consequence of a hypothetical trust termination at that time. That is, the determination of who is a qualified beneficiary is made as of a specific point in time and can change over time.

Charitable trusts are created to benefit the community at large rather than for the benefit of ascertainable beneficiaries. Accordingly, the comments to UTC section 103 adopt the view that persons, including designated charitable organizations, receiving distributions from charitable trusts are not beneficiaries as that term is used in the Code. As a consequence, charitable trusts have no qualified beneficiaries.<sup>63</sup> To address this concern:

<sup>57</sup> Suppose S’s power in this example extended to D’s descendants and their spouses. Would a current or future spouse of the descendants be beneficiaries by virtue of the fact that they are permissible objects of S’s power? The better answer is no because, under traditional property law, the objects of a power of appointment have no beneficial interest in the property subject to the power; they have a mere expectancy.

<sup>58</sup> It is this latter term that the Code employs in the various provisions dealing with notice and consent.

<sup>59</sup> More precisely, the term includes only living beneficiaries who are either present distributees (or present permissible distributees) of trust income or principal or who would become present or permissible distributees if the interests of present distributees or the trust itself terminated on the date the class of qualified beneficiaries is being determined. See s. 736.0103(14), F.S.

<sup>63</sup> A similar problem exists with trusts for the care of animals or for a specific noncharitable purpose, neither of which have ascertainable beneficiaries, but both of which are validated by other provisions of the Code. See s. 736.0408 (trust for animal) and s. 736.0409, F.S. (noncharitable trust without ascertainable beneficiary). The Code addresses this issue by extending the rights of a qualified beneficiary to any person appointed to enforce an animal or noncharitable purpose trust. See s. 736.0110(2), F.S.

- The Code extends the rights of a qualified beneficiary to any charitable organization expressly designated to receive distributions from a charitable trust if the organization would otherwise meet the definition of a qualified beneficiary.<sup>64</sup>
- In addition, the Code authorizes the Attorney General<sup>65</sup> to assert the rights of a qualified beneficiary with respect to charitable trusts.<sup>66</sup>

Other Important Terms

Much can be gained by browsing the other terms defined in s. 736.0103, F.S.:

- The term "affiliate" is defined as any person or entity that directly or indirectly through one or more intermediaries owns or controls, is owned or controlled by, or is under common control or ownership, with the fiduciary.<sup>67</sup>
- The term "settlor" includes anyone who either creates or transfers property to a trust, including a testator,<sup>68</sup>
- The term "trustee" includes additional, successor, and cotrustees,<sup>69</sup>
- A trust is "revocable" if it is revocable by the settlor without the consent of either the trustee or an adverse person;<sup>70</sup>
- A power of appointment<sup>71</sup> is a "general power" if it is exercisable in favor of its holder, the holder's estate, or the creditors of either the holder or the holder's estate;<sup>72</sup>
- The term "power of withdrawal" excludes powers exercisable by trustees "as trustee" and powers exercisable by others only with the consent of a trustee or a person having an adverse interest;<sup>73</sup>
- The definition of "ascertainable standard" tracks that used in the federal transfer tax system. It means a standard relating to health, education, support, or maintenance;<sup>74</sup>
- The term "trust instrument" refers to a written instrument executed by a settlor which contains the original or amended terms of a trust.<sup>75</sup> This should be contrasted with the more expansive "terms of a

<sup>65</sup> The Committee had extensive discussion about giving the Attorney General the rights of a qualified beneficiary with respect to charitable trusts. On the one hand, the Committee recognized the common law authority of the Attorney General to police charitable trusts on behalf of the public. On the other hand, the Committee saw no advantage to requiring trustees to send unwanted and unneeded information to the Attorney General. The approach adopted in the Code is a compromise. Under the Code, a trustee of a charitable trust has no duty to send notices, information, accountings, etc. to the Attorney General unless and until he or she asserts the rights of a qualified beneficiary with respect to the trust.

Sources of Trust Law; Default and Mandatory Rules

Although it is more comprehensive than Chapter 737, F.S., the Code does not try to anticipate all possible issues that can arise with respect to trusts. Instead, for matters not addressed in the Code, section 736.0106, F.S. provides that the Code is supplemented by the common law of trusts and by principles of equity.

The Code can, and usually will, be supplemented by the terms of a trust as well. Or, more accurately, the terms of the trust will be supplemented by the Code. The latter is more accurate because the provisions of the Code are default rules that apply only in the absence of a contrary provision in the terms of the trust.<sup>78</sup> Thus, as a general matter, a settlor is free to limit, expand, or override any Code provision. There are exceptions, of course, and all of the exceptions are listed in s. 736.0105(2), F.S. The exclusive list of exceptions found there can be organized into the following broad categories:

- Those relating to the requirements for the creation of a trust including trust formalities<sup>79</sup> and the requirement that the purpose of a trust be lawful, possible to achieve, and not contrary to public policy.<sup>80</sup>
- Those containing public policy restrictions on the designation of a principal place of administration<sup>81</sup> and the effect of penalty,<sup>82</sup> spendthrift,<sup>83</sup> and exculpatory clauses.<sup>84</sup>
- Those covering procedural matters including jurisdiction,<sup>85</sup> venue,<sup>86</sup> and limitations on commencing judicial actions.<sup>87</sup>
- Those dealing with court powers, including the power to adjust a trustee's compensation;<sup>88</sup> to act in the interests of justice;<sup>89</sup> to require, dispense with, modify, or terminate a trustee's bond;<sup>90</sup> and, except as otherwise provided elsewhere in the Code, the power to modify or terminate a private or charitable trust.<sup>91</sup>
- Those dealing with the duties of a trustee, including the duty to act in good faith and in accordance with the terms of the trust;<sup>92</sup> the duty to notify, account to<sup>93</sup>, and respond to requests for information

<sup>93</sup> The committee expressed the following comment. If the experience of other jurisdictions is an indication, it is likely that the mandatory provisions dealing with the duty to account and to provide information to qualified beneficiaries will be the subject of by qualified beneficiaries;<sup>94</sup> and with respect to a revocable trust, the duty to file a notice of trust at the death of the settlor<sup>95</sup> and to pay the expenses and obligations of the settlor's estate.<sup>96</sup>

- Certain miscellaneous provisions including one giving qualified beneficiaries and the trustee of a dynasty trust the power to amend or terminate the trust<sup>97</sup> and another specifying the rights of third parties who interact with the trust, such as bona fide purchasers, tort or contractual claimants.<sup>98</sup>

Principal Place of Administration

The Code imposes a duty on a trustee to administer the trust at a place that is appropriate to its purposes and administration.<sup>99</sup> Subject to that duty, upon appropriate notice to the qualified beneficiaries, a trustee may move a trust's principal place of administration to another State or jurisdiction.<sup>100</sup>

In the absence of a valid designation in the trust instrument, s. 736.0108, F.S. retains existing Florida statutory law which provides that a trust's principal place of administration is the trustee's usual place of business, if any; otherwise the trustee's residence.<sup>101</sup> In addition, the section validates trust provisions designating a principal place of administration, provided the designated jurisdiction has a sufficient nexus to the trust or its beneficiaries.<sup>102</sup>

Factual Knowledge

Section 736.0104, F.S. clarifies when a person is considered to have knowledge of a fact. That occurs if the person has actual knowledge of the fact, has received a notice or notification of it, or, under all of the facts and circumstances known to the person, has reason to know it.<sup>103</sup> With respect to an organization operating through employees, the organization has notice or knowledge of a fact involving a trust only from the earlier of the time the information was received by an employee having responsibility to act on matters involving the trust or the time the information would have been brought to the employee's attention if the organization had exercised reasonable diligence.<sup>104</sup> keen interest and discussion. This is understandable because these provisions involve a necessary balancing between a settlor's control and privacy interests on the one hand and the competing interest the beneficiaries have in accessing the information necessary protect their interests on the other. More is said about this elsewhere in this Summary. See Representation; Privacy; and the Right to Information, infra at p.15. By way of preview, however, the Florida Code balances these interests differently from the Uniform Code in three important respects. First, the duty the UTC imposes on a trustee to notify qualified beneficiaries of the existence of the trust, the identity of the trustee, and their right to reports is mandatory only with respect to qualified beneficiaries who have attained age 25. The FTC makes no distinction based on the age of qualified beneficiaries. Compare UTC s. 105(b)(8) with s. 736.0105(2)(h), F.S. Second, the UTC gives all beneficiaries a right to request reports and information reasonably related to the administration of the trust. Under the FTC, all rights to accountings, reports and information and to a copy of the trust instrument itself are restricted to qualified beneficiaries. Compare UTC s. 813(a) and 105(b)(9) with s. 736.0813, F.S., discussed infra p. 39. Finally, revisions and additions to the representation provisions in Part III of the Code provide a means by which settlors can effectively withhold information from one or more qualified beneficiaries. See ss. 736.0302 and 736.0306, F.S., discussed infra at pp. 13 and 15, respectively.

<sup>102</sup> The nexus requirement is mandatory. See s. 736.0105(2)(f), F.S. It is satisfied if the designated jurisdiction is the trustee's residence or principal place of business or a jurisdiction where all or part of the administration occurs. Other jurisdictions are judged on a case by case basis. See s. 736.0108(1), F.S.

<sup>104</sup> Section 736.0104(2), F.S. This may be a change in Florida law as there are some cases that suggest a stricter standard for organizations acting through employees. See e.g., St. Petersburg Coca-Cola Bottling Co. v. Cuccinello, 44 So. 2d 670 (Fla. 1950); Harris v. Lewis State Bank, 436 So. 2d 338 (Fla. 1st DCA 1983).

Methods and Waiver of Notice

Section 736.0109, F.S. provides that notice of judicial proceedings is to be given as provided in the Florida Rules of Civil Procedure.<sup>105</sup> Other notices and the sending of required documents must be accomplished in a reasonably suitable manner that is likely to result in receipt.<sup>106</sup> Notice and the sending of documents are not required for persons whose identity or location is not reasonably ascertainable by the trustee<sup>107</sup> or who have waived the sending of the notice or document.<sup>108</sup>

Nonjudicial Settlement Agreements

Under the Code, interested persons<sup>109</sup> may enter into a binding nonjudicial settlement agreement<sup>110</sup> with respect to any trust matter, provided:

- The terms and conditions of the agreement could be properly approved by a Court were court approval sought;<sup>111</sup> and
- The agreement does not produce a result that is not authorized under other provisions of the Code.<sup>112</sup>

Qualifications of Foreign Trustee

The Code dispenses with local qualifications for certain foreign trustees who receive distributions from a local estate.<sup>113</sup>

JUDICIAL PROCEEDINGS (PART II)

Part II collects in one place a number of the rules applicable to judicial proceedings involving the validity, administration, and distribution of trusts.<sup>114</sup> Among these are provisions that affirm that, in the absence of a court order, trusts are not subject to continuing judicial supervision;<sup>115</sup> that proceedings involving the validity, administration, or distribution of trusts are commenced by complaint and are governed by the Florida Rules of Civil Procedure;<sup>116</sup> and that the circuit court has original jurisdiction with respect to all matters arising under the Code.<sup>117</sup>

Sticking with the familiar, Part II also incorporates verbatim four provisions found in Chapter 737, F.S. These include:

<sup>106</sup> See s. 736.0108(1), particularly the last sentence which contains a list of acceptable methods, including a properly directed facsimile or other electronic message.

<sup>109</sup> In this context, interested persons is defined to be those persons whose interest would be affected by the settlement. Section 736.0111(1), F.S.

<sup>110</sup> Corporate trustees are quick to note the usefulness of nonjudicial settlement agreements in harmonious situations to avoid the expense and delays of formal accountings at the termination of a trust. They can be useful in a variety of other contexts as well. For a nonexclusive list of matters that can be resolved by a nonjudicial settlement agreement, see s. 736.0111(4), F.S. One can only assume that the comfort level banks have with this technique will increase under the Code, both because settlement agreements are now authorized by statute and because the representation provisions in Part III should make it easier to get all interested persons "on board."

<sup>114</sup> For a nonexclusive list of possible judicial proceedings, see s. 736.0201(4), F.S. The power of courts to take actions in judicial proceedings involving trusts may not be changed in a trust instrument. See s. 736.0105(2)(n), F.S.

- Section 736.0204, F.S. dealing with venue for actions and proceedings concerning trusts.<sup>118</sup> The section is identical to s. 737.202, F.S.<sup>119</sup>
- Section 736.0205, F.S. dealing with the dismissal of trust proceedings involving matters relating to foreign trusts. The section is identical to s. 737.203, F.S.
- Section 736.0206, F.S., providing for notice and other rules relating to proceedings for the review of the employment of agents and the compensation of the trustee and trust employees. The section is identical to s. 737.204, F.S.
- Section 736.0207, F.S. preventing actions to contest the validity of a trust while it remains revocable. This aspect of the section is identical to s. 737.2065, F.S. In addition, s. 736.0207, F.S. includes a new exception for court approved actions by the guardian of the property of an incompetent settlor.

Lastly, s. 736.0202, F.S.<sup>120</sup> deals with personal jurisdiction over the trustee, beneficiaries, and recipients of trust distributions. The methods of obtaining jurisdiction detailed in the section are not exclusive.<sup>121</sup> With respect to a trust having its principal place of administration in Florida, s. 736.0202, F.S. provides that:

- A trustee submits to the jurisdiction of Florida courts either by accepting the trusteeship or by moving the principal place of administration to this state;
- The beneficiaries are subject to the jurisdiction of Florida courts with respect to any matter involving the trust; and
- Recipients who accept a distribution from a trust submit personally to the jurisdiction of Florida courts regarding any matter involving the distribution.<sup>122 123</sup>

REPRESENTATION (PART III)

Part III of the Code includes, with some important modifications, the representation provisions of the Uniform Code. Of all of the Code, the representation provisions should be among the most useful because they facilitate planning and the efficient administration of trusts.

Background

In the context in which it is used here, "representation" refers to the authority of one person to act on behalf of another.<sup>124</sup> Under the Code, notice, information, accountings and reports sent to a representative have the

<sup>119</sup> Venue lies in any county where it is proper under chapter 47, F.S., where the plaintiff or defendant beneficiary resides or has its principal place of business, or where the trust has its principal place of administration.

<sup>120</sup> Chapter 737, F.S. has no provision corresponding to s. 736.0602, F.S. Jurisdiction under existing law is obtained under the general long arm statutes found in ch. 48, F.S. The Committee believes that the inclusion of a long arm statute tailored specifically to trust matters is a beneficial addition to Florida law.

<sup>123</sup> More is said about this provision for personal jurisdiction in the Constitutional Issues section, infra at p. 67.

<sup>124</sup> The concept of representation is not new to Florida law. Section 731.303, F.S. provides for limited representation in the administration of, or in judicial proceedings involving, decedent's estates and trusts. If the FTC is enacted, a conforming amendment to s. 731.303, F.S., will restrict its application to decedent's estates so all representation regarding trusts will be controlled by the provisions in the FTC. But the Code representation provisions are more extensive. They permit representatives to initiate or consent to actions and to receive accountings and information in both judicial and nonjudicial contests. They apply generically across all provision of the Code. And to a limited extent, they apply to settlors as well as to same effect as those sent to the person being represented. And actions taken by a representative bind the person being represented to the same extent as actions taken by the person being represented.<sup>125</sup>

Types of Representation

The Code recognizes several different types of representation. Two of these – representation by holders of powers of appointment and by persons designated by the settlor in the trust instrument itself – present special considerations and are discussed in greater detail later. The remaining representation types include:

- Fiduciary: This category includes those provisions which permit a guardian of the property to represent a ward;<sup>126</sup> an attorney-in-fact to represent a principal;<sup>127</sup> and a trustee or personal representative to represent the beneficiaries of a trust or estate, as the case may be.<sup>128</sup> The Code also provides that a parent may represent an unborn or minor child if no guardian of the property has been appointed.<sup>129</sup>
- Virtual: If not otherwise represented, a minor, incapacitated, unborn, unascertainable or unlocatable person may be represented by another person having a substantially identical interest.<sup>130</sup> The classic example of virtual representation involves the representation of minor beneficiaries of a class gift by other adult members of the class.
- Court appointed: The court may appoint a representative for a person the court determines is not otherwise adequately represented.<sup>131</sup> A court appointed guardian ad litem would be an example of this category of representation. Uniquely, in making decisions, a court appointed representative may take into consideration benefits accruing to living members of the family of the represented individual.<sup>132</sup>

Limits on Representation

With two notable exceptions, representation under the Code is available only to the extent there is no conflict of interest between the representative and the person being represented. Representation by holders of powers of appointment and by settlor-designated persons are the exceptions. As detailed more fully below, the former are subject to a fraud or bad faith restriction; the latter are restricted more directly by limitations on who may be designated as a representative.

Special Florida Provisions

Representation by Holders of a Power of Appointment

beneficiaries. See e.g., s. 736.0301(3), F.S. providing that notice or consent given to or by a representative of an incapacitated settlor is binding of the settlor's behalf.

<sup>125</sup> See s. 736.0301(1) and (2), F.S. Section 301(b) of the Uniform Trust Code provides that the consent of a representative is binding on the person being represented "unless the person represented objects to the representation before the consent would otherwise have become effective." (emphasis added). The comments to the section suggest that, at least with respect to competent adults, the qualification may be constitutionally required. Despite this, section 736.0301 does not include a similar limitation because the Committee believes that the constitutional requirement may not apply with equal force to all types of representation. It may be that representation over the objection of the person being represented violates due process in all cases. It is also possible, however, that representation by the holder of a power of appointment (or by a settlor designated representative) is distinguishable because the underlying rationale for these types of representation is found either in an equivalency with ownership or in the settlor's intent. See note 135 infra p. 14. The Committee omitted the explicit limitation because it did not wish to preempt the issue.

Section 736.0302, F.S. provides that a holder of a power of appointment may represent and bind the objects and takers in default of the power. As is the case with the representation provision found in the Probate Code,<sup>133</sup> but unlike the corresponding provision in the Uniform Trust Code<sup>134</sup> s. 736.0302, F.S. makes no distinction between general and nongeneral powers.<sup>135</sup> Representation applies to the holders of either.<sup>136</sup>

The Fraud and Bad Faith Limitation

As it turns out, one of the most discussed questions relating to the representation provision dealing with power holders was whether representation should be precluded if the power holder has a conflict of interest with the objects or takers in default. The Uniform Trust Code contains such a restriction. Explicitly and structurally at least, s. 731.303, F.S. of the Probate Code does not. It was the Committee's belief that incorporating a conflict of interest limitation would change existing Florida law.

Discussion on this point centered on the common situation where a life tenant of a trust is given a power to appoint trust property by will. The case for including a conflict of interest limitation can be found in the concern that, without one, as a representative of the objects and takers in default, the power holder could approve acts that improperly benefit his or her life interest.<sup>137</sup> The case against including a conflict limitation is found in the shared view of many on the Committee that the limitation would preclude most representation by holders of powers as there would usually be some conflict between the power holder and the objects and takers in default.

The Committee decided to include a provision precluding representation by power holders in matters involving fraud or bad faith by the trustee instead of one dealing more broadly with conflicts of interest. Ultimately, the Committee hoped that a good faith trustee will resist any attempt by the holder of a nongeneral or testamentary power to enhance his or her life interest.<sup>138</sup>

Powers Held by Trustees

Section 736.0302, F.S. places two other restrictions on the ability of a power holder to represent others under part III of the Code. Both address the same concern – that trustees not be in a position to approve their own

The supporting rationale for more restrictive nongeneral powers is different. A commonly encountered example of this type of power would be a trust "to pay the income to spouse for life, then to distribute principal to such of settlor's descendants as spouse appoints by will with gift in default of appointment to the descendants per stirpes." In the Committee's view, these powers are used either because existing Florida law permits their use as a means to cut off the flow of information about the trust to the remaindermen during the life tenant's life or because they add flexibility to the trust disposition. In either case, practically speaking, holders of this type of power act as an agent of the creator of the power. If a settlor has sufficient confidence in the holder of a limited nongeneral power to vest him or her with the authority to determine the beneficial ownership of trust property, there is every reason to assume that the settlor would want the power holder to represent the objects and takers in default in other respects. Hence, representation by the holder of a limited special power is a mere manifestation of a principle expressed more formally elsewhere in the Code<sup>135</sup> that a trust settlor should be able to designate persons to serve as representatives of trust beneficiaries.

<sup>136</sup> Nor does s. 736.0302, F.S. make a distinction between presently exercisable (i.e. inter vivos) and testamentary powers. Note though, that no question of representation arises when a trust beneficiary has a presently exercisable general power of appointment. If such a case, the trustee's duties would be owed exclusively to the power holder; as long as the power remained exercisable, other trust beneficiaries would have no rights to represent. See s. 736.0603, F.S.

<sup>137</sup> The Committee was of the view that this is an unlikely possibility where a corporate trustee is involved. But not all trusts have corporate trustee, and the possibility that the trustee is also the holder of the power, is a particular concern.

<sup>138</sup> In a conforming amendment, a fraud and bad faith restriction was also added to s. 731.301(1), F.S.

actions and accountings. Thus, s. 736.0302, F.S. does not apply to the distribution powers of a trustee.<sup>139</sup> Nor may a beneficiary with a power represent others while the beneficiary is serving as sole trustee.<sup>140</sup>

Designated Representatives

Within limits discussed below, s. 736.0306, F.S. allows a settlor to appoint or designate a person to represent and bind a trust beneficiary or to receive notices, information, reports and accounts on the beneficiary's behalf. This section, which has no counterpart in the Uniform Code, contemplates that the designated representative could be appointed directly by the settlor or by others (such as a committee) pursuant to a process set out in the trust instrument. In either case, a person serving as a designated representative is not a fiduciary. He or she is not liable for acts or omissions made in good faith.

Trustee May Not Serve as Designated Representative

Section 736.0306, F.S. places two important restrictions on the authority of a designated representative to represent and bind a trust beneficiary. The first of these is that a designated representative who is also a trustee may not represent or bind a trust beneficiary while serving in that capacity.<sup>141</sup> This is a mandatory restriction that cannot be waived in the trust instrument.<sup>142</sup>

Certain Beneficiaries Serving as Designated Representatives

The second restriction, which is also mandatory,<sup>143</sup> applies to designated representatives who are also beneficiaries of the trust. Although there is no blanket prohibition on a beneficiary serving as a designated representative, the Code does restrict the situations where this is allowed. A beneficiary may serve as a designated representative only if:

- The beneficiary is designated by the settlor by name (as opposed to by others pursuant to a process detailed in the trust instrument); or
- The designated representative/beneficiary is a spouse, grandparent, or descendant of a grandparent of either the beneficiary being represented or that beneficiary's spouse.<sup>144</sup>

Representation; Privacy; and the Right to Information

Reference was made previously to the balance the Code attempts to make between a settlor's privacy and control interests on the one hand, and the interests qualified beneficiaries have in accessing trust information on the other. Because, the trustee's duty to notify, account to, and respond to requests for information by qualified beneficiaries is mandatory, a settlor may not directly affect this duty in the trust instrument. Nevertheless, with the judicious use of the representation provisions, particularly the power of appointment and designated representative provisions, it should be possible to prevent one or more qualified beneficiaries from gaining access to information the settlor does not wish them to have.<sup>145</sup>

<sup>145</sup> Although a settlor may be motivated by a desire to restrict access to information about a trust, the settlor's intent in this regard is merely precatory. That is, a trustee who gives notices, accountings, etc., directly to a person who is represented by another under the Code is not individually liable for doing so. Section 736.0301(5), F.S.

TRUST CREATION, VALIDITY, MODIFICATION AND TERMINATION (PART IV)

The first several sections of Part IV of the Code gather together what would be considered by most to be the traditional common law of trusts. The balance of Part IV covers the important area of trust modification, termination and reformation. Some of these later provisions are codifications of existing Florida statutes. Others find their source in the Uniform Code.

Trust Creation and Validity

Under the Code, a trust may be created by inter vivos or testamentary transfer, by a settlor's self declaration of trust, or by the exercise of a power of appointment.<sup>146</sup> In broad outline and subject to further refinement below, to create a trust a settlor having the capacity to do so<sup>147</sup> must intend to create a trust<sup>148</sup> for a purpose that is lawful, consistent with public policy and possible to achieve.<sup>149</sup> The trust must not be passive, meaning that the trustee must have enforceable duties to perform.<sup>150</sup> A trust or any portion of a trust is void to the extent the trust or trust portion is procured by fraud, duress, mistake, or undue influence.<sup>151</sup>

Ascertainable Beneficiaries

In addition to the above, a private trust must have ascertainable beneficiaries.<sup>152</sup> That said, it is not necessary that the beneficiaries be alive at the creation of a trust. It is sufficient if they can be ascertained at some point in the future within the period of the Rule against Perpetuities.<sup>153</sup> If a class of beneficiaries is ascertainable (such as descendants), the shares of each may be left to the discretion of the trustee.<sup>154</sup>

Charitable trusts

A trust may be created for a charitable purpose (e.g., the relief of poverty, the advancement of arts, sciences, education or religion, or the promotion of health, governmental or municipal purposes).<sup>155</sup> The ascertainable beneficiary requirement does not apply to such trusts<sup>156</sup> because the enforcement of charitable trusts is provided by other mechanisms.<sup>157</sup>

<sup>152</sup> Section 736.0402(1)(c), F.S. The reason is obvious enough. It is the beneficiaries who have standing to enforce the trust, and beneficiaries, courts, and trustees alike need to know who they are.

<sup>154</sup> In a departure from orthodox common law, a power of a trustee to select from a class of indefinite beneficiaries (such as friends) is not invalid under the Code. Instead, the trustee is given a reasonable time to make a selection. If the trustee fails to do so, the trustee's power fails and the property passes to those who would have taken it had the power never been conferred. Section 736.0402(3), F.S. Accord, Restatement (Third) of Trusts s. 46 (Tentative Draft No. 2, approved 1999); Restatement (Second) of Trusts s. 122 (1959); Restatement (Second) of Property: Donative Transfers s. 12.1 cmt. e (1986). In this regard, the Code overrules Kunce v. Robinson, 469 So.2d 874 (Fla. 3rd DCA 1985).

<sup>155</sup> Section 736.0405(1), F.S. Where the intent to create a charitable trust is present but the terms of the trust do not indicate a particular purpose or beneficiary, the court may select one or more charitable purposes or beneficiaries. Section 736.0405(3), F.S.

<sup>157</sup> Although not stated explicitly, the Code continues the common law rule that charitable trusts are enforced by the state Attorney General. See s. 736.0110(3), F.S. under which the Attorney General may assert the right of a qualified beneficiary with respect to charitable trusts. In addition, the rights of a qualified beneficiary are given to charitable organizations expressly designated to receive distributions under the terms of a charitable trust. See s. 736.0110(1), F.S. Finally, in a departure from common law, the Code gives settlors standing to enforce the charitable trusts they create. Section 736.0405(3), F.S.

Trust for the care of animals

A trust may be created to provide for the care of one or more animals alive during the settlor's lifetime.<sup>158</sup> The trust lasts until the death of the last surviving animal at which time any remaining trust property is distributed as provided in the terms of the trust, or in the absence of such a provision, to the settlor, if living, otherwise as part of the settlor's estate.<sup>159</sup>

The settlor of an animal trust may designate someone to enforce the trust. In the absence of such a designation, the court will appoint a person to enforce the trust.<sup>160</sup> In either case, the presence of a designated enforcer (so to speak) means that an animal trust does not need ascertainable beneficiaries.

Trusts for general or specific noncharitable purpose

In much the same way that the Code validates trusts for the care of animals, it also validates (for 21 years) trusts for a general or specific noncharitable purpose.<sup>161</sup> Like animal trusts, trusts for a noncharitable purpose are enforced by a person designated by the settlor in the terms of the trust, or, in the absence of such a designee, by a person appointed by the court.<sup>162</sup> Hence, this type of trust need not have ascertainable beneficiaries either.<sup>163</sup>

Trust Formalities

A testamentary trust is valid only if the will in which it is contained is valid. With two important exceptions discussed next, an inter vivos trust is validly created under the Code if its creation complies either with the law of the place where it was executed or the law where the settlor was domiciled at the time of creation.<sup>164</sup> Thus, where either the execution situs or the settlor's domicile is a jurisdiction other than Florida, the Code can validate a trust that does not comply with Florida law. In the common case of a trust executed in Florida by a Florida domiciliary, however, the trust must comply with the requirements for a trust in Florida.<sup>165</sup>

Irrevocable trusts

Neither existing Florida law nor the Code require a writing to create a trust of personal property. Irrevocable oral trusts of personal property are enforceable<sup>166</sup> provided only that their terms can be established by clear

<sup>159</sup> See s. 736.0408(1) and (3), F.S. Except to the extent the court determines that the property in the trust exceeds that necessary to accomplish the purposes of the trust, property in an animal trust may be applied only to its intended use.

<sup>160</sup> An action to request the appointment of someone to enforce an animal trust, or to remove a person serving in that capacity may be brought by anyone having an interest in the welfare of the animal. Section 736.0408(2), F.S.

<sup>161</sup> Section 736.0409(1), F.S. An example of a trust for a general noncharitable purpose would be a trust where the trustee is directed to apply the income annually "to such worthy purposes as the trustee selects." An example of a trust for a specific noncharitable purpose would be one where the trustee is directed to spend trust funds for the saying of masses for the settlor and his deceased spouse. Accord Restatement (Third) of Trusts, s. 47 (2003), cmt. d(1). It is worth noting, though, that this Code provision will not apply to the two most common types of trusts for a specific noncharitable purpose. These, respectively, are trusts for the care of animals, which are covered separately in Code s. 736.0409, F.S. discussed above, and trusts for the care and maintenance of cemetery plots, which, under Florida law are deemed to be charitable. See s. 689.13, F.S. The significance of this section is that trusts for the care and maintenance of cemetery plots are not subject to the twenty-one year limitation in Code section 736.0409(1); they may be perpetual.

<sup>162</sup> Section 736.0409(2), F.S. Also like an animal trust, except to the extent the court determines that the value of the property is excessive, trust property must be applied for its intended use and any property not required for that purpose must be distributed as provided in the terms of the trust or in the absence of such terms, to the settlor, if living otherwise to the settlor's estate. and convincing evidence.<sup>167</sup> Trusts containing Florida real property, however, must be evidenced by a signed writing.<sup>168</sup>

Revocable trusts

Nominally, revocable trusts are subject to the same rules. Practically speaking, however, revocable trusts present special considerations. In the first place, most plans involving revocable trusts also involve wills with pourover clauses. Under s. 732.513(1), F.S., a pourover clause is invalid unless the recipient trust is evidenced by a written instrument. More importantly, since 1995, s. 737.111, F.S. has provided that the testamentary aspects of most trusts<sup>169</sup> are void unless the trusts are executed with the formalities required for a will.<sup>170</sup> Similar requirements are imposed by section 736.0403(2)(b) of the Code, but only with respect to revocable trusts<sup>171</sup> created by Florida domiciliaries<sup>172</sup> on or after the effective date of the Code.<sup>173</sup> The practical bottom line then is that, under the Code, if revocable trusts are to serve the function they are intended to serve – to pass property at the death of the settlor to others – they must be executed with the formalities required for a will.

These basics aside, there are aspects to the application of section 736.0403(2)(b), F.S. that may not be apparent from a casual reading. These include the following:

- The section applies both at the creation of a revocable trust and to any subsequent amendments.<sup>174</sup>
- A failure to comply with the requirements of s. 736.0403(2)(b), F.S. does not result in the initial invalidity of a revocable trust. Rather, only the testamentary aspects of the trust are void. As under existing law, testamentary aspects means "those provisions of the trust that dispose of the trust property on or after the settlor's death other to the settlor's estate."<sup>175</sup>
- The formalities required are those for a will in Florida. Complying with the formalities for a will in some other state is not enough.
- Section 736.0403(2)(b), F.S. has no applicability to trusts created by non Florida domiciliaries whether or not the trust was executed in Florida.<sup>176</sup>

<sup>171</sup> A trust is revocable if it is revocable by the settlor without the consent of either the trustee or a person holding an adverse interest. Section 736.0103(15), F.S. The decision to restrict s. 736.0403(2), F.S. to revocable trust follows from the Committee's belief that compliance with testamentary formalities is justifiable as a matter of principle only for that class of trusts that operate as will substitutes. Revocable trusts serve that purpose, irrevocable trusts do not. Stated differently, irrevocable outright transfers need not comply with testamentary formalities and the Committee could find no convincing justification for treating irrevocable transfers in trust any differently.

<sup>174</sup> Unlike s. 737.111, F.S., s. 736.0403(2), F.S. makes no mention of trust amendments. Nevertheless, it applies to trust amendments because trust amendments are included within the definition of trust instrument. See s. 736.0103(20), F.S.

<sup>176</sup> Compare s. 737.111(2), F.S. which seems to imply that trusts executed by nonresidents are subject to the section if the settlor executes the trust in Florida.

- Conversely, s. 736.0403(2)(b), F.S. does not contain an "out" for trusts executed in other states. The section applies to revocable trusts created by Florida domiciliaries regardless of the place of execution and regardless of the location of the property held in the trust.<sup>177</sup>

Trust Modification and Termination

In addition to provisions dealing with the requisites for a trust, Part IV of the Code includes important and useful provisions covering the modification, termination and reformation of trusts. The first three of these provisions discussed below, are rewrites of Florida's existing trust modification statutes. The remaining provisions are borrowed from the Uniform Code.

Incorporation of Existing Florida Statutes

Chapter 737, F.S. includes two important sections dealing with the modification and termination of irrevocable trusts. With some restructuring, these sections have been incorporated into three sections of the Code. Each is discussed individually below. First, however, consideration is given to features the three sections have in common.

Common Features

The three sections under consideration here – ss. 736.1113, 736.1115 and 736.0412, F.S. – are all in addition to and not in derogation of common law rights to modify, amend, terminate trusts.<sup>178</sup> Although they apply in different contexts and with different prerequisites, none is applicable while a trust is revocable and all permit the same kind of modifications. That is, when applicable, each section provides a mechanism through which a trust can be:

- Amended with respect to either administrative or distribution terms;
- Terminated in whole or in part;
- Modified to direct or permit a trustee to do unauthorized or prohibited acts; or
- Modified to preclude a trustee from doing authorized or required acts.<sup>179</sup>

Of course, the three sections have differences as well. By way of preview, areas of difference include:

- The role (if any) a court plays in the modification/termination decision;
- Who may request or effectuate a modification/termination; and
- The respect that is to be given to the settlor's intent.<sup>180</sup>

<sup>177</sup> Because of the differences between s. 737.111, F.S. and new section 736.0403(2)(b), F.S., the latter applies only to trusts created on or after the effective date of the Code. Section 736.0403(4), F.S. Section 737.111, F.S. continues to apply to trusts created before that date.

<sup>180</sup> The Committee expressed the following comment concerning the settlor's intent. It may come as a surprise to some that two of the Code sections may be used to modify or terminate a trust in a manner that is inconsistent with the intent of the settlor. It is worth emphasizing, however, that this possibility is not new with the Code. It exists under the modification provisions in Chapter 737, F.S. as well. The Code's organization and restructuring of these sections just makes this possibility more apparent. Then too, it is also worth noting that, with some tradeoffs, a settlor can preclude modifications and terminations that are inconsistent with his or her intent in the governing instrument. This ability, which involves an interplay between the modification sections and the Rule against Perpetuities, is detailed more fully later.

Judicial Modification Consistent with Settlor's Intent

Section 736.04113, F.S. permits a court to modify an irrevocable trust in any of the ways described above if the trust's purposes have been fulfilled or have become illegal, impossible, wasteful or impractical. It also permits modification when, because of an unanticipated change in circumstances, compliance with the original terms would defeat or substantially impair a material purpose of the trust.<sup>181</sup> Section 736.04113, F.S. is identical in effect to s. 737.4031(1), F.S. The only real difference is that s. 736.04113, F.S. clarifies who may apply for modification under the section. The application may be made by a trustee or any qualified beneficiary.<sup>182</sup>

An important characteristic of s. 736.04113, F.S. is that as long as they remain legal, possible and consistent with public policy (e.g., not wasteful or impractical), the settlor's purposes for the trust are the guiding polestar in a court's decision to permit a modification. In that regard, in exercising its discretion, the court is directed to consider the terms and purposes of the trust, the facts and circumstances surrounding its creation and other extrinsic evidence relevant to the proposed modification.<sup>183</sup> Importantly, modification under s. 736.04113, F.S. is not precluded by the presence of a spendthrift provision.<sup>184</sup>

The court's authority to modify a trust under s. 736.04113, F.S. is included on the list of mandatory provisions.<sup>185</sup> Thus, while a modification that is inconsistent with a material purpose of the settlor should be rejected by a court, a provision in a trust instrument which would seek to prevent the court from exercising its discretion on the matter is ineffective.

Judicial Modification in the Best Interest of the Beneficiaries

Under Code s. 736.04115, F.S., a court may modify an irrevocable trust in any of the ways described previously when compliance with the terms of the trust is not in the best interest of the beneficiaries.<sup>186</sup> As with s. 736.04113, F.S. discussed above, modification under s. 736.04115, F.S. is not precluded by the presence of a spendthrift provision<sup>187</sup> and, in exercising its discretion, a court is directed to consider the terms and purposes of the trust, the facts and circumstances surrounding its creation, and extrinsic evidence relevant to the proposed modification.<sup>188</sup>

Nonjudicial Modification of Irrevocable Trusts

Section 736.0412, F.S. provides for the nonjudicial modification of a trust. Under it, a qualifying trust may be modified in any of the ways described previously upon the unanimous agreement of the trustee and all qualified beneficiaries,<sup>189</sup> although neither a spendthrift clause nor a provision in a trust instrument

Under both, it is the best interest of the beneficiaries that is the controlling criteria for modification. Consequently, it is possible that s. 736.04115, F.S. could be used to modify a trust in a manner that is inconsistent with the settlor's intent. Predictably, this possibility may be anathema to some settlors. If so, read on. By default, under Florida's statutory Rule Against Perpetuities, all trust interests must vest or terminate within 360 years of their creation. For trusts subject to this version of the Rule, section 736.04115 is mandatory. See s. 736.0105(2)(j), F.S. But a provision in a trust instrument that expressly prohibits judicial modification under s. 736.04115, F.S. can be effective if the trust is drafted to comply with either the common law Rule Against Perpetuities (lives in being plus 21 years) or with Florida's shorter 90 year statutory substitute. Note, however, that drafting to comply with the common law or shorter statutory Rules is not in and of itself sufficient to preclude modifications under s. 736.04115, F.S. The trust instrument must also expressly prohibit judicial modifications under the section. See s. 736.04112(3)(b), F.S. Accord, s.737.4031(2)(c)2, F.S.

prohibiting amendment or revocation of a trust prevents modifications under the section.<sup>190</sup> The objection of a nonconsenting beneficiary, however, might.

Protection of Nonconsenting Beneficiaries

Because consent to a nonjudicial modification is required only of the trustee and qualified beneficiaries, there is a possibility that a s. 736.0412, F.S. modification could be detrimental to the interests of other beneficiaries. To protect against that, Code s. 736.0410(2), F.S. allows any beneficiary to commence a judicial proceeding to have a court review a proposed nonjudicial modification.

Qualification Criteria

Section 736.0412, F.S. is substantively identical to s. 737.4032, F.S. on which it was based. Under both, a number of factors must be considered in determining whether a trust qualifies for nonjudicial modification.

- First, the trust must have been created after 2000.<sup>191</sup>
- Second, nonjudicial modification is not permitted for any trust for which a charitable deduction is allowed or allowable under the Internal Revenue Code until such time, if ever, that all charitable interests in the trust have terminated.<sup>192</sup>
- Finally, there can be no nonjudicial modification of any trust while the trust settlor is still alive.<sup>193</sup> This limitation, insures that a settlor's participation in a modification, either directly as a qualified beneficiary or indirectly as a representative of another qualified beneficiary, cannot cause adverse estate tax exposure at a settlor's death under the expansive reading some recent case decisions have given to IRC sections 2036 and 2038.<sup>194</sup>

Other Modification and Termination Provisions

The three sections discussed above have their roots in the existing modification provisions of Chapter 737, F.S. In addition, the Code includes two other modification/termination provisions that are derived from the Uniform Code.

Modification or Termination of Uneconomic Trusts

Code s. 736.0414, F.S. provides a mechanism for a trustee or court to modify or terminate an uneconomic trust. The section is not mandatory; modifications and terminations under the section 736.0414 may be precluded by an express provision in the trust instrument.<sup>195</sup> Assuming no such provision:

- A trustee of a trust with property worth less than $50,000 may terminate the trust on its own initiative if the trustee concludes that the value of the trust property is insufficient to justify the cost of

administration.<sup>196</sup> Before proceeding, notice must be given to the qualified beneficiaries.<sup>197</sup> If one or more of them object, they may commence a judicial proceeding to disapprove the trustee's termination.<sup>198</sup>

- In addition, upon application of a trustee or any qualified beneficiary a court may modify or terminate a trust, or remove or appoint a different trustee, if the court determines that the value of the trust property is insufficient to justify the cost of administration.<sup>199</sup>

In either case, upon termination of a trust, the trustee is directed to distribute the trust property in a manner consistent with the purposes of the trust.<sup>200</sup>

Modification to Achieve Settlor's Tax Objectives

In another section derived from the Uniform Code, s. 736.0416, F.S. provides that upon application by any interested person a court may modify a trust to achieve a settlor's tax objectives. Modifications under the section must be consistent with the settlor's probable intent.<sup>201</sup>

Trust Reformation

The Code contains two sections permitting the reformation of a trust to better effectuate a settlor's intent. The first of these is a codification of the common law cy pres doctrine. The second permits reformations to cure mistakes. This latter, in particular, is an expansion of existing law.

Cy Pres

Section 736.0413, F.S. codifies the common law cy pres doctrine. Under the section, a court may modify or terminate a charitable trust in a manner consistent with a settlor's charitable purposes if a particular charitable purpose becomes unlawful, impracticable, impossible to achieve, or wasteful.

Reformation under s. 736.0413, F.S. is discretionary with a court. In that regard, the section differs from the corresponding Uniform Code provision. Under Uniform Code s. 413, it is presumed that the settlor had a general charitable intent in creating the trust which precludes a court from reverting the trust property back to the settlor or the settlor's successors in interest.<sup>202</sup> This limitation is not present in s. 736.0413, F.S.

Reformation to Correct Mistakes

Under s. 736.0415, F.S., upon application of the trustee or any interested person, a court may reform the terms of a trust to conform to the settlor's intentions if it is proved by clear and convincing evidence that both the accomplishment of the settlor's intent and the terms of the trust were affected by a mistake. Reformation under the section is available for both mistakes of law and of fact, whether or not the terms of the trust are ambiguous.<sup>203</sup>

<sup>201</sup> Code s. 736.0416, F.S. provides an important state law authority for this type of modification. It does not, and can not, however, insure that the modification will be recognized for tax purposes. In general, tax recognition requires either that the modification occur before the event giving rise to the tax or that the modification be authorized by the Internal Revenue Code or Treasury Regulations promulgated thereunder. See Rev. Rul. 73-142, 1973-1 C.B. 405.

<sup>203</sup> Existing Florida case law supports reformation to cure scrivener's errors. See Robinson v. Robinson, 720 So. 2d 540 (Fla. 4th DCA 1998). Section 736.0415, F.S. is broader, however, as it allows reformation for mistakes both in the expression and in the inducement.

Trust Division and Combination

The final section of Part IV of the Code -- s. 736.0417, F.S. -- gives trustees the power to sever or combine trusts. The section is derived from Uniform Code s. 417. It replaces provisions in Chapter 737, F.S. which also permit trust combinations and severances.<sup>204</sup> The Committee preferred the Uniform Code provision over existing law because the existing statutes are unnecessarily restrictive. For example, severances under existing statutes must result in trusts with identical terms and with an aggregate of interests that are reasonably equivalent to those that existed prior to the severance. Similar restrictions apply to combinations.<sup>205</sup>

By contrast, under s. 736.0417, F.S. a trustee may combine trusts even though their terms are not identical. And a single trust can be severed even though the resulting trusts are dissimilar. Three cautions, are in order, however.

- First, the authority of the trustee is circumscribed by a requirement that the severance or combination not impair any beneficiary's rights.
- Second, notice must be given to qualified beneficiaries and any beneficiary may commence a proceeding to disapprove a proposed severance or combination.<sup>206</sup>
- Lastly, the types of actions permitted under s. 736.0417, F.S. may exceed what are permissible from a tax standpoint. Trustees should exercise caution as tax law requirements for trust combinations and severances vary with the context.

CREDITORS CLAIMS; SPENDTHRIFT AND DISCRETIONARY TRUSTS (PART V)

Part V of the Code contains the several provisions that bear on the rights of creditors vis-à-vis a beneficiary's interest in a trust. Areas covered include the ability to garnish present or future distributions; the validity, requisites, effect, and limits of spendthrift provisions; the impact on creditor's rights of discretionary distribution standards; the treatment of self-settled trusts; and the duty of trustees of revocable trusts to pay the expenses and obligations of a settlor's estate.

Third Party Trusts

The term "third party trusts" is used in this Summary as a convenience to distinguish between those trusts that a settlor creates for others and those where the settlor has either a power of revocation or an interest as beneficiary. The latter are referred to as self-settled trusts.

No Spendthrift Provision

With respect to third party trusts, s. 736.0501, F.S. provides the basic statement of creditor remedy. Under the section, as long as the trust does not contain a valid spendthrift provision, a court may "authorize a creditor or assignee of the beneficiary to reach the beneficiary's interest by attachment of present or future distributions to or for the benefit of the beneficiary or by other means."<sup>207</sup> Importantly, the rights given to creditors under the section are limited to those cases where a beneficiary has a right to distributions. If

<sup>207</sup> Although Chapter 737, F.S. contains nothing similar, s. 736.0501, F.S. is consistent with existing Florida case law which permits garnishment of "disbursements that are due to be made or actually made from the trust." Bacardi v. White, 463 So. 2d 218 (Fla. 1985). It does not matter that the distribution is to be made to or for the benefit of the beneficiary. See Bradshaw v. Am. Advent Christian Home and Orphanage, 145 Fla. 270, 199 So. 329 (1941) ("Where trust income is to be applied for the use and benefit of the cestui que trust, a court of equity may direct application of the income to payment of his debts.") distributions are discretionary, a beneficiary has no "attachable" trust interest. Thus, s. 736.0504(1), F.S. provides that a creditor of a beneficiary may not compel a distribution that is subject to a trustee's discretion whether or not the discretion is subject to a standard and whether or not the trustee has abused the discretion.<sup>208</sup> In addition, s. 736.0504(2), F.S. insures that the same rules apply even if the beneficiary is the trustee, provided the trustee's discretion to distribute for its own benefit is limited by an ascertainable standard as described in ss. 2041 and 2514 of the Internal Revenue Code.<sup>209</sup>

Section 736.0504, F.S. applies only with respect to the rights of creditors to compel distributions from discretionary trusts. It does not limit the right of a beneficiary to sue for an abuse of discretion or a failure to comply with a distribution standard.<sup>210</sup>

Spendthrift Trusts

Code s. 736.0502, F.S. gives statutory recognition to spendthrift provisions.<sup>211</sup> Assuming a trust has a valid spendthrift provision:

<sup>208</sup> Existing Florida case law does not permit the garnishment of interests in wholly discretionary trust interests. See Bacardi v. White, supra note 207. Whether the same rule applies to trusts where the discretion is subject to a standard, particularly where the standard has been abused, is not clear.

<sup>209</sup> On the question of when a trustee's powers may be subject to an ascertainable standard even though such a standard is not provided in the trust instrument, see ss. 736.0814(2) and (3), F.S. under which a power of a trustee other than a settlor or a spouse of a settlor to distribute to itself is automatically restricted by an ascertainable standard as described in ss. 2041 and 2514 of the Internal Revenue Code.

Section 736.0504(2), F.S. is derived from UTC section 504(e). The purpose of the provision is explained in the following comment to the UTC section:

The UTC, as previously drafted, did not specifically address the issue of whether a creditor of a beneficiary may reach the beneficial interest of a beneficiary who is also a trustee. However, Restatement (Third) of Trusts s.60, comment g, which was approved by the American law Institute in 1999, provides that the beneficial interest of a beneficiary/trustee may be reached by the beneficiary/trustee's creditors. Because the UTC is supplemented by the common law (see UTC Section 106), this Restatement rule might also apply in states enacting the UTC. The drafting committee has concluded that adoption of the Restatement rule would unduly disrupt standard estate planning and should be limited. Consequently, Section 504 is amended to provide that the provisions of this section, which generally prohibit a creditor of a beneficiary from reaching a beneficiary's discretionary interest, apply even if the beneficiary is also a trustee or cotrustee. The beneficiary-trustee is protected from creditor claims to the extent the beneficiary-trustee's discretion is protected by an ascertainable standard as defined in the relevant Internal Revenue Code sections. The result is that the beneficiary's trustee's interest is protected to the extent it is also exempt from federal estate tax. The amendment thereby achieves its main purpose, which is to protect the trustee-beneficiary of a bypass trust from creditor claims.

The Committee notes that there is no Florida case law in support of the position taken by the Restatement (Third) of Trusts above with respect to powers subject to ascertainable standards. In Croom v. Ocala Plumbing & Electric Co., 62 Fla. 460 (1911), the supreme court did subject property to the reach of trust beneficiaries' creditors because the trust instrument gave the beneficiaries an unrestricted right to demand distribution of the trust. The court said:

Even if a deed creating a spendthrift trust, if properly construed, is valid and effectual to exempt the property from the debts of the beneficiaries, yet where the deed provides that the trustees shall convey all or any part of the property to the cestui que trust or to their assigns as they may direct on the joint request in writing, this virtually gives them absolute dominion so as to vest in them or their assigns absolute title, and such deed does not exempt the property from their debts under the general rule that when one has an interest in property which he may alien or assign, that interest, whether legal or equitable, is liable for the payment of his debts.

The powers in Croom, however, were unrestricted. The rationale of the case would not appear to apply to powers subject to an ascertainable standard. Hence, the Committee believes that section 736.0504(2) is consistent with existing law.

<sup>211</sup> The Code clarifies that no special language is necessary to create a spendthrift trust. Thus, a trust term to the effect that beneficial interests are subject to a spendthrift trust or words of similar import is sufficient to do the trick. See s. 736.0502(2), F.S.

- A beneficiary may not transfer his beneficial interest in the trust; and
- With some exceptions discussed next, a creditor or assignee of the beneficiary may not reach the interest or a distribution by the trustee before it is received by the beneficiary.<sup>212</sup>

Spendthrift provisions are also recognized in existing Florida case law, although there is an important difference in the treatment of them under the Code. The difference concerns the required scope of the restraint on alienability. Under Florida case law, it appears possible for a spendthrift provision to allow limited transfers among family members.<sup>213</sup> That is not allowable under the Code. Under s. 736.0502(1), F.S., a spendthrift provision is valid only if it restrains both voluntary and involuntary transfer of a beneficiary's interest. Because this limitation is mandatory and is a change in existing law, the requirement does not apply to any trust in existence on the effective date of the Code.<sup>214</sup>

Exception Creditors

When it comes to the effectiveness of spendthrift provisions, not all creditors are created equal. For public policy reasons, some creditors may proceed against a beneficiary's interest in a trust even though the trust includes a spendthrift clause. Thus, s. 736.0503(2), F.S. provides that a spendthrift clause is unenforceable against:

- A claim by a beneficiary's child, spouse, or former spouse for support or maintenance;
- A judgment creditor (such as an attorney) who has provided services for the protection of a beneficiary's interest in the trust; or
- A claim by a state or the United States, but only to the extent a separate statute so provides.

Remedies Available to Exception Creditors

The fact that spendthrift clauses are unenforceable against exception creditors means only that these creditors have remedies against a beneficiary's interest similar to those of creditors of beneficiaries with interests in a trust that does not include a spendthrift provision. That is, exception creditors may attach present or future distributions to or for the benefit of the beneficiary;<sup>215</sup> they cannot compel distributions from or otherwise reach beneficial interests in discretionary trusts.<sup>216</sup>

Key Change from Existing Law

The concept of exception creditors has been recognized in Florida's case law since the 1985 decision in Bacardi v. White<sup>217</sup> in which the Supreme Court permitted a former spouse to recover alimony and attorney's fees from her former husband's spendthrift trust. In dicta, the court indicated that the result would be the same for a claim by a child for child support. A key difference between the Bacardi holding and the Code treatment of these exception creditors, however, is that the court in Bacardi held that the spouse's remedy is a last resort remedy which is available only upon a showing that traditional remedies are not effective.<sup>218</sup> The Code's provisions dealing with exception creditors are not so limited. Hence the Code changes existing law in this area by eliminating the need to show that traditional remedies are ineffective.

<sup>213</sup> Although neither court discussed the point, the spendthrift clauses upheld in Bacardi v. White, 463 So. 2d 218 (Fla. 1985) and Mason v. Mason, 789 So. 2d 895 (Fla. 3d DCA 2001) both permitted limited transfers to family members.

Mandatory Distributions

Although a spendthrift provision prevents a beneficiary's creditor from attaching or garnishing the beneficiary's interest in a trust, it does not protect trust income or principal after it has been distributed to the beneficiary. For that reason, a sympathetic trustee might be tempted to delay required distributions to spendthrift beneficiaries to frustrate or delay the beneficiaries' creditors' efforts to reach the distributions. Code s. 736.0506, F.S. is intended to prevent this. Under the section, whether or not a trust contains a spendthrift provision, a creditor or assignee of a beneficiary may reach a mandatory distribution that the trustee does not make within a reasonable time.<sup>219</sup> For this purpose, a mandatory distribution is a distribution of income or principal that the trustee is required to make under the terms of the trust, including a distribution on termination of the trust. The term does not encompass discretionary distributions of any sort.<sup>220</sup>

Self-settled Trusts

As mentioned previously, this Summary uses the term "self-settled trust" as a convenience. A trust is a self-settled trust if it is revocable by the settlor or if the settlor is a mandatory or permissible distributee of trust property.

Creditor Remedies

Traditionally, self-settled trusts have been treated harshly when it comes to creditors' rights. This follows from a widely accepted public policy maxim that you should not be permitted to put property in a trust for your own benefit and escape your creditors. This policy maxim informs the Code's treatment of self-settled trusts. Under Code s. 736.0505(1), F.S., whether or not a trust includes a spendthrift provision:

- While a trust is revocable, the trust property is subject to the claims of the settlor's creditors;<sup>221</sup> and
- In the case of an irrevocable trust, a settlor's creditor or assignee may reach the maximum that can be distributed to or for the benefit of the settlor.<sup>222 223</sup> Notwithstanding this ability, the assets of the trust are not subject to the creditor's or assignee's claims merely because the trustee possesses the power to pay tax liabilities of the settlor.<sup>224</sup>

Withdrawal Powers

While the remedies given in the Code to creditors of settlors of self-settled trusts are not new, there is one aspect of s. 736.0505, F.S. that may be. Under s. 736.0505(2)(a), F.S., during the period it may be exercised, a holder of a withdrawal power over trust property is treated the same as a settlor of a revocable trust with respect to the property subject to the power.<sup>225</sup> Hence, the power holder's creditors may reach the property subject to the power.

<sup>220</sup> It is immaterial for this purpose that the discretion is subject to a standard or that it is coupled with language of direction. Section 736.0506(1), F.S.

<sup>221</sup> Section 736.0505(1)(a), F.S. Accord UTC s. 505(a)(1); Restatement (Third) of Trusts s. 25 comment e (Tentative Draft No. 1, approved 1996). But see Restatement (Second) of Trusts s. 330 comment o (1959) indicating that the rule with respect to revocable trusts at common law is different.

<sup>223</sup> Neither of these rules is surprising. As both are consistent with accepted general principles of law, the Committee believed that s. 736.0505(1), F.S. does not change existing Florida law. Of course, not all states follow these rules. Recent, legislation in some states gives greater creditor protection to irrevocable self-settled trusts.

As the term "power of withdrawal" does not include powers held by a trustee which are limited by an ascertainable standard or powers which require the consent of the trustee or an adverse person,<sup>226</sup> the rule in section 736.0505(2)(a), F.S. appears consistent with the Supreme Court's decision in Croom v. Ocala Plumbing & Electric Co.<sup>227</sup> which subjected trust property to the reach of creditors when the trust beneficiaries had an unrestricted right to access trust property. Under s. 736.0505(2)(b), F.S., however, upon a lapse, release, or waiver of a withdrawal power, the power holder retains the status of trust settlor with respect to the value of the property subject to the lapse, etc.<sup>228</sup> Accordingly, the power holder's creditors can reach the maximum amount of that property that could thereafter be distributed to the power holder. As there is no similar principal in existing Florida case law, the Committee views s. 736.0505(2)(b), F.S. to be a change in existing law.<sup>229</sup>

Trustee's Duty to Pay Expenses and Obligations of Settlor's Estate

Chapter 737, F.S. includes provisions which establish a workable and important mechanism by which the assets of a deceased settlor's revocable trust must be applied in payment of the expenses of administration and the obligations of a settlor's estate. The Code incorporates these provisions without change. Thus, in a mandatory provision, s. 736.05053, F.S. obligates a trustee of a trust described in s. 733.707(3), F.S.<sup>230</sup> to pay to a deceased settlor's personal representative amounts the personal representative certifies in writing to be required to pay administration expenses and the obligations of the settlor's estate. The section is identical to s. 737.3054, F.S. In another mandatory provision, Code s. 736.05055, F.S. carries forward the requirements found in s. 737.308, F.S., including the requirement imposed on a trustee of a trust described in s. 733.707(3), F.S. to file a notice of trust with the court of the county of the settlor's domicile and the court having jurisdiction of the settlor's estate.

Revocable Trusts (Part VI)

Part VI of the Code gathers in one place most of the provisions relating to revocable trusts, which the Code defines to be a trust that may be revoked by the settlor without the consent of either a trustee or a person having an adverse interest.<sup>231</sup> In an initial mandatory provision, s. 736.0601, F.S. clarifies that the capacity required to create a revocable trust is the same as that needed to execute a will.<sup>232</sup> Other sections specify the rules to be used to determine if and how a trust may be revoked or amended, the effect revocability has on the duties and liabilities of a trustee and the limitations period for contesting revocable trusts after the death of the settlor.<sup>233</sup>

<sup>229</sup> The Code contains an important qualification to the rule discussed above dealing with the effect of lapses, releases and waivers. The rule applies if and only to the extent the value affected by the lapse, release or waiver exceeds the greater of the gift tax annual exclusion (currently $11,000) or the safe harbor for lapses under the federal gift and estate tax laws (currently the greater of $5,000 or 5 percent of the trust). See ss. 736.0505(b)(1) and (2), F.S. For powers drafted not to exceed these limits, the property subject to the power will be subject to the power holder's creditors before the lapse, release, etc., but not thereafter. Initially, the Committee favored a rule that would have excepted lapsing powers altogether (even while they were exercisable) provided the powers lapsed within the restrictions of the gift tax annual exclusion or transfer tax safe harbors. Such an exception, however, would invite abuse as unrestricted and unlimited withdrawal powers could be brought within the scope of the exception simply by providing that they are to lapse at some nominal rate (such as $100 per year). Ultimately, the Committee accepted the treatment described in the text which is also the treatment given to withdrawal powers under the Uniform Code. See UTC s. 505(b).

<sup>230</sup> Sections 736.05053 and 736.05055, F.S. refer to trusts described in s. 733.707(3), F.S. rather than to revocable trusts because s. 733.707(3), F.S. is a broader concept. In addition, the section contains safeguards to prevent adverse tax consequences.

<sup>232</sup> As a section dealing with the requirements for creating a trust, s. 736.0601, F.S. is made mandatory by s. 736.0105(2)(a), F.S.

<sup>233</sup> As for the capacity to execute a revocable trust, all of the Committee agreed that it should be the same as that required to execute a will. But some on the Committee preferred that the standard for both be raised to that required to make an irrevocable inter vivos gift.

Consequences of Revocability

Revocability is important under the Code in two respects. The first, discussed previously, is the impact revocability has on the ability of a settlor's creditors to reach trust assets in satisfaction of their claims and the liability the trust has for contribution for costs and claims at a settlor's death. The second area where revocability plays an important role concerns the duties of the trustee. While a trust is revocable, the trustee's duties are owed exclusively to the trust settlor.<sup>234</sup> As a consequence:

- No other person is entitled to notices, information, accountings, or reports,<sup>235</sup> and
- A trustee may follow a direction of the settlor that is contrary to the trust instrument.<sup>236</sup>

The situations where a trustee's duties are restricted by section 736.0603 are not limited to traditional revocable trusts. Under s. 736.0603(2), F.S., during the period the power may be exercised, a holder of a power of withdrawal is given the rights of a settlor of a revocable trust with respect to the property subject to the power.<sup>237</sup> Hence, if upon attaining a specified age, a beneficiary is given a continuing right to withdraw all trust property, the trustee has no duty to send notices, information, accountings, or reports to any other beneficiary.<sup>238</sup>

Trusts are Revocable by Default

In an important change from prior law, the Code provides that trusts are revocable by default. That is, unless the trust instrument states that the trust is irrevocable, the trust may be amended or revoked by the settlor.<sup>239</sup>

This change is prospective only. It conforms Florida law to that of California, Texas and a growing number of other states, including those that have adopted the Uniform Code. The new rule reflects the view that most well drafted trust instruments explicitly say whether they are revocable. When a trust instrument does not clarify this, the implication is that the instrument was not drafted by an experienced attorney in which case the trust was probably intended to be revocable.<sup>240</sup>

Revocation Methodology

In addition to stating that it is revocable, a well drafted revocable trust instrument will specify the method that is to be used to accomplish a revocation or amendment. Under the Code:

- If the instrument does this, the provision in the instrument is exclusive in the sense that the trust can be revoked or amended only by substantially complying with the method stated in the instrument.<sup>241</sup>

<sup>238</sup> Section 736.0603(2), F.S. is not restricted to withdrawal powers that extend to the entire trust. It applies in the case of powers to withdraw only a portion of a trust, including lapsing powers so commonly included for tax purposes. With respect to these powers, however, the impact of s. 736.0602(2), F.S. should be minor, first because its applicability would be limited to the portion of the trust that is subject to the withdrawal power, and second because the section ceases to apply once the power lapses.

<sup>239</sup> Section 736.0602(1), F.S. Under the Code, if a trust is revocable, it may also be amended. See generally the comments to UTC s. 601 citing Restatement (Third) of Trusts s. 63 cmt. g (Tentative Draft No. 3, approved 2001); Restatement (Second of Trusts s. 331 cmt. g & h (1959) to the same effect. See also s. 736.0602(1), F.S.

<sup>240</sup> See generally the comments to UTC s. 602(a). Moreover, if the assumptions underlying the revocable by default rule are wrong in a particular case, it is easier to make a revocable trust irrevocable than it would be to reform an irrevocable trust into a revocable one.

<sup>241</sup> Section 736.0602(3)(a), F.S. The "substantial compliance" test in this section may be more lenient than existing Florida law which appears to require strict compliance. See Euart v. Yoakley, 456 So.2d 1327 (Fla. 4th DCA 1984).

- If the instrument does not specify a method, any clear and convincing manifestation of the settlor's intent to revoke is sufficient,<sup>242</sup> including a provision in the settlor's later will or codicil expressly revoking the trust or specifically devising property that would otherwise pass according to the trust terms.<sup>243</sup>

Both principles, however, are subject to the possible overriding application of s. 736.0403(2)(b), F.S. as well as to certain other restrictions when someone is acting on behalf of the settlor or when a trust has more than one settlor.

Interrelationship with s. 736.0403(2)(b), F.S.

Recall that under s. 736.0403(2)(b), F.S., the testamentary aspects of a revocable trust executed by a Florida domiciliary are void unless the trust instrument is executed in the manner required for wills. Under the Code, the term trust instrument includes trust amendments.<sup>244</sup> Hence, notwithstanding the principles set out above, amendments to the testamentary provisions of a revocable trust must comply with s. 736.0403(2)(b), F.S.

The question of whether trust revocations must also comply with s. 736.0403(2)(b), F.S. is less clear. The better position is that they do not, as the effect of a revocation is to return the property to the settlor free of trust.<sup>245</sup> It is an unnecessary stretch to say that such a result is a trust "amendment" to which s. 736.0403(2)(b), F.S. would apply. Nevertheless, there is sufficient uncertainty on the issue that compliance with s. 736.0403(2)(b), F.S. for all amendments and revocations would appear prudent.

Revocations on Behalf of a Settlor

In most cases, a settlor's power of revocation or amendment will be exercised personally. The Code does, however, confirm separate Florida statutes under which others have a limited authority to act on a settlor's behalf. Thus, a settlor's powers with respect to revocation, amendment, or distribution of trust property may be exercised by:

- An attorney in fact, but only as authorized by s. 709.08, F.S.,<sup>246</sup> or
- A guardian of the property, but only as authorized in s. 744.441, F.S.<sup>247</sup>

Trusts with more than one Settlor

As defined in the Code, "settlor" includes anyone who transfers property to a new or existing trust.<sup>248</sup> Under this definition, a trust can have more than one settlor. In such cases, s. 736.0602(2), F.S. specifies default rules for how the trust may be revoked or amended. As a general principle, each settlor may unilaterally revoke or amend his or her trust portion. But an exception applies if a trust consists of community property. To that extent, either spouse may revoke the trust, but amendments require the joinder of both. In all cases, if a trust is revoked or amended by fewer than all settlors, the trustee must promptly notify the other settlors of that fact.<sup>249</sup>

<sup>245</sup> Under this view, if no methodology is expressed in the trust instrument, a trust could be revoked by physical act or perhaps even by an oral statement. For a suggestion that both approaches might be available under the identical provision of the Uniform Code, see the comments to UTC s. 602.

<sup>249</sup> See s. 736.0602(2), F.S. The restrictions placed on trusts holding community property are intended to facilitate the ability to transfer community property to a trust without destroying its community property characteristics. See comments to UTC s. 602.

Protection of Trustees

If a trust is revoked, the Code directs the trustee to deliver the trust property as the settlor directs.<sup>250</sup> Of course, nothing insures that directions from the settlor will be forthcoming and, particularly where no method is specified in the trust instrument, it is possible that a trust could be amended or revoked without the trustee's knowledge. In such cases, the Code holds the unknowing trustee harmless for distributions made and other actions taken on the assumption that the trust has not been amended or revoked.<sup>251</sup>

Trust Contests

Provisions relevant to trust contests appear in several places in the Code. Reference has already been made to the fact that a trust or part of a trust is void to the extent its creation is procured by fraud, duress, mistake, or undue influence.<sup>252</sup> Reference has also been made to the general rule prohibiting actions to contest the validity of trusts while they are revocable and the exception to the prohibition that applies to court sanctioned contests by the guardian of the property of an incompetent settlor.<sup>253</sup> Part VI's contribution to this area is s. 736.0604, F.S. This section sets out the period of limitations for contesting a trust that was revocable at the settlor's death. On a person by person basis, a trustee can have the advantage of a short six month limitations period by sending the person a copy of the trust instrument and a notice informing the person of the trust's existence, the trustee's name and address, and the time allowed for commencing a proceeding. As is true across the entire Code, the representation provisions of Part III are available to a trustee who wishes to comply with the requirements of s. 736.0604, F.S.<sup>254</sup>

Office of Trustee (Part VII)

Part VII of the Code contains the various rules relating to the office of trustee. This includes provisions detailing when and how a designated trustee accepts or declines the office; how trustees may resign or be removed; the powers and duties of a trustee who has resigned or been removed; and when vacancies in the office of trustee must be filled and how successor trustees are appointed. Also covered are the duties and powers of cotrustees, compensation of trustees, and trustees' right to reimbursement for expenses incurred in the administration of the trust.

Accepting or Declining the Office

A person designated in a trust instrument to serve as trustee may decline to do so. Prior to acceptance, a trustee who knows of his designation of trustee is deemed to decline the trusteeship if the person does not accept the designation within a reasonable time.<sup>255</sup> A person accepts the trusteeship by substantially complying with the method provided in the terms of the trust or by otherwise indicating acceptance, such as by accepting delivery of the trust property or by exercising powers or performing duties as trustee.<sup>256</sup>

Actions not Constituting Acceptance

In some cases, it is desirable for a person designated as trustee to be able to act on behalf of a trust, or in his or her own interest, without the actions being treated as an acceptance of the trusteeship. To facilitate this, the Code provides that a designated trustee may, without accepting the trusteeship:

<sup>254</sup> This important new provision attempts to strike a balance between the need for a reasonable period to bring an action contesting the validity of a revocable trust and the sometimes competing interest the trust beneficiaries have in an expeditious resolution of their rights and a distribution of their shares.

- Act to preserve trust property (provided the person sends a notice of the person's decision to decline the trusteeship to at least one qualified beneficiary within a reasonable time of taking the action); or
- Inspect or investigate trust property for any purpose including to determine potential liability under environmental or other law.<sup>257</sup>

Trustee's Bond

A trustee need not give bond unless required by the terms of the trust or the court finds that a bond is needed to protect the interests of the beneficiaries.<sup>258</sup> In the former case, the court may dispense with a bond required in an instrument. And in all cases, it may specify the amount of the bond, its liabilities, and whether sureties are necessary. The court may modify or terminate a bond or surety at any time.<sup>259</sup>

Resignations and Removals

Resignations

A trustee may resign with court approval.<sup>260</sup> In addition, the Code provides a mechanism for trustees to resign without court approval. A trustee may resign by giving at least 30 days notice to the settlor (if living), the cotrustees (if any) and all qualified beneficiaries.<sup>261</sup> In either case, a trustee's resignation does not discharge any liability of the resigning trustee or any sureties on the trustee's bond.<sup>262</sup>

The ability of a trustee to resign without court intervention was new. There was no counterpart under prior law.<sup>263</sup> Subsequently, new s. 737.309, F.S. was enacted to permit this. Note that under the Code, however, the trustee's right to resign is a mandatory provision. It may not be denied or curtailed in the trust instrument.<sup>264</sup>

Removals

Court removal of a trustee may be sought by the settlor, a cotrustee, or any beneficiary. The Code also recognizes the ability of a court to remove a trustee on its own initiative.<sup>265</sup> Statutory grounds for removal include a serious breach of trust, lack of cooperation among cotrustees, and unfitness, unwillingness or persistent failure to effectively administer the trust.<sup>266</sup> In lieu of (or in addition to) removing a trustee, the court may grant appropriate relief for any breaches of trust that have occurred.<sup>267</sup>

<sup>259</sup> Section 736.0702(2), F.S. The Committee notes that the power a court has to modify or terminate a bond under this subsection includes the power to modify any required surety.

<sup>263</sup> Prior Florida law followed the general rule that a trustee who has accepted a trusteeship cannot resign except in accordance with the terms of the trust, upon consent of all beneficiaries, or with approval of a court of competent jurisdiction. See e.g., Stearns v. Fraleigh, 39 Fla. 603, 23 So. 18 (1897); Strong v. Willis, 3 Fla. 1244 (1850). See also J. Grimsley, Florida Law of Trusts, s. 4-3; Restatement (Second) of Trusts s. 106(b) (Ali 1957).

The Code's provision giving a settlor the right to seek removal of a trustee is probably an expansion of existing law.<sup>268</sup> So to is the "unfitness" criteria at least if and to the extent it permits removal in anticipation of an actual breach.<sup>269</sup>

The Code also permits removal of a trustee at the request of all of the qualified beneficiaries or upon a showing of a substantial change in circumstances. Removal on these grounds does not require a showing of malfeasance. It requires only that:

- The removal best serve the interests of all beneficiaries;
- It not be inconsistent with a material purpose of the trust; and
- A suitable cotrustee or successor trustee be available.<sup>270</sup>

Delivery of Property by Former Trustee

Subject to the right of the trustee to retain a reasonable reserve for the payment of debts, expenses, and taxes, a removed or resigning trustee must, within a reasonable time, deliver any trust property within the trustee's possession to the cotrustee, successor trustee, or other person entitle to it.<sup>271</sup> Pending that, unless a cotrustee remains in office or the court orders otherwise, a trustee who has resigned or been removed has the duties of a trustee and the powers necessary to protect trust property.<sup>272</sup>

Vacancies and Appointment of Successor Trustees

The court has plenary authority to appoint an additional trustee or special fiduciary whenever the court considers it necessary for the administration of the trust.<sup>273</sup> In addition, the court has residual authority to appoint a successor trustee if an otherwise unfilled vacancy in the trusteeship occurs.<sup>274</sup>

A vacancy in a trusteeship can occur for a number of reasons including the inability to identify a designated trustee, the fact that a designated trustee declines the office, is adjudicated to be incapacitated, resigns, is disqualified, is removed or dies.<sup>275</sup> In each instance, unless the terms of the trust provide otherwise, a vacancy need not be filled unless there is no remaining trustee to serve.<sup>276</sup>

Where a vacancy in a trusteeship is required to be filled, it must be filled first by a person designated pursuant to the terms of the trust, then by a person appointed by unanimous agreement of the qualified

<sup>268</sup> See Sanders v. Citizens Nat. Bank of Leesburg, 585 So. 2d 1064 (Fla. 5th DCA 1991) holding that the settlor of an irrevocable trust who has retained no beneficial interest in the trust corpus cannot maintain an action to enforce the trust.

<sup>269</sup> Under existing law, the general rule is that removal of a trustee must be predicated on a "clear showing of abuse or wrongdoing in the actual administration of the trust" or upon a showing of disharmony and hostility between trustees. Removal may not be predicated solely on hostility between beneficiaries and a trustee or upon a potential for mismanagement or conflict of interest. See Parr v. Cushing, 507 So.2d 1227, 1228 (Fla. 5th DCA 1987); Robinson v. Tootalian, 691 So. 2d 52 (Fla. 4th DCA 1997); State of Delaware ex rel. Gebelein v. Belin, 456 So. 2d 1237 (Fla. 1st DCA 1984), rev. den. 464 So.2d 556; Rosen v. Rosen, 167 So. 2d 70 (Fla. 3d DCA 1964).

<sup>270</sup> Section 736.0706(2)(d), F.S. The necessity of getting the joinder of all qualified beneficiaries may be facilitated by the representation provisions of Part III of the Code. Moreover, it may be possible to use ss. 736.04113 or 736.04115, F.S. to remove a trustee without meeting the requirements of section 736.0706(2)(d), F.S.

<sup>271</sup> Section 736.0707(2), F.S. The provisions of this subsection are explicitly stated to be in addition to and not in derogation of the rights of a removed or resigning trustee under common law. The intent of this statement is to insure that the subsection is not read as overruling the holding in Merrill Lynch Trust Co. v. Alzheimer's Lifeliners Assoc. Inc. Et. al., 832 So. 2d 948 (Fla. 2d DCA 2002).

beneficiaries (or in the case of charitable trusts, the charitable organizations expressly designated to receive distributions under the terms of the trust), and lastly, if necessary, by a person appointed by the court.<sup>277</sup>

Cotrustees

Duty to Participate

With some exceptions noted below, the Code imposes upon cotrustees a duty to participate in the administration of the trust.<sup>278</sup> In doing so, it is normally to be expected that the cotrustees would act by unanimous consent. However, if the cotrustees are not able to reach a unanimous decision, they may act by majority agreement.<sup>279</sup>

Failure to Participate

A cotrustee's participation is excused if the cotrustee is unavailable because of absence, illness, disqualification or other temporary incapacity,<sup>280</sup> in which cases the remaining trustee or a majority of the remaining trustees may act for the trust if prompt action is necessary to achieve the purposes of the trust or to avoid injury to the trust property.<sup>281</sup> In addition, a cotrustee's participation in the administration of the trust is not required if the trustee has properly delegated performance of a function to another trustee.<sup>282</sup>

Delegation among Cotrustees

Delegation is permitted under the Code only of those functions the settlor did not reasonably expect the trustees to perform jointly.<sup>283</sup> In the absence of an express delegation authority in the trust instrument, this would normally be limited to ministerial duties incidental to the execution of the trust, although even in the absence of a provision in the governing instrument, the investment decisions may be delegated to a qualified trustee under other provisions of the Florida statutes.<sup>284</sup>

Liability of Nonjoining or Dissenting Trustees

In general, a trustee who does not join in an action by another trustee is not liable for the action.<sup>285</sup> However, this rule is subject to the overriding duty of each trustee to exercise reasonable care to prevent a cotrustee from committing a breach of trust and to compel a cotrustee to redress a breach that does occur.<sup>286</sup>

Because the Code permits a majority of trustees to act for the trust, it is possible that one or more trustees could be outvoted as to some particular course of action. A dissenting trustee who joins in an action at the <sup>277</sup> Section 736.0704(3) and (4), F.S. The ability of qualified beneficiaries (or named charities) to designate a successor trustee is an expansion of existing Florida law. See Van Roy v. Hunter, 96 Fla. 194, 117 So. 887 (1928) (a vacancy in a trusteeship would be filled by a court if the instrument did not provide for a successor or a method of selecting a successor).

The Committee removed "serious" because it did not feel the word clarified the meaning of the section. Mere technical breaches would not appear to be a problem under the subsection as they would not normally result in damages to the trust or its beneficiaries. The "seriousness" of other breaches will be reflected in the standard of reasonable care required by the subsection.

direction of a majority of trustees is not liable for actions taken by the majority provided notice of the dissent is given to any cotrustee at or before the time of the action.<sup>287</sup>

Compensation and Reimbursement of Trustees

A trustee is entitled to reasonable compensation,<sup>288</sup> including reasonable additional compensation for other services the trustee renders in connection with the administration of the trust.<sup>289</sup> If the trustee's compensation is specified in the terms of the trust, the trustee is entitled to be compensated as specified, subject to the court's authority to allow more or less compensation if the trustee's duties are substantially different from those originally contemplated or the specified compensation is unreasonably low or high.<sup>290</sup>

A trustee is also entitled to be reimbursed out of the trust property, with appropriate interest, for reasonable expenses properly incurred in the administration of the trust. A trustee has a lien against trust property to secure reimbursement for advances (plus interest) made by the trustee for the protection of the trust.<sup>291</sup>

Duties and Powers of Trustee (Part VIII)

As its title suggests, Part VIII of the Code covers the duties and powers of a trustee. Coverage in this section of the analysis begins with duties, moves on to powers, and ends with a few miscellaneous matters.

Duties of a Trustee

In a series of separate sections, the Code codifies all of the fundamental common law duties of a trustee as well as several other more specifically targeted duties relating to the collection, management, and distribution of trust property. Except as otherwise noted, all of the Code's provisions dealing with the duties of a trustee are consistent with existing Florida decisional and statutory law. In addition, except as otherwise noted, these provisions are default rules which apply only in the absence of a contrary provision in the trust instrument.

Compendium of Statutory Duties

A comprehensive list of the statutory duties of a trustee is presented here. Included on the list are the duty of loyalty, the duty to redress breaches, and the duty to inform and account each of which is sufficiently nuanced to merit additional discussion. That discussion appears after the list.

Duty to Administer in Good Faith

A trustee has a duty to administer the trust in good faith and in accordance with its terms and the interests of the beneficiaries.<sup>292</sup> This is a mandatory duty which may not be relaxed or curtailed in the trust instrument.<sup>293</sup>

<sup>287</sup> Section 736.0703(8), F.S. Unlike the similar provision in existing law, s. 736.0703(8) does not require the notice of the dissent to be in writing. Compare s. 737.404, F.S.

<sup>288</sup> Section 736.0708(1), F.S. On the factors to be taken into account in determining a reasonable compensation, see West Coast Hospital Association v. Florida Nat'l Bank of Jacksonville, 100 So. 2d 807 (1958) citing with favor Bogert, Trusts and Trustees, s 976.

<sup>289</sup> Section 736.0708(3), F.S. There is not existing statute covering the compensation of multiple trustees and the Code does not address this issue either. Compare s. 733.716(5), F.S. dealing with the compensation of multiple personal representatives.

<sup>291</sup> Section 736.0709(1) and (2), F.S. This section accords with existing law on the subject. See s. 737.402(2)(s), F.S. See also, First Union Nat'l Bank v. Jones, 768 So. 2d 1213 (Fla. 4th DCA 2000).

<sup>292</sup> Section 736.0801, F.S. This section is identical to UTC s. 801. The requirement of good faith imposed by the section is consistent with existing Florida case law. See Mesler v. Holly, 318 So. 2d 530 (Fla. 2nd DCA 1975); Hoppe v. Hoppe, 370 So. 2d 374 (Fla. 4th DCA 1978).

Duty of Loyalty

As between the trustee and the beneficiaries, a trustee has a duty to administer the trust solely in the interests of the beneficiaries. This duty is explored in greater detail in the next section of the analysis.

Duty of Impartiality

When a trust has more than one beneficiary, a trustee must administer the trust impartially giving due regard to the respective interests of the beneficiaries.<sup>294</sup>

Duty to Administer Prudently

A trustee must administer the trust as a prudent person would, by considering the purposes, terms, distribution requirements, and other circumstances of the trust and by exercising reasonable care, skill, and caution.<sup>295</sup>

Duty to Incur only Reasonable Expenses

A trustee must incur only expenses that are reasonable in relation to the trust property, the purposes of the trust, and the skills of the trustee.<sup>296</sup>

Duty to use Special Skills

A trustee with special skills or expertise has a duty to use those special skills.<sup>297</sup>

Duty to Control and Protect Trust Property

A trustee must take reasonable steps to take control of and protect trust property. This includes the taking of reasonable steps to compel a former trustee or other person to deliver trust property to the trustee.<sup>298</sup>

Duty to Keep Accurate Records

A trustee must keep clear, distinct, and accurate records.<sup>299</sup>

Duty not to Commingle and to Earmark

A trustee must keep trust property separate from the trustee's own property and must, to the extent feasible, cause the interest of the trust to appear in any records maintained by third parties.<sup>300</sup> An exception permits a trustee to invest two or more separate trusts as a common fund if the trustee maintains records clearly indicating the respective interests.<sup>301</sup>

Duty to Ascertain Marketable Title

<sup>297</sup> This duty also extends to a trustee who is named trustee on the basis of the trustee's representation that the trustee possesses special skills or expertise. S. 736.0806, F.S. This duty also appears in the Florida Prudent Investor Act. See s. 518.11(1)(a), F.S.

A trustee must obtain title insurance or proof of marketable title when it is required for a specific sale or conveyance, but need not do so prior to that time.<sup>302</sup>

Duty to Enforce and Defend Claims

A trustee must take reasonable steps to enforce claims of and to defend claims against the trust.<sup>303</sup>

Duty to Redress Breaches of Former Trustees

In general, a trustee must take reasonable steps to redress a breach of trust known to the trustee to have been committed by a former trustee.<sup>304</sup> However, this duty is subject to important exceptions which are elaborated more fully below.

Duty to Inform and Account

A trustee must keep qualified beneficiaries reasonably informed of the trust and its administration.<sup>305</sup> This mandatory duty is also discussed more fully below.

Duty to Administer Pending Outcome of Contest or other Proceeding

In general, while a proceeding to determine the validity or the beneficiaries of all or a part of a trust is pending, a trustee has a duty to administer the trust as if no proceeding had been commenced. An exception applies to actions and distributions in contravention of the rights of persons who may be affected by the outcome of the proceeding. A trustee may not take such actions or make such distributions except upon court direction after notice and good cause shown.<sup>306</sup>

Duty to Expeditiously Distribute Trust Property on Termination

Upon termination of a trust, subject to the right to retain a reasonable reserve for the payment of debts, expenses, and taxes, a trustee has a duty to expeditiously distribute trust property to the persons entitled.<sup>307</sup>

More on the Duty of Loyalty

Under the Code, as between the trustee and the beneficiaries, a trustee has a duty to administer the trust solely in the interests of the beneficiaries.<sup>308</sup> Among other things, this means that in the absence of a contrary provision in the trust instrument, a court order, or a specific statutory exception:

- A trustee may not engage in any sale, encumbrance or transaction for its own personal account or that involves a conflict between the trustee's personal and fiduciary interests;<sup>309</sup>
- An investment by a trustee in an investment owned or controlled by the trustee or affiliate is not presumed to be a conflict;<sup>310</sup>

The final sentence of the section stating that "the provisions of the section are in addition to and are not in derogation of the rights of a trustee under the common law with respect to final distribution of a trust" are intended to insure that this section does not override the holdings of cases such as First Union Nat'l Bank v. Jones, 768 So. 2d 1213 (Fla. 4th DCA 2000) and Merrill Lynch Trust Co. v. Alzheimer's Lifeliners Ass'n, Inc., 832 So. 2d 948 (Fla. 2d DCA 2002).

- A trustee may not usurp an opportunity properly belonging to the trust,<sup>311</sup> and
- In voting shares of stock or in exercising powers of control over interests in other enterprises, the trustee must act in the best interest of the beneficiaries.<sup>312</sup> Where the trust is the sole owner of a corporation or other enterprise, this includes the duty to elect or appoint directors and managers who will manage the entity in the best interest of the beneficiaries.<sup>313</sup>

A trustee who is faced with a transaction that might involve a breach of the duty of loyalty may petition the court for appointment of a special fiduciary to act with respect to the transaction.<sup>314</sup>

The Voidable Per Se Rule

With some exceptions discussed later, a sale, encumbrance, or other transaction involving the investment or management of trust property entered into by the trustee for the trustee's own personal account or which is otherwise affected by a conflict between the trustee's personal and fiduciary interests is voidable by an affected beneficiary.<sup>315</sup>

The fact that an offending transaction is voidable rather than void is a change in Florida law.<sup>316</sup> The change is significant in the following respects:

- The right of an affected beneficiary to void a transaction is subject to the rights of persons dealing with or assisting the trustee in good faith.<sup>317</sup>
- A beneficiary's action can be precluded by an effective consent, ratification, or release<sup>318</sup> or by a failure to commence an action within the applicable limitations period.<sup>319</sup>

The Presumptively Voidable Rule

To be contrasted with the transactions described above are those entered into between the trustee and persons who have close business<sup>320</sup> or personal ties<sup>321</sup> to the trustee. Such transactions are only presumed to be

<sup>313</sup> Id. Accord UTC s. 802(g). The comments to the UTC section contain the following statement with respect to this duty: "Thus, for example, a trustee whose duty of impartiality would require the trust to make current distributions for the support of current beneficiaries may not evade that duty by holding assets in corporate form and pleading the discretion of corporate directors to determine dividend policy. Rather, the trust must vote for corporate directors who will follow a dividend policy consistent with the trustee's trust-law duty of impartiality."

<sup>315</sup> Section 736.0802(2), F.S. This is a per se rule. Hence, good faith and reasonableness are not defenses. Neither is the presence of consideration, a lack of harm, or the presence of a profit or benefit to the trust, although each of these factors may impact on a beneficiary's decision whether to act on the breach.

<sup>316</sup> Compare Barnhart v. Hovde, 490 So. 2d 1271 (Fla. 3d DCA 1986) (Where trustee failed to get court approval in advance of a transaction involving a conflict of interest, the transaction was void).

<sup>318</sup> Section 736.0802(2)(d). On the effectiveness of consents, ratifications and releases, see s. 736.1012, F.S. See also the representation provisions of Part III of the Code.

<sup>320</sup> This includes an officer, director, employee, agent, or attorney of the trustee or a corporation or other person or enterprise in which the trustee (or a person owning a significant interest in the trust) has an interest that might affect the trustee's best judgment. affected by a conflict between the personal and fiduciary interests of the trustee.<sup>322</sup> Accordingly, the transactions are not voidable per se; they are voidable only if the presumption is not rebutted.<sup>323</sup>

Affiliated Services

A trustee is permitted to engage in affiliated services; a bank or trust company trustee is not precluded from investing in investment instruments offered by that bank or trust company. Such a transaction is not presumed to be affected by a conflict between personal and fiduciary interests so long as the investment complies with chapters 518<sup>324</sup> and 660<sup>325</sup>, and the trustee complies with the disclosure requirements.<sup>326</sup> The requirements of disclosure are that all qualified beneficiaries are: noticed regarding the investment; provided the identity of the investments; and the nature of the relationship of the trustee to the affiliate.<sup>327</sup>

Exceptions

In the interests of a fair, effective and efficient trust administration, the Code includes several exceptions to the basic duty of loyalty. Notwithstanding the potential presence of a conflict between the personal and fiduciary interests of a trustee, the trustee's duty of loyalty does not preclude any of the following:

- Payment of reasonable compensation to the trustee or an agreement between a trustee and beneficiary relating to the appointment or compensation of the trustee,<sup>328</sup>
- Transactions between the trust and another trust, a decedent's estate, or a guardian of the property of which the trustee is a fiduciary or in which a beneficiary has an interest,<sup>329</sup>
- A deposit of trust money in a regulated financial-service institution operated by the trustee,<sup>330</sup>
- An advance by the trustee of money for the protection of the trust,<sup>331</sup> or
- The employment of persons, including attorneys, accountants, investment advisers, or agents, even if they are the trustee or are associated with the trustee, to advise or assist the trustee in the performance of its administrative duties<sup>332</sup> or the employment of agents to perform any act of administration, whether or not discretionary.<sup>333</sup>

<sup>323</sup> According to the comments to UTC section 802 from which s. 736.0802, F.S. is partially derived, factors relevant to this determination include the fairness of any consideration involved and whether the other terms of the transaction are similar to those that would be found in a transaction involving an independent party.

<sup>324</sup> See in particular s. 518.11, F.S., Florida's Prudent Investor rule, which provides that a fiduciary has the responsibility to invest assets as a prudent investor would considering the purposes of the trust. In seeking to satisfy this standard, the trustee must exercise reasonable care and caution.

However, the requirements of s. 736.0802(5), F.S. do apply to irrevocable trusts created on or after July 1, 2007, the assets of which are valued in excess of five million dollars on the date the trust was created, s. 736.0802(5)(e)(2), F.S.

As mentioned previously, as a general rule a trustee must take reasonable steps to redress a breach of trust known to the trustee to have been committed by a former trustee.<sup>334</sup> This duty is qualified, however, by s. 736.08125, F.S. which details several instances where a successor trustee has no personal liability for actions<sup>335</sup> of a prior trustee.<sup>336</sup>

Under Code s. 736.08125, F.S., there is no personal liability, nor is there any duty to institute proceedings against a prior trustee.<sup>337</sup>

- When the successor trustee succeeds a settlor serving as trustee of a revocable trust;
- As to any beneficiary who has waived a required accounting, but only as to the periods included in the waiver;
- As to any beneficiary who has effectively released the successor trustee of its duty to institute a proceeding or file a claim; or
- As to any person who is not a qualified beneficiary.<sup>338</sup>

In addition, there is no personal liability with respect to a qualified beneficiary:

- For any action or claim that the qualified beneficiary is barred from bring against the prior trustee;<sup>339</sup>
- If the qualified beneficiary fails to act within 6 months after the date the successor trustee accepts the trusteeship and delivers a written notice to the beneficiary;<sup>340</sup> or
- If a super majority of the eligible beneficiaries have released the successor trustee.<sup>341</sup>

Duty to Inform and Account

Under s. 736.0813, F.S., a trustee must keep the qualified beneficiaries of an irrevocable<sup>342</sup> trust reasonably informed of the trust and its administration.<sup>343</sup> The extent of this duty, which is limited to the qualified beneficiaries, is described in detail in the five paragraphs of s. 736.0813(1), F.S., each of which is included

<sup>336</sup> Section 736.08125, F.S. is substantively similar to s. 737.306(3) - (6), F.S. As under existing law, the section speaks only to the personal liability of successor trustees. Nothing in the section affects the liability of a prior trustee or the right of a successor trustee or any beneficiary to proceed against the prior trustee. Section 736.08125(7), F.S.

<sup>340</sup> In addition informing the qualified beneficiary of the trustee's acceptance of the trusteeship in accordance with section 736.0813(1)(a), F.S. (see infra p. 39), the written notice must advise the beneficiary that the right to proceed against the successor trust will be barred unless the beneficiary delivers a written request to the trustee within 6 months after the date of the trustee's acceptance. Section 736.08125(5)(b), F.S.

<sup>341</sup> Section 736.08125(5)(a), F.S. For purpose of this final exception, eligible beneficiaries is defined to be a subset of the qualified beneficiaries. The intermediate qualified beneficiaries described in s. 736.0103(14)(b), F.S. are excluded from the subset unless, at the time the determination is being made, there are no qualified beneficiaries described in section 736.0103(14)(c), F.S. See s. 736.08125(6)(a), F.S. A super majority of eligible beneficiaries means at least two-thirds in interest of the eligible beneficiaries if their interests are reasonably ascertainable; otherwise, it means at least two-thirds in number of the eligible beneficiaries. Section 736.08125(6)(b), F.S.

on the list of mandatory provisions.<sup>344</sup> According to these paragraphs, a trustee's duty to inform and account includes, but is not limited to, a duty with respect to the qualified beneficiaries to:

- Notify them of the trustee's acceptance of the trust and the full name and address of the trustee within 60 days after the trustee's acceptance;<sup>345</sup>
- Notify them of the existence of the trust, the identity of the settlor, the right to request a copy of the trust instrument, and the right to accountings within 60 days of when the trustee acquires knowledge of the creation of an irrevocable trust or that a formerly revocable trust has become irrevocable;<sup>346</sup>
- Upon reasonable request, furnish them with a complete copy of the trust instrument;<sup>347</sup>
- Once a trust becomes irrevocable, furnish a trust accounting to them annually as well as on termination of the trust or on a change of trustee,<sup>348</sup> and
- Upon reasonable request, provide them with relevant information about the trust's assets and liabilities and the particulars of the trust administration.<sup>349</sup>

Trustee Powers

The powers of a trustee are detailed in several sections of the Code. These provisions apply only in the absence of a contrary limitation or restriction in the trust instrument.

General Powers

In addition to powers granted in the trust instrument and those provided in other sections of the Code, s. 736.0815, F.S. states generally that a trustee's powers include any powers that are appropriate to achieve the proper investment, management and distribution of the trust property as well as all powers that an unmarried competent owner has over individually owned property. These powers may be exercised without authorization of the court.

Specific Powers

In a more informative provision, s. 736.0816, F.S. contains a detailed listing of powers that a trustee automatically has in the absence, of course, of a contrary provision in the trust instrument. While space does not permit an exhaustive listing of these powers, it is worth noting that this section serves the same function as s. 737.402, F.S. Although the wording and ordering of the powers included in the two provisions differs, it is the Committee's view that all powers included in s. 737.402, F.S. are also covered by section 736.0816. In addition, under s. 736.0816, F.S., a trustee has authority to:

<sup>349</sup> A little more about these duties. The initial two duties above do not apply to irrevocable trusts created (or revocable ones that became irrevocable) before the effective date of the Code. In addition, the first provision does not apply to a trustee who accepts a trust (whether revocable or irrevocable) before that date. See the language following s. 736.0813(1)(e), F.S. The contents of the required accounting are detailed in s. 736.08135, F.S. This section is effective for all trust accountings rendered for any accounting period beginning on or after January 1, 2003. Section 736.08135(3), F.S. This section is identical with s. 737.3035, F.S. with the addition of a requirement that a trustee's final accounting include a plan of distribution for any undistributed assets shown on the accounting. Section 736.08135(2)(f), F.S. And a qualified beneficiary may waive (or withdraw a prior waiver of) the right to one or more accountings, including a final accounting. Section 736.0813(2), F.S., and a withdrawal of a prior waiver is effective only for accounting for future periods.

- Exercise federal, state and local tax elections;<sup>350</sup>
- Select payment options, exercise rights, and take other appropriate actions with respect to retirement plans, annuities and insurance contracts payable to the trust;<sup>351</sup>
- Make loans, including to a beneficiary, with terms and conditions that are fair and reasonable under the circumstances;<sup>352</sup> and
- On termination of a trust, exercise powers appropriate to the winding up of the trust and the distribution of the trust property, subject to a right to retain a reasonable reserve for the payment of debts, expenses, and taxes.<sup>353</sup>

Environmental Powers

Code s. 736.08163, F.S. incorporates almost verbatim<sup>354</sup> the provisions of current s. 737.4025, F.S. dealing with a trustee's rights and powers (and the concomitant protection from personal liability) when a trust includes or might include environmentally contaminated property.

Power to Delegate to Agents

Under s. 736.0807, F.S., a trustee may delegate duties and powers that a prudent trustee of comparable skill could properly delegate under the circumstances. The trustee must exercise reasonable care, skill and caution in selecting the agent, in defining the scope and terms of the delegation, and in supervising the agent.<sup>355</sup> In accepting a delegation, an agent submits to the jurisdiction of Florida courts<sup>356</sup> and thereafter owes a duty to exercise reasonable care to comply with the terms of the delegation.<sup>357</sup> A trustee who properly delegates duties and powers under the structures of s. 736.0807, F.S. is not liable for the acts of the agent.<sup>358</sup>

Powers to Direct

For various reasons, it is sometimes desirable that someone have the power to direct the trustee's actions and decisions with respect to the trust. Code s. 736.0808, F.S. deals with this topic. As there is no statutory equivalent under existing law, this section provides useful clarification.

By Settlor of Revocable Trust

<sup>352</sup> Section 736.0816(19), F.S. The trustee has a lien on future distributions for repayment of any loans.

<sup>354</sup> Apart from a simplification of the section title, the only difference between the two sections is that the definition of "environmental law" was removed from section 736.08163 in favor of the more generally applicable definition found in s. 736.0103(5), F.S.

<sup>358</sup> Current law permits delegations of: investment functions (including special provisions relating to life insurance trusts) under s. 518.112, F.S., and somewhat more indirectly, functions relating to trust administration under the general authority to employ agents under s. 737.402(2)(y), F.S. The former remain available under the Code. The provisions of s. 737.402(2)(y), F.S. are replaced with the Code's more comprehensive s. 736.0807, F.S. under which any duty or power may be delegated provided the delegation would be proper for a trustee of comparable skill. Apart from its increased scope, Code s. 736.0807, F.S. makes one other important change. Section 737.402(2)(y), F.S. states that trustees may act without independent investigation of an agent's recommendations. A similar statement is found in Code s. 736.0816(20), F.S. The apparent conflict between this provision and the duties imposed in s. 736.0807(1)(c), F.S. is a matter of uncertainty. Section 736.0807, however, contemplates a continuing duty to review and monitor an agent's actions and performance. See s. 736.0807(1)(c), F.S.

While a trust is revocable, the settlor has the power to direct the trustee whether or not it is explicitly stated in the terms of the trust. Thus, with two important caveats, the trustee of a revocable trust may follow a direction of the settlor even when the direction is contrary to the terms of the trust.<sup>359</sup> The two caveats relate to the formalities required for a settlor's direction to be effective. To the extent the direction relates to an act that is either expressly prohibited or is not authorized in the terms of the trust, as opposed to one relating to an exercise of discretion the trustee already possesses, the direction is, in effect, a trust amendment.<sup>360</sup> As such, the direction must be manifested in a manner that substantially complies with any provisions in the trust instrument pertaining to trust amendments.<sup>361</sup> Moreover, if the direction relates to a "testamentary aspect" of the trust, the direction must comply with the requirements of s. 736.0403(2)(b), F.S.<sup>362</sup> That is, it must be made in a written instrument executed with testamentary formalities.<sup>363</sup>

Other Directions

With respect to a power to direct given to others (or to settlors of irrevocable trusts), the power must be expressly granted in the terms of the trust. It may be given to a beneficiary or to some other person in which case the other person is presumptively a fiduciary. As such, the person:

- Is required to act in good faith with regard to the purposes of the trust and the interests of the beneficiaries; and
- Is liable for any loss resulting from a breach of that duty.<sup>364</sup>

A power given to someone other than the settlor of a revocable trust may include the power to direct modification or termination of the trust,<sup>365</sup> or the power to direct the actions of the trustee in which latter case the trustee may act in accordance with a direction unless the direction is either manifestly contrary to the terms of the trust or the trustee knows that the direction would constitute a serious breach of the power holder's fiduciary duty described above.<sup>366</sup>

Tax Savings

The Code contains two provisions targeted generally at the protection of trusts from inadvertent and adverse tax consequences. Both have an antecedent in Chapter 737, F.S.

Duty to Distribute Income of Marital Trust

Absent a contrary provision in the trust instrument, Code s. 736.08147, F.S. directs that income from a trust which gives the settlor's spouse a right to income must be distributed no less frequently than annually. This provision is intended to insure the qualification of marital trusts for the gift and estate tax marital deductions. It is identical in effect to current s. 737.3053, F.S., although a slight change in wording was made to restrict application of the section to the lifetime of the surviving spouse.

Limitations on a Trustee's Power to Distribute to Itself

<sup>360</sup> On the equivalency of a settlor's direction to a trust amendment, see the comments to UTC s. 808.

<sup>363</sup> As a matter of best practice, because of the concerns discussed in the preceding paragraph, whenever possible, trustees of revocable trusts should insist that settlor's directions be made in a written instrument executed with testamentary formalities and that they substantially comply in other respects with the terms of the trust.

<sup>365</sup> A power to direct trust modification or termination may also be given to a trustee. See s. 736.0808(3), F.S.

Code ss. 736.0814(2)-(5), F.S. are intended to protect trustees who are also beneficiaries of the trust from having adverse estate tax consequences because of their distribution and administration powers with respect to the trust. The section is based on and serves an identical purpose to current s. 737.402(4), F.S. Under s. 736.0814(2), F.S., in the absence of an express provision in the terms of a trust indicating that one or more of the following rules are not to apply, a trustee may not directly or indirectly:<sup>367</sup>

- Make distributions of income or principal to or for its own benefit other than distributions except to provide for that trustee's health, education, maintenance, or support as described in ss. 2041 and 2514 of the Internal Revenue Code;<sup>368</sup>
- Make distributions of income or principal to satisfy the trustee's support obligations;<sup>369</sup> or
- Make discretionary allocations of receipts or expenses to directly enlarge or shift beneficial interests in the trust.<sup>370</sup>

Alternative Exercise

A power whose exercise is limited or prohibited under the above rules may be exercised by any remaining trustees, or in the absence of a remaining trustee, by a person appointed by the Court on application of any qualified beneficiary.<sup>371</sup>

Exceptions

Notwithstanding the prohibitions listed above, exceptions are provided for:

- Trustees (whether the settlor or other person) of revocable or amendable trusts;<sup>372</sup>
- A power held by the trust settlor;<sup>373</sup> and
- Trusts where application of the restrictions could jeopardize an intended tax benefit, such as a marital deduction trust where the settlor's spouse serves as trustee;<sup>374</sup> or a trust qualifying for the annual exclusion under s. 2503(c) of the Internal Revenue Code.<sup>375</sup>

Trust Investments (Part IX)

As was mentioned previously, Part IX of the Code consists of a single section that incorporates the provisions of Chapter 518, F.S.; Florida's Prudent Investor rule. This rule provides that a fiduciary has the responsibility to invest assets as a prudent investor would considering the purposes, terms, distribution requirements, and other circumstances of the trust.<sup>376</sup> In seeking to satisfy this standard, the trustee must exercise reasonable care and caution.<sup>377</sup> <sup>367</sup> E.g., through an exercise of a power to remove or to replace a trustee in a manner that causes some other person to do an act the trustee is prohibited under the section from doing directly. See s. 736.0814(2)(d), F.S. See also the statement in s. 736.0814(5), F.S. that a person who has the right to remove or to replace a trustee does not, by virtue of that authority, possess the powers of the trustee who may be removed or replaced. The effectiveness of this statement for tax purposes is unclear.

Liability of Trustees and Rights of Persons Dealing with Trustee (Part X)

Part X is one of the longer parts of the Code. In the order discussed below, it deals with the remedies and damages for breach of trust; liability of trustees to nonbeneficiaries, the entitlement, assessment and recovery of costs and fees; limitations on actions against a trustee; and the protection of persons dealing with the trustee including those relying on a certification of trust furnished by the trustee.

Liability of Trustees for Breach of Trust

A trustee is not an insurer. Thus, absent a breach of trust, a trustee is not liable for a loss or depreciation in trust value or for not making a profit.<sup>378</sup> On the other hand, except as discussed below, a trustee is liable for a breach of trust, a concept that includes among others, a violation (intentional or not) of any of the duties discussed previously that the trustee owes to a beneficiary.<sup>379</sup>

Protection of Trustees from Liability When Trustee Acts in Reasonable Reliance on Trust Instrument

Although a breach of trust has occurred, new Code s. 736.1006, F.S. insulates a trustee from liability if the breach resulted from the trustee's reasonable reliance on the terms of the trust as expressed in the trust instrument.<sup>380</sup>

For Losses Resulting from Certain Unknown External Events

In some cases, the terms of a trust or the duties and powers of a trustee may depend on the status of certain external events such as the marriage, divorce, educational status or death of beneficiaries or other persons. At common law, a trustee is strictly liable for misdelivery regardless of the trustee's level of care. Code s. 736.1007, F.S., which is based on Uniform Code s. 1007, changes this rule. It protects; a trustee who has exercised reasonable care to ascertain the happening of the event from liability for losses resulting from the trustee's lack of knowledge of the event. The comments to the Uniform Code section clarify that the events listed in the section are not exclusive.

Effect of Beneficiary's Consent, Release, or Ratification

Code s. 736.1012, F.S. deals with the impact of a beneficiary's consent, release or ratification of a trustee's actions. As a general principle, a trustee is not liable to a beneficiary who has consented to the conduct that constitutes a breach or who has released the trustee from liability or ratified the offending transaction. This principle does not apply, however, to consents, releases or ratifications that were:

- Induced by the trustee's improper conduct; or
- Made by a beneficiary who did not know of its rights and the material facts relating to the breach.

Effect of Term Exculpating Trustee from Liability

<sup>380</sup> This provision is derived from Uniform Code s. 1006. It is intended to protect trustees from liability arising from subsequent inconsistent reformations of a trust instrument to remedy a mistake of fact or law or from the fact that the terms of a trust may not always be manifested comprehensively in the trust instrument.

Code s. 736.1008, F.S. restricts the enforceability of a term in a trust that attempts to relieve a trustee of liability for a breach of trust. The restrictions are mandatory; they may not be relaxed in the trust instrument.<sup>381</sup>

Under the section, an exculpatory term may not relieve a trustee of liability for breaches committed in bad faith or with reckless indifference to the purposes of the trust or the interests of the beneficiaries.<sup>382</sup> In addition, an exculpatory term is unenforceable if it was inserted as a result of an abuse of a fiduciary or confidential relationship between the trustee and settlor.<sup>383</sup> This latter restriction applies to terms that were drafted or caused to be drafted by the trustee unless the trustee proves that the term is fair and its existence and contents were adequately communicated directly to the settlor.<sup>384 385</sup>

Remedies and Damages for Breach of Trust

Section 736.1001(2), F.S. contains a nonexclusive list of actions a court may take with respect to a breach of trust.<sup>386</sup> According to the section, a court may:

- Suspend or remove the trustee;
- Enjoin, void, or compel actions by the trustee including the performance of the trustee's duties and the issuance of accountings;
- Reduce or deny the trustee's compensation;
- Compel the trustee to pay money or to restore trust property; and
- Impose a lien or a constructive trust on trust property and recover wrongfully disposed of trust property or its proceeds.

Damages

In those cases where the court finds that it is appropriate for a trustee to respond in damages for a breach of trust, s. 736.1002, F.S. states that the trustee's liability is the greater of any profit the trustee made from the breach and the amount required to restore the trust to what it would have been but for the breach, including lost income, capital gain, or appreciation that would have resulted from a property administration.<sup>387</sup>

<sup>385</sup> Section 736.1011, F.S. is derived from Uniform Code s. 1008. The Committee added the requirement that a term drafted by or at the direction of the trustee be directly communicated to the settlor to indicate the Committee's disapproval of a statement in the comments to UTC s. 1008 that disclosure to the settlor's attorney would suffice for this purpose.

<sup>386</sup> In the absence of extenuating circumstances such as bad faith, gross negligence or recurring breaches, the Committee believed that a court's focus in fashioning a remedy for a breach of trust normally should be the redress of the damage caused by the breach and not the punishment of the trustee. Accordingly, s. 736.1001(3), F.S. suggests that the appropriate remedy for a breach involving a failure to distribute trust property is an order requiring the trustee to make distributions in an amount necessary to restore the trust beneficiaries to their appropriate position. Where the breach involves an improper distribution, the trust may be made whole by compelling the recipient of the distribution to return the distribution. In this regard, Code s. 736.1018, F.S. provides that persons receiving improper distributions must return the assets or funds together with any income or interest, or, if the person does not have the property, its value on the date of disposition together with any income or gain received by the person. Section 736.1018, F.S. is identical to s. 737.209, F.S. When this remedy is unavailable or insufficient, s. 736.1001(3), F.S. suggests that the appropriate remedy for a breach that has resulted in an improper distribution is an order directing the trustee to withhold future distributions. Note however, that the remedies suggested in s. 736.1001(3), F.S. are aspirational. Courts are not bound by them. In appropriate situations, courts may adopt a remedy from the more comprehensive list found in s. 736.1001(2), F.S. or may order any other relief they find appropriate.

Contribution

Depending on the circumstances, more than one person can be liable for a single breach of trust. This can occur, for example, when there are cotrustees or when a sole trustee acts improperly with the knowing participation of an agent. In both cases, the Code provides new and important clarification on the rights of one liable person to contribution from others.<sup>388</sup> The rules discussed below apply both to cases filed after the effective date of the Code and to causes of action for breach of trust pending on that date.<sup>389</sup>

Section 736.1002(2), F.S. sets out the basic principle that, if more than one person is liable to the beneficiaries for a breach of trust, each liable person is entitled to pro rata contribution from the others. There are exceptions. No contribution is available for breaches committed in bad faith or to the extent a liable person benefits from the breach.<sup>390</sup>

Section 736.1002(3), F.S. specifies how the pro rata contribution is to be determined. In addition to stating that general principles of equity apply,<sup>391</sup> s. 736.1002(3), F.S. clarifies that pro rata in this context means in proportion to the relative degrees of fault.<sup>392</sup> Importantly, this determination anticipates more than a mere counting of the number of liable persons. Some evaluation of their relative fault is required. In making this evaluation, a court may treat the collective liability of a group as a single share.<sup>393</sup>

Finally, in sequential order, subsections (4) through (6) of s. 736.1002, F.S.,

- Set out detailed rules specifying how the right to contribution can be enforced;
- Provide that an unsatisfied judgment against one liable person does not discharge the liability of others and that satisfaction of the judgment does not impair any right to contribution under the section; and
- Make a court's judgment determining the liability of the persons to the beneficiary binding among the persons for purpose of determining their right to contribution.

Costs and Fees

The Code contains several sections covering the burden of fees and costs. With the usual caveat relating to minor revisions and restructuring, these provisions track corresponding provisions in Chapter 737, F.S. The provisions of the Code dealing with fees and costs include:

- Section 736.1004, F.S.: This section is derived from a combination of s. 737.188, F.S. and s. 737.4033, F.S. It applies to costs (including attorney's and guardian ad litem's fees) incurred in actions for breach of a fiduciary duty or challenging an exercise or nonexercise of a trustee's power and in proceedings to modify a trust under ss. 736.04133 - 736.0412, F.S.<sup>394</sup> The section directs the court to award taxable costs and fees as in chancery actions<sup>395</sup> and authorizes the court to direct payment from the party's interest, from other property, or from both. Section 736.1004, F.S. makes no change in Florida law.

<sup>388</sup> Much of s. 736.1002, F.S. is based on s. 768.31(4), F.S. dealing with contribution among joint tortfeasors. By its terms, that section does not apply to breaches of trust or other fiduciary obligations. Section 768.31(2)(g), F.S.

<sup>395</sup> This means that costs may be awarded to the prevailing party, unless equity and fairness dictate otherwise. See In re Estate of Simon, 549 So. 2d 210 (Fla. 3d DCA 1989).

- Section 736.1005, F.S.: This section is substantively identical to that portion of s. 737.2035, F.S. relating to attorney's fees. Under it, an attorney who has rendered services to a trust may apply to the court for an award of reasonable compensation for those services. The section is directed primarily at the compensation of attorneys of beneficiaries and others who render services that benefit the trust. The section authorizes the court to direct from which part of the trust the fees are to be paid. The section also continues the requirement of written notice to nonadverse trustees and the authority of the court to adjust the attorney's compensation for services rendered prior to the notice.
- Section 736.1006, F.S.: This section is substantively identical to that portion of s. 737.2035, F.S. that relates to costs other than attorney's fees. Section 736.1006, F.S. provides that a court may award costs as in chancery proceedings in all trust proceedings. The court may also direct the part of the trust from which the costs are to be paid.
- Section 736.1007, F.S.: This section is substantively identical to s. 737.2041, F.S. It contains rules relating to the compensation of attorneys for ordinary and extraordinary services rendered in conjunction with the administration of a revocable trust after the settlor's death; the impact of a fee agreement between the attorney and the trustee or settlor; and the authority of the court to determine reasonable compensation and to award costs and fees in proceedings involved in determining that compensation.

Liability of Trustees to Third Parties

Codes ss. 736.1013 and 736.1015, F.S. address a trustee's liability to third parties. The latter is a new provision addressing a trustee's liability as a general partner of a partnership entered into or acquired by a trust. The former deals with liability for contracts entered into and torts committed by a trustee during the administration of the trust. Except as noted in the comment below, s. 736.1013, F.S. is substantively identical to current ss. 737.306(1) and (2), F.S.

General Rules for Contracts and Torts

With respect to contracts, a trustee is not personally liable on contracts entered into as a fiduciary in the course of administration of a trust unless the contract so provides or the trustee failed to reveal its fiduciary capacity.<sup>396 397</sup>

With respect to torts, a trustee is personally liable for torts committed in the course of administration of a trust or for obligations arising from the ownership or control of trust property only if the trustee is personally at fault.<sup>398</sup>

Whether or not a trustee is personally liable under the above rules, a claim based on a contract or tort may be asserted against the trustee in the trustee's representative capacity.<sup>399</sup> As is true under existing law, subsequent (or earlier) issues of liability between the trust estate and trustee individually may be determined in a proceeding for accounting, surcharge, indemnification or other appropriate proceeding.<sup>400</sup>

Trustee's Liability as General Partner

<sup>397</sup> Unlike existing law, the Code contains no exception for contracts for attorney's fees.

Code s. 736.1015, F.S. is new to Florida law.<sup>401</sup> It provides trustees with protection against personal liability for contracts and torts entered into by a partnership when the trustee holds an interest as general partner. In this context:

- A trustee is not personally liable for torts committed by the partnership or for obligations arising from ownership or control of the partnership interest as long as the trustee was not personally at fault;<sup>402</sup> and.
- Absent a contrary provision in the contract, a trustee has no personal liability on contracts entered into by the partnership if the trustee's fiduciary capacity was disclosed either in the contract or in a previously filed statement pursuant to the Uniform Partnership (or Limited Partnership) Acts.<sup>403</sup>

Limitations on Actions Against Trustees

Code s. 736.1008, F.S. specifies limitations periods for claims by a beneficiary against a trustee for breach of trust.<sup>404</sup> The section is a reorganized and slightly expanded version of s. 737.307, F.S. under which the applicable limitations period for a particular action can depend on a variety of factors including whether the trustee has filed an interim or final accounting and, if so, whether the matter is disclosed on the accounting.

Matters Adequately Disclosed on a Trust Accounting

With respect to matters adequately disclosed on a trust accounting, the applicable limitations period depends on whether the trustee has sent the beneficiary a limitation notice that relates to that accounting.

When Trustee has Issued a Written Limitation Notice

The shortest limitations period provided in s. 736.1008, F.S. is six months. This period applies to actions on matters the trustee has adequately disclosed on a trust accounting or other trust disclosure document when the trustee has provided the beneficiary with a related limitation notice.<sup>405</sup> A limitation notice is a written statement informing the beneficiary that an action against the trustee for actions based on any matter adequately disclosed in the accounting may be barred unless the action is commenced within six months of receipt of the accounting or limitation notice, whichever is later.<sup>406</sup>

More comprehensive definitions of "trust disclosure document" and "limitation notice," as well the detailed rules controlling when a limitation notice is related to a particular disclosure document are specified in ss. 736.1008(4)(a) and (4)(c), F.S.. In all respects, however, these provisions are identical to the corresponding provisions in s. 737.307, F.S.

When There is no Limitation Notice

A significantly longer limitations period applies to claims involving matters adequately disclosed on a trust accounting when no related limitation notice is sent to the beneficiary. Here, s. 736.1008(1)(a), F.S. provides that the claims are barred as provided in Chapter 95, F.S. Normally, this will result in a four year limitations with the period beginning on the date of receipt of the adequate disclosure.<sup>407</sup> An exception

<sup>401</sup> The section is derived from UTC. Section 736.1015, F.S. protects only trustees; it does not protect settlors. To the contrary, the section specifically provides that when a trustee of a revocable trust holds a general partnership interest, the settlor is personally liable for contracts and other partnership obligations as if the settlor were a general partner. Section 736.1015 (3), F.S.

<sup>404</sup> For the limitations period applicable to actions contesting the validity of a revocable trust after the settlor's death, see s. 736.0604, F.S. discussed supra at p. 30.

applies to matters involving actual or constructive fraud by the trustee. In those cases, the discovery rule of s. 95.031(2)(a), F.S. applies. Subject to an overall requirement that the action be commenced within twelve years, the discovery rule provides that the limitations period does not begin until the later of the time the facts giving rise to the action are discovered or the time the facts should have been discovered by an exercise of due diligence.<sup>408</sup>

Matters NOT adequately disclosed on a trust accounting
When Trustee has Issued Final Accounting and Given Written Notice to Beneficiary

The provisions of Chapter 95, F.S. discussed above also apply to claims involving matters that have not been adequately disclosed on a trust accounting or other trust disclosure document, but only if:

- The trustee has issued its final accounting for the trust; and
- The trustee has given written notice to the beneficiary of the availability of trust records for examination and that claims based on matters not adequately disclosed in that accounting may be barred unless the action is commenced within the applicable limitations period provided in Chapter 95, F.S.<sup>409</sup>

In this context, in the absence of fraud which would bring the discovery rule into play, the normal limitations period will be four years with the period beginning on the date of receipt of the final trust accounting and required written notice.<sup>410</sup>

When Trustee has NOT Issued Final Accounting or has NOT Given Written Notice to Beneficiary

A careful reading of the portions of s. 736.1008, F.S. discussed so far will reveal that they do not cover the entire universe of factual situations. Specifically, no limitations rules have yet been discussed for matters that have not been disclosed on a trust accounting where either the trustee has not issued a final accounting or, having done so, the trustee has not given the required notice described above.

As to both situations, s. 736.1008(3), F.S. provides that the applicable limitations period is determined under Chapter 95, F.S. That is, the normal limitations period will be the four year period described in s. 95.11(3), F.S. In what may be an important change in existing law, however, the section provides that the cause of action does not accrue (and correspondingly, the limitations period does not commence) until the trust beneficiary has actual knowledge of the trustee's repudiation of the trust or adverse possession of trust assets.<sup>411</sup>

Protection of Persons other than Beneficiaries Dealing with the Trustee

The Code contains two sections of interest to persons other than beneficiaries who deal with trustees. Code s. 736.1016, F.S., which is based on Uniform Code s. 1012, provides protection against liability for persons who deal with a trustee in good faith. The section is similar to, but slightly more expansive than, current s. 737.405, F.S. Code s. 736.1017, F.S. which is derived from Uniform Code s. 1013 and for which there is no counterpart in Chapter 737, F.S. provides protection for persons who rely on a certificate of trust furnished by the trustee.

<sup>411</sup> The situations described here are unaddressed in s. 737.307, F.S. As a consequence, they would be subject to the general provisions of Chapter 95, F.S. under which, in the absence of fraud, the four year period would begin at the occurrence of the last element constituting the cause of action. Section 95.031(2)(a), F.S. Under this test, unless a failure to account is itself a constructive fraud, a breaching trustee who failed to account could be protected by a silent running of the limitations period behind an unsuspecting beneficiary's back. The Committee believed this to be an inappropriate result because it undermines the incentive trustees should have to fully and adequately account.

Persons Dealing with Trustee in Good Faith

Section 736.1016, F.S. provides protection to persons (other than beneficiaries) who assist or deal for value with a trustee in good faith and without knowledge that:

- The trustee is exceeding its powers or
- The trustee is actually a former trustee whose trusteeship has terminated.

In addition, the section:

- Relieves a person acting in good faith (other than a beneficiary) from any duty to inquire into the extent of the trustee's powers or the propriety of their exercise; and
- Relieves any person acting in good faith from any duty to ensure the proper application of any assets the person delivers to a trustee.

Section 736.1016, F.S. is included on the list of mandatory provisions; the protections it provides may not be altered in a trust instrument.<sup>412</sup> The section is similar to current s. 737.405, F.S. Two noteworthy areas of difference include:

- Section 737.405, F.S. does not include a provision protecting persons who in good faith deal with or assist a former trustee whose trusteeship has terminated; and
- By its terms, Code s. 736.1016, F.S. is subservient to other laws (such as the Uniform Commercial Code) relating to commercial transactions and the transfer of securities by fiduciaries.

Persons Acting in Reliance on a Certification of Trust

Except when it is required by law or a judicial proceeding concerning the trust, instead of furnishing a complete copy of a trust instrument to a person (other than a beneficiary) who requests it, Code s. 736.1017, F.S. provides that the trustee may furnish a certification of trust.<sup>413</sup> The section sets out certain required information that must be included in the certification<sup>414</sup> among which is a statement that the trust has not been revoked, modified, or amended in any manner that would cause the representations in the certificate to be incorrect.<sup>415</sup>

A person to whom a certificate of trust is furnished may:

- Require copies of excerpts from the trust instrument that designate and empower the trust to act in a particular pending transaction.<sup>416</sup>
- Assume without inquiry the existence of any facts contained in the certification;
- Act without liability to any person in good faith reliance on the certification; and
- Enforce against trust property a transaction entered into in good faith reliance on the certification as if the representations contained therein were correct.<sup>417 418</sup>

Rules of Construction (Part XI)

Part XI contains a series of default rules of construction. As an initial matter, it is worth repeating the admonitions found in the initial section of the Part that, except for the provisions included on the mandatory list in s. 736.0105(2), F.S. (of which there is only one — s. 736.1108 dealing with penalty clauses for contesting trusts), the intent of the settlor as expressed in the terms of the trust controls the legal effect of the trust dispositions. In ascertaining that intent, however, in the absence of a contrary indication in the terms of a trust, the rules of construction set out in Part XI of the Code apply.<sup>419</sup>

All of the statutory rules of construction found in Part XI have a counterpart in existing Chapter 737, F.S. One of these — s. 736.1106, F.S. dealing with antilapse and the descendibility of beneficial interests in trust — changes existing law. The others are substantively identical to their Chapter 737, F.S. cousins. New s. 736.1106, F.S. is discussed last.

Carryover Provisions from Existing Law Construction of Generic Terms

Code s. 736.1102, F.S. is identical to s. 737.623, F.S. It provides that in construing a trust, adopted persons and persons born out of wedlock are included in class gift terminology and other terms of relationship in accordance with the rules for determining relationships for purposes of intestate succession.

Multi-Generational Class Gifts

Code s. 736.1103, F.S. provides that gifts to multi-generational classes (such as descendants, heirs, etc.) are per stirpes. This provision is identical in intent to s. 737.624, F.S., although the wording of the section was revised to eliminate a potential conflict between this section and new s. 736.1106, F.S. discussed below.

Unlawful and Intentional Killings

Code s. 736.1104, F.S. is identical to s. 737.625, F.S. Under both, a beneficiary who unlawfully and intentionally kills or participates in procuring the death of the settlor or another person on whose death such beneficiary's interest depends is precluded from taking that interest. Instead, the interest devolves as if the slayer predeceased the victim. This rule is triggered by a civil evidentiary standard (the greater weight of the evidence) although a final judgment of murder in any degree is conclusive.

Effect of Dissolution of Marriage on Revocable Trust

Absent a contrary provision in the trust instrument or in a judgment for dissolution of marriage or divorce, s. 736.1105, F.S. provides that provisions in a revocable trust in favor of a spouse become void upon a subsequent divorce, annulment or dissolution of the marriage. The trust is administered and construed as if the spouse were dead. Apart from a title change, this section is identical to s. 737.106, F.S.

Change in Securities; Accessions; Nonademption

<sup>418</sup> The right of a certification recipient to act in good faith reliance on the certification applies only when the recipient does not have knowledge that the representations contained in the certification are incorrect. Without more, knowledge of a trust's terms may not be inferred solely because the recipient is in possession of a copy of the trust instrument. See s. 736.1017(6), F.S., final sentence.

Code s. 736.1107, F.S. addresses some commonly occurring constructional issues that arise when a trust beneficiary is entitled to a distribution of specific securities (as opposed to their equivalent value).<sup>420</sup> The section gives the beneficiary:

- A right to whatever securities remain in the trust at the time the distribution is to occur;
- A right to additional securities of the same issuer held by the trust as a result of a traditional stock split or stock dividend; and
- A right to securities of another issuer held by the trust as a result of merger, consolidation, reorganization, or other similar action initiated by the issuer.

Trust Contest Penalty Clauses

Code s. 736.1108, F.S. is a mandatory provision the initial subsection of which is identical to s. 737.207, F.S. The subsection provides that trust in terrorem clauses<sup>421</sup> are unenforceable. The second subsection of s. 736.1108, F.S. is new. It is an effective date provision that incorporates the effective date of the legislation originally creating current s. 737.207, F.S. Trusts created before October 1, 1993 are not subject to either provision.<sup>422</sup>

Antilapse and the Descendibility of Beneficial Interests in Trusts

Code s. 736.1106, F.S. is new.<sup>423</sup> Like current s. 737.6035, F.S. which it will replace, s. 736.1106, F.S. is concerned with antilapse and the descendibility of beneficial interests in trusts. The new section is applicable to all trusts except those which are irrevocable on the effective date of the Code.<sup>424</sup>

Historical Background

Prior to 2003, Florida's only section dealing with antilapse was s. 732.603(1), F.S. of the Probate Code. This section applied only when certain related devisees under a will predeceased the testator. Because the term "devisee" is defined in the Probate Code to exclude the beneficiaries of trusts,<sup>425</sup> the prevailing wisdom at the time was that the section did not apply to beneficial interests in testamentary trusts. The impact of the limitation can be illustrated in a brief example.

Example 3 — Lapse of Interest in Testamentary Trust. D executes a will that devises $100,000 outright to his child C and the residue of his estate in trust "income to Wife for life; remainder in corpus C." D's child, C, predeceases D survived by a daughter GC. Subsequently, D dies, survived by Wife and by GC.

As it existed in 2001, s. 732.603(1), F.S. would preserve the outright devise to C for the benefit of GC. But the gift of the remainder interest to C in the trust would lapse. That particular oddity was remedied in 2001 when s. 732.603(1), F.S. was amended to apply both to certain related predeceasing devisees and to "a beneficiary of a trust created by a will." In addition, the section was extended to apply when C survived D

<sup>420</sup> Section 736.1107, F.S. is the trust law counterpart to s. 732.605, F.S. in the Probate Code and is identical in all respect to current s. 737.622, F.S.

<sup>421</sup> I.e., a provisions purporting to penalize any interested person for contesting the trust instrument or instituting other proceedings relating to the trust estate or trust assets. See s. 736.1108(1), F.S.

<sup>423</sup> Section 736.1106, F.S. is the trust law equivalent of s. 732.603, F.S. (the Probate Code antilapse statute). As is explained more fully below, adoption of s. 736.1106, F.S. requires that conforming amendments be made to s. 732.603, F.S. as well. As these two provisions are related, discussion of the conforming changes that are being made to s. 732.603, F.S. appear below instead of later in the Summary where other conforming changes are considered.

but not life tenant W.<sup>426</sup> Then, in 2003, s. 737.6035, F.S. was created to apply similar rules in the case of interests created in living trusts.<sup>427</sup>

Concerns Regarding Current Statutes

The changes made to s. 732.603, F.S. in 2001 and the creation of s. 737.6035, F.S. in 2003 have led to several concerns expressed by commentators:

- The failure to address how these sections apply to powers of appointment, if at all;
- The inadvertent and inappropriate application of s. 737.6035, F.S. to some present interests in trust; and
- The failure of s. 732.603, F.S. to address the situation of a related beneficiary dying without surviving descendants after the testator but before the expiration of the life tenant's interest.
- The failure of s. 737.6035, F.S. to clarify how beneficial interests in inter vivos trusts are to be handled when they are not saved for some other beneficiary under the section.<sup>428</sup>

Of necessity, the formulation of the new Florida Trust Code required a reexamination of s. 737.6035, F.S. In turn, a Committee decision to remedy the problems it found in that section required changes in s. 732.603, F.S. as well. Together, these two provisions constitute a new coordinated and more comprehensive default regime covering antilapse and descendibility issues in both testamentary and nontestamentary contexts. Discussion begins with the changes made to s. 732.603, F.S.<sup>429</sup>

Revisions to s. 732.603, F.S.

As detailed above, under existing law, lapse and descendibility rules for testamentary trusts appear in s. 732.603, F.S. of the Probate Code while the companion rules for living trusts appear in s. 737.6035, F.S. The division of labor under the new regime is different. Because Code s. 736.1106, F.S. applies to both testamentary and to living trusts, s. 732.603, F.S. is restored to its pre-2002 state. That is, the new version applies only to outright testamentary dispositions.<sup>430</sup> In addition, new s. 732.603, F.S. is revised as follows.

- In addition to devises, it now covers interests created by the exercise of testamentary powers of appointment; and
- It incorporates existing Florida case law on the impact of survivorship language in a devise or appointment.

Powers of Appointment

Current s. 732.603, F.S. is not clear on whether and how it applies to outright interests created by the exercise of testamentary powers of appointment. In contrast, new s. 732.603, F.S. explicitly applies to these interests.<sup>431</sup>

Example 4 — Outright Exercise of Testamentary Power. At his death, D is the life beneficiary of a trust created by his uncle F. Under the terms of the trust, D has a testamentary power to appoint property among D's descendants. D's will purports to appoint $100,000 to his child C. But C predeceased D, survived by GC who survived D.

In the absence of a contrary intent, new s. 732.603, F.S. provides that GC becomes entitled to the $100,000 D tried to appoint to C. Note, however, the following additional observations about this example:

- It is immaterial to the result whether F created D's power in an inter vivos or a testamentary instrument.
- Application of new s. 732.603, F.S. assumes that there is no contrary intent indicated in either D's will or in the instrument in which F created D's power.
- GC takes in C's place under new s. 732.603, F.S. only if the relationship test specified in the section is met with respect to F and C. Thus, if F is unrelated to C, the section does not apply whether or not C is related to D.
- In general, it is immaterial to the application of new s. 732.603, F.S. whether D's power is a general one or a special one. With the latter, however, there exists the possibility that the person in whose favor the section operates is outside the class of permissible objects of the power.<sup>432</sup> The section explicitly permits this unless the language creating the power expressly excludes the substitution of descendants for an object of the power.<sup>433</sup>

Words of Survivorship and other Indications of Contrary Intent

Like its predecessor, new s. 732.603, F.S. yields to an indication of a contrary intent. This would include a direction in the testator's will that lapsed gifts are to be added to the residue or that they are to pass instead to an alternate beneficiary. In this regard, the new section also codifies existing Florida case law which holds that mere words of survivorship associated with a testamentary disposition are a sufficient indication of contrary intent.<sup>434</sup> Thus the section would not apply in either Example 3 or Example 4 if D's devise (or appointment) had been "to C if he survives me." Likewise, the section would not apply to Example 4 if in creating D's power, F had provided that he could appoint "among his surviving descendants."<sup>435</sup>

Beneficial Interests in Trust

General Effect of s. 736.1106, F.S.

With some exceptions discussed below, Code s. 736.1106, F.S. applies when a beneficiary of a future interest in either a testamentary or an inter vivos trust dies before the point at which the beneficiary's interest becomes possessory.<sup>436</sup> In such situations, s. 736.1106, F.S. does two things:

- First, it provides that the deceased beneficiary's future interest in the trust is contingent on the beneficiary surviving the point at which the interest takes in possession.
- Second, unless a contrary intent appears in the trust instrument, s. 736.1106, F.S. creates a per stirptual alternate gift in such of the deceased beneficiary's descendants as are living at that time.<sup>437</sup>

<sup>432</sup> To illustrate, if D's power in the above example had been to appoint among his children instead of his descendants, the operation of new s. 732.603, F.S. will be to preserve the gift for a person (GC) who is not an object of D's power.

The effect of the section may be illustrated with the following example.

Example 5 — Beneficial Future Interest in Trust. D dies with a will in which he devises property to a testamentary trust to pay "income to W for life; remainder in corpus to C." C dies after D survived by W and by two children GC-1 and GC-2. Some time later, W dies survived by C's two kids.

On the facts of this example, and again assuming no contrary intent appears in the trust instrument, s. 736.1106, F.S. creates a per stirptual alternate gift of C's interest in favor of GC-1 and GC-2.<sup>438</sup>

Situations where s. 736.1106, F.S. Applies

Section 736.1106, F.S. applies to a broad array of situations where the beneficiary of a future interest<sup>439</sup> in a trust dies before the time the interest becomes possessory. The only two exceptions are situations where a contrary intent appears in the instrument and where the beneficial interest involved is one created in a trust that became irrevocable before the effective date of the Code. Thus, in the illustrative context of Example 5, the section would apply:

- Whether the trust in which C held his interest was created by standard transfer or by an exercise of a power of appointment, and in the latter case, whether the power was general or special.
- Whether the transfer (or appointment) by which the trust was created was an inter vivos or testamentary one.
- With respect to an inter vivos trust, whether the trust is revocable or irrevocable.
- With respect to a testamentary trust, whether C survived the testator or not.
- Whether, the predeceasing beneficiary is an individual or a member of a class.<sup>440</sup>
- Whether or not the trust settlor and predeceasing beneficiary are related. That is, unlike s. 732.603, F.S. of the Probate Code, there is no relationship test under s. 736.1106, F.S.

The absence of a relationship test in s. 736.1106, F.S. rests on a subtle but important distinction between the underlying rationales for that section compared with the Probate Code antilapse provision. The latter is first, foremost, and exclusively a rule based on presumed intent. The relationship test assumes that that intent differs depending on whether the beneficiary of a testamentary gift is a relative or not. The rationale behind s. 736.1106, F.S. is different. It is found in large part on matters of economy and administrative convenience. To illustrate, consider the impact of s. 736.1106, F.S. to Example 5. Because of the section, C's interest in the example is not descendible. That is, it does not pass at C's death to his successors by will or inheritance. For that reason:

- It is not subject to estate taxation at C's death;

<sup>438</sup> Astute readers will readily see that the effect of s. 736.1106, F.S. is to turn C's vested interest into a contingent one with alternate gift in his descendants. Note that the alternate gift is in the descendants of D who survive W. If GC-1 predeceased W survived by a child GGC, the remainder will pass half to GGC and half to GC-2 at W's death. It is immaterial whether GGC was born before or after C's death. The result of the situation described in the comment is the same whether GC-1 predeceased W in fact or in law. See s. 736.1106(1)(e), F.S.

- It may not be reached by C's creditors (including the elective share right of C's surviving spouse); and
- It will not be necessary to reopen administration of C's estate at W's subsequent death in order to determine who is entitled to C's interest.

To the above may be added the secondary advantage that in many cases, application of s. 736.1106, F.S. will accord with D's probable intent. But the advantages listed above exist regardless of any relationship between D and C. If D's contrary intent in a particular case outweighs the listed advantages, D is free to negate application of s. 736.1106, F.S. in the trust instrument. Unless he does so, however, the better default rule is for the section to apply regardless of any relationship test.

Language Indicating a Contrary Intent

It was mentioned previously, that application of s. 736.1106, F.S. means two things. The first is that vested remainders are now contingent on the taker surviving to the time of possession. The second is that an alternate gift arises in the descendants of a beneficiary who fails to meet the survivorship contingency. As a default rule of construction, both of these principles will yield to a contrary intent in the trust instrument. As a practical matter, however, an instrument would rarely negate application of the first principle because to do so is to invite the problems the section was designed to avoid. It is for this reason that vested remainder interests are seldom found in well drafted trust instruments.

The second principle is certain to be less universally acceptable. It is to be expected that many settlors would prefer a different taker for the alternate gift. If so, application of the second principle can be avoided by:

- Expressing a different alternate taker in the instrument;
- Stating the intent that the designated beneficiary's descendants not share in the gift; or
- Attaching words of survivorship to the remainder beneficiary' interest.<sup>441</sup>

By contrast, the mere presence of a residuary clause in a settlor's will is not a sufficient indication of a contrary intent to the application of the second principle and this is true even if the will specifically provides that lapsed or failed gifts are to pass under the residuary clause.<sup>442</sup>

Disposition of Remainder Interests when there is no Alternate Taker

In some cases, there will be no eligible alternate taker for the contingent interest arising from an application of the first principle of s. 736.1106, F.S. This can occur if the predeceasing beneficiary left no descendants. It can also occur when the instrument contains language negating the application of the second principle but not language identifying an alternative taker for the interest. In either case, disposition of the interest will depend on whether the interest was created by traditional transfer or by the exercise of a power of appointment.

Interests Created by Traditional Transfer

If the interest was created in a nonresiduary devise in the transferor's will, the interest will pass as part of the transferor's residuary estate.<sup>443</sup> Otherwise it passes to the transferor's heirs with the heirs being determined as if the transferor had died intestate at the time the interest takes in possession.<sup>444</sup>

Example 6 — Residuary devise to testamentary trust — no alternate taker. D dies with a will in which he devises the residue of his estate to a testamentary trust to pay "income to W for life; remainder in corpus to his child C." D's only other relatives are a brother B and a sister S. C dies after D. He is survived by W, B, and S, but not by any descendants. Thereafter, W dies survived by B and S. At W's death, the property passes to D's surviving heirs, B and S.<sup>445</sup>

Interests Created by Appointment

In general, the rules discussed above for interests created by traditional transfers also apply to interests created by the exercise of a power of appointment. In the case of powers, however, the basic rules are subject to two special wrinkles:

- First, prior to application of the above rules, preference is given to the power donor's gift-in-default clause, if any.<sup>446</sup>
- Second, in the application of the above rules, the transferor of an interest created by the exercise of a general power is specified to be the donee of the power while the transferor for interests created by the exercise of a special power is specified to be the donor of the power.<sup>447</sup>

Charitable Trusts (Part XII)

Part XII of the Code incorporates most of the sections currently found in Part V of chapter 737, F.S. dealing with charitable trusts. Two current sections (s. 737.510, F.S. and s. 737.512, F.S.) were omitted, the latter because it is obsolete and the former because charitable organizations expressly designated in a trust instrument are given the rights of a qualified beneficiary under Code s. 736.0110(1), F.S. Accordingly, the duties imposed on trustees in s. 737.510, F.S. are unnecessary under the Code.

The remaining sections, and the changes, if any, made to them are listed below.

- Section 736.1201, F.S.: This section is derived from s. 737.501, F.S. The order of the definitions for "charitable organization" and "Internal Revenue Code" were switched and changes were made to the definitions of Internal Revenue Code and State attorney. The definition of the former was updated to the 1986 Code and the definition of the latter was tied to the state attorney for the judicial circuit of the principal place of administration of the trust under s. 736.0108, F.S.
- Section 736.1202, F.S.: This section is identical to s. 737.502, F.S.
- Section 736.1203, F.S.: This section is derived from s. 737.503, F.S. A cross reference to s. 737.505, F.S. was updated to Code s. 736.1203, F.S.
- Section 736.1204, F.S.: Section 736.1204, F.S. is derived from s. 737.504, F.S. Gender specific references were replaced with gender neutral ones, cross references to s. 737.505, F.S. were updated to Code s. 736.1205, F.S., and some section references were clarified as referring to the Internal Revenue Code.

- Section 736.1205, F.S.: This section is derived from s 737.505, F.S. Cross references to s. 737.504, F.S. were updated to Code s. 736.1204, F.S.
- Section 736.1206, F.S.: This section is derived form s. 737.506, F.S. References to s. 737.504(2), F.S. were updated to Code s. 736.1204(2), F.S.
- Section 736.1207, F.S.: This section is identical to s. 737.507, F.S.
- Section 736.1208, F.S.: This section is identical to s. 737.508, F.S.
- Section 736.1209, F.S.: This section is derived from s. 737.509, F.S. A reference to s. 737.510, F.S. was deleted and references to s. 737.508(5), F.S. were updated to Code s. 736.1208(5), F.S.
- Section 736.1210, F.S.: This section is identical to s. 737.511, F.S.

Miscellaneous (Part XIII)

Part XIII of the Code contains miscellaneous sections. One deals with electronic records and signatures, two with investments by fiduciaries, another with severability, and two with effective date issues.

Electronic Records and Signatures

Section 736.1301, F.S. is a prophylactic provision with no real current effect. It provides that any provisions of the Code relating to the legal effect, validity, or enforceability of electronic records or signatures supersede those found in the Electronic Signatures in Global National Commerce Act. This section appears in all recent Uniform Acts. As the Florida Code contains no such provisions relating to the legal effect, validity, or enforceability of electronic records or signatures, the main impact of the section is that it will insure the primacy of any provisions that may be added in the future.

Investment of Fiduciary Funds Permitted

Section 518.117, F.S. is created to permit a fiduciary that is authorized to engage in trust business to invest fiduciary funds in accordance with s. 660.417, F.S.

Severability

Section 736.1302, F.S. is a standard severability clause that is intended to insure that the invalidity of one or more provisions of the Code will not affect the validity of other provisions.

Investment of Fiduciary Funds

Section 660.417, F.S. is amended to permit affiliated services; a bank or trust company trustee is not precluded from investing in investment instruments offered by that bank or trust company and receiving additional compensation for that investment. If a trustee engages in such activity the basis for the calculation of the compensation must be disclosed.

Effective date

The final miscellaneous provisions are found in s. 736.1303, F.S. Section 736.1303, F.S. specifies that the Code takes effect on July 1, 2007, and specifies rules relating to the application of the Code to existing trusts and legal proceedings. These include the following:

- The Code does not affect any act done prior to its effective date.<sup>448</sup>
- The Code does not affect the running of any limitations period that began before the effective date of the Code, even if the statute specifying the period is repealed or superseded by the Code.<sup>449</sup>
- The Code applies to all judicial proceedings concerning trusts commenced on or after its effective date.<sup>450</sup>
- The Code also applies to judicial proceedings commenced before that date unless the court finds its application would substantially interfere with the effective conduct of the judicial proceeding or prejudice the rights of the parties.<sup>451</sup>
- Finally, except as otherwise provided in a particular section of the Code, the Code applies to all trusts whether created before, on, or after its effective date.<sup>452</sup>

The significance of the final point above is worth emphasizing. Except as might be provided above or in a particular section, the Code applies retroactively to all trusts, whenever created. Although this has the advantage of avoiding the maintenance of two systems of trust law for extended periods of time, in some instances retroactive application can be constitutionally impermissible (e.g., where it impairs vested rights) or unfair. For this reason, a number of Code sections include effective date sections that limit the default retroactivity rule of s. 736.1303, F.S. This table lists most of these:

Specific Effective Dates of Code Provisions to Limit Retroactivity
Section	Title or topic	Effective date:
736.0403	Trusts created in other jurisdictions; formalities required for revocable trusts	Trusts created after the effective date of the Code.
736.04115	Judicial modification of irrevocable trust when modification is in best interest of beneficiaries	Inapplicable to trusts created before January 1, 2001. Revocable trusts are deemed created at the time they become irrevocable.
736.0412	Nonjudicial modification of irrevocable trust	Inapplicable to trusts created before January 1, 2001. Revocable trusts are deemed created at the time they become irrevocable.
736.0813	Duty to inform and account	In general, applies only to trust accountings rendered for accounting periods beginning on or after January 1, 2008. Paragraphs (1)(a) and (b) do not apply to trustees who accept a trusteeship before the effective date of the Code or to trusts that are irrevocable before that date.

736.08163	Powers of trustees relating to environmental or human health laws or to trust property contaminated with hazardous or toxic substances; liability	Does not apply to trusts created before July 1, 1995, unless the trust is amended to incorporate the provisions of the section.
736.1008	Limitations on proceedings against trustees	Applies to trust accountings for accounting periods beginning on or after January 1, 2008, and to written reports, other than trust accountings, received by a beneficiary on or after January 1, 2008.
736.1108	Penalty clause for contest	Applies to trusts created on or after October 1, 1993. Revocable trusts are treated as created when the right of revocation terminates.

Conforming Changes

In addition to the Code itself, the bill includes a number of conforming and other changes to various sections of the Probate Code and other portions of the Florida statutes. Many of these are just updates to statutory cross references and will not be discussed here. Those with substantive impact are list below.

- Section 518.117, F.S.: New. This section authorizes investment of fiduciary funds pursuant to s. 660.417, F.S.
- Section 660.25, F.S.: Revised. This section provides a definition for "investment instrument."
- Section 660.417, F.S.: Revised. This section authorizes trustees to engage in affiliated services; a bank or trust company trustee is not precluded from investing in investment instruments offered by that bank or trust company.
- Section 689.075(4), F.S.: Revised. The second sentence of this subsection was deleted as obsolete.
- Section 689.175, F.S.: New. This section abolishes the Doctrine of Worthier title as both a rule of law and a rule of construction. The purposes originally served by that doctrine are no longer relevant and its application can create adverse tax consequences and can impair the validity of special needs trusts.
- Section 731.103, F.S.: Revised. The section is made applicable to new Chapter 736; the provision specifying the applicability of the rules of evidence in civil actions is moved to new s. 731.1035, F.S. (below); subsection (4) permitting proof of death by direct or circumstantial evidence before expiration of 5-year time period is added to conform this section to s. 737.626(4), F.S.
- Section 731.1035, F.S.: New. This new section is separated out from s. 731.103, F.S. (see above). It specifies that the rules of evidence in civil action apply to proceedings under Probate Code.
- Section 731.201(2) and (9), F.S.: Revised. In both of these subsections, a reference to beneficiaries described in s. 737.303(4)(b), F.S. is changed to qualified beneficiary as defined in the new Code.

- Section 731.201(27), F.S.: New. This section adds a new definition of "power of appointment."
- Section 731.303, F.S.: Revised. This section is amended to limit it to proceedings involving estates and not those involving trusts. In addition, the portions of the section dealing with representation by holders of powers of appointment are subjected to the same restrictions that appear in Code s. 736.0302, F.S. That is, representation does not apply to matters involving a trustee's fraud or bad faith, a power of a trustee to distribute property or to a power held by a person who is the sole trustee.
- Section 732.513, F.S.: Revised. Subsection (c) of the section is deleted to remove the implication that a pour over to a revocable trust that is not executed in the manner required for wills is effective.
- Section 732.603, F.S.: Rewritten. The revisions to this section have been discussed in detail previously.<sup>453</sup>
- Section 732.604, F.S.: Clarified. Subsection (2) of this section is revised to clarify the meaning it was intended to have all along.
- Section 732.611, F.S.: Clarified. The wording of this section was changed to better reflect its intended purpose.
- Section 732.212, F.S.: Revised. A reference in this section to beneficiaries described in s. 737.303(4)(b), F.S. is changed to qualified beneficiary as defined in the new Code.
- Section 738.104, F.S.: Revised. This section is amended in several places to change references to the previously defined term "beneficiaries" to a newly defined term "eligible beneficiaries." Under the new version, it is the eligible beneficiaries of a trust who have standing to object to the use of a trustee's power to adjust with respect to trusts in existence on January 1, 2003. The new term excludes from the class of beneficiaries with standing the middle tier qualified beneficiaries described in Code s. 736.0103(14)(b), F.S. unless there is no third tier qualified beneficiary described in s. 736.0103(14)(c), F.S. The practical effect of the revisions are two fold. First, for most trusts the term eligible beneficiaries will have a meaning very similar to the term "beneficiaries" under the current version of the section. For those trusts where the term differs, the revisions are intended to insure that there will always be two categories of qualified beneficiaries with standing to object to an exercise of the trustee's adjustment power.
- Section 744.331(6)(b) and (f), F.S.: Revised. These are companion revisions to the change made in Code s. 736.0207, F.S. permitting court approved contests of a revocable trust by a settlor's guardian prior to the settlor's death. Paragraph (b) requires that a court determine whether a sufficient alternative to guardianship exists for a person the court finds to be incapable of exercising delegable rights. If so, the court is precluded from appointing a guardian. If not, the court is required to appoint a guardian for the incapacitated person. Paragraph (f) provides that an incapacitated person's trust, trust amendment, or durable power of attorney is not to be considered a sufficient alternative to guardianship if an interested person files a verified statement that he or she has a reasonable factual basis for believing in good faith that the trust, trust amendment or durable power is invalid.
- Section 744.441(11), F.S.: Revised. The new language added to this subsection is also a related to new Code s. 736.0207, F.S. Subsection (11) directs that before authorizing a guardian to bring an action under s. 736.0207, F.S., the court must find that the action appears to be in the ward's best interest during the ward's probable lifetime.

- Section 744.462, F.S.: New. This new section provides for the reporting of a court's finding as to the validity of a ward's trust, trust amendment, and power of attorney and for the continued review by the court of the sufficiency of guardianship alternatives, the continued need for a guardian, and the extent of the need for delegation of the ward's rights.

D. FISCAL COMMENTS:

By providing settlors and trustees with the ability to take advantage of more flexible trust provisions, this bill may perhaps result in more equitable trust distributions and better tax outcomes for trust beneficiaries.

Traditionally, self-settled trusts have been treated harshly when it comes to creditors' rights. Under Code s. 736.0505(1), F.S., whether or not a trust includes a spendthrift provision: while a trust is revocable, the trust property is subject to the claims of the settlor's creditors, and in the case of an irrevocable trust, a settlor's creditor or assignee may reach the maximum that can be distributed to or for the benefit of the settlor.

Therefore, this bill provides creditors with greater protection. Notwithstanding this ability, the assets of the trust are not subject to the creditor's or assignee's claims merely because the trustee possesses the power to pay tax liabilities of the settlor.

III. COMMENTS

A. CONSTITUTIONAL ISSUES:

1. Applicability of Municipality/County Mandates Provision:

This bill does not appear to require counties or municipalities to take an action requiring the expenditure of funds, reduce the authority that counties or municipalities have to raise revenue in the aggregate, nor reduce the percentage of state tax shared with counties or municipalities.

2. Other:

Personal Jurisdiction:

Section 736.0202, F.S. pertains to personal jurisdiction by Florida courts over the trustee, beneficiaries, and recipients of trust distributions. Specifically, s. 736.0202(2), F.S. provides:

With respect to their interest in the trust, the beneficiaries of a trust having its principal place of administration in this state are subject to the jurisdiction of the courts of this state regarding any matter involving the trust. By accepting a distribution from such a trust, the recipient submits personally to the jurisdiction of the courts of this state regarding any matter involving the distribution.

The Committee's Scrivener's Summary provides that "F.S. chapter 737 has no provision corresponding to section 736.0602<sup>454</sup>. Jurisdiction under existing law is obtained under the general long arm statutes found in F.S. chapter 48. The Committee believes that the inclusion of a long arm statute tailored specifically to trust matters is a beneficial addition to Florida law."<sup>455</sup>

Even assuming, for the sake of argument, that the provisions of the Florida Long Arm Statute have been satisfied,<sup>456</sup> federal due process requirements cannot be minimized. The U.S. Supreme Court has "noted <sup>454</sup> The report points to s. 736.602, F.S., however s. 736.0602, F.S. pertains to revocation or amendment of revocable trusts, therefore it would seem that the reference to s. 736.602, F.S. is merely a scrivener's error and it will be considered as such.

- (1) Any person, whether or not a citizen or resident of this state, who personally or through an agent does any of the acts enumerated in this subsection thereby submits himself or herself and, if he or she is a natural person, his or her personal representative to the jurisdiction of the courts of this state for any cause of action arising from the doing of any of the following acts:
  - (a) Operating, conducting, engaging in, or carrying on a business or business venture in this state or having an office or agency in this state.
  - (b) Committing a tortious act within this state.
  - (c) Owning, using, possessing, or holding a mortgage or other lien on any real property within this state.
  - (d) Contracting to insure any person, property, or risk located within this state at the time of contracting.
  - (e) With respect to a proceeding for alimony, child support, or division of property in connection with an action to dissolve a marriage or with respect to an independent action for support of dependents, maintaining a matrimonial domicile in this state at the time of the commencement of this action or, if the defendant resided in this state preceding the commencement of the action, whether cohabiting during that time or not. This paragraph does not change the residency requirement for filing an action for dissolution of marriage.
  - (f) Causing injury to persons or property within this state arising out of an act or omission by the defendant outside this state, if, at or about the time of the injury, either:
    1. The defendant was engaged in solicitation or service activities within this state; or
    2. Products, materials, or things processed, serviced, or manufactured by the defendant anywhere were used or consumed within this state in the ordinary course of commerce, trade, or use.
  - (g) Breaching a contract in this state by failing to perform acts required by the contract to be performed in this several reasons why a forum legitimately may exercise personal jurisdiction over a nonresident who 'purposefully directs' his activities toward forum residents. A State generally has a 'manifest interest' in providing its residents with a convenient forum for redressing injuries inflicted by out-of-state actors."<sup>457</sup>

Nevertheless, the U.S. Supreme Court maintains that the "constitutional touchstone remains whether the defendant purposefully established 'minimum contacts' in the forum."<sup>458</sup> The Court will look to the individuals "conduct and connection with the forum State" to determine if that person "should reasonably anticipate being haled into court there."<sup>459</sup> In seeking to make this determination, the court will attempt to determine if an individual has purposefully availed himself or herself of the "privilege of conducting activities within the forum State, thus invoking the benefits and protections of its laws."<sup>460</sup>

"This 'purposeful availment' requirement ensures that a defendant will not be haled into a jurisdiction solely as a result of 'random,' 'fortuitous,' or 'attenuated' contacts, or of the 'unilateral activity of another party or a third person. Jurisdiction is proper, however, where the contacts proximately result from actions by the defendant himself that create a "substantial connection" with the forum State."<sup>461</sup>

Furthermore, in determining whether due process requirements are met, the Florida Supreme Court has set forth a "twofold constitutional inquiry: (1) whether the acts or the nonresident defendant give rise to sufficient 'minimum contacts' with the forum such that (2) maintaining a suit there 'does not offend traditional notions of fair play and substantial justice.'"<sup>462</sup> Factors to consider in whether minimum contacts have been established include "whether sufficient minimum contacts exist including the foreseeability that the defendant's conduct will result in suit in the forum state and the defendant's purposeful availment of the forum's privileges and protections."<sup>463</sup> In other words, even though an individual may appear to fall within the reach of the long arm statute, personal jurisdiction over that nonresident may run afoul of the due process requirements of the U.S. Constitution unless minimum contacts with Florida can be established.

Section 736.0202, F.S., which authorizes personal jurisdiction over an out of state resident solely upon the receipt of a distribution from a trust located in Florida, may perhaps be challenged by a nonresident whose only contact with Florida was cashing a check received in the mail.

Section 736.0403(2)(b) provides: "The testamentary aspects of a revocable trust, executed by a settlor who is a domiciliary of this state at the time of execution, are invalid unless the trust instrument is executed by the settlor with the formalities required for the execution of a will in this state. For the purpose of this subsection, the term 'testamentary aspects' means those provisions of the trust instrument that dispose of the trust property on or after the death of the settlor other than to the settlor's estate."

The Committee's Scrivener's Report provides the following analysis of this section:<sup>464</sup>

A failure to comply with the requirements of section 736.0403(2)(b) does not result in the initial invalidity of a revocable trust. Rather, only the testamentary aspects of the trust are void. As under existing law, testamentary aspects means "those provisions of the trust that dispose of the trust property on or after the settlor's death other to the settlor's estate."

The formalities required are those for a will in Florida. Complying with the formalities for a will in some other state is not enough.

Section 736.0403(2)(b) has no applicability to trusts created by non Florida domiciliaries whether or not the trust was executed in Florida.

Conversely, section 736.0403(2)(b) does not contain an "out" for trusts executed in other states. The section applies to revocable trusts created by Florida domiciliaries regardless of the place of execution and regardless of the location of the property held in the trust.

Section 736.0403(2)(b), F.S. may invalidate testamentary aspects of a trust created by a Florida domiciliary in another state regardless of whether the corpus of the trust is outside of Florida. By way of example the above language would seem to preclude a Floridian from executing a trust in New York with testamentary aspects which seeks to solely dispose of property located in New York unless New York has identical to formalities to Florida required for the execution of a will. Such a result may create a potential conflict of laws problem.

B. RULEMAKING AUTHORITY:

None.

C. DRAFTING ISSUES OR OTHER COMMENTS:

The Florida Bankers Association supports the bill and advises<sup>465</sup> that it contains provisions that would allow professional trustees more investment options for their customers by removing strict prohibitions on sophisticated investment products offered by or through the trustee or an affiliate. Professional trustees already enjoy this freedom on mutual funds, common trust funds and money market funds. This legislation would expand the authority to investments that are customarily seen only in large trusts.... We believe that the bill may also reduce customer fees.... Currently, Delaware, Ohio and Illinois have such provisions in their laws... The [CS] would help keep Florida competitive in the trust industry.

IV. AMENDMENTS/COMMITTEE SUBSTITUTE & COMBINED BILL CHANGES

On January 11, 2005, the Civil Justice Committee adopted an amendment removing everything after the enacting clause. The amendment modified the bill in the following manner:

- Changed the presumption on an unproductive trust to that of current law ($50,000);
- Removed the definition of "person" from the bill;
- Modified the governing law provisions of s. 736.0107, F.S. to provide that in the absence of a controlling designation in the terms of the trust, the law of the jurisdiction where the settlor resides at the time the trust is created controls. Moreover, a designation in the terms of the trust is not controlling as to any matter for which the designation would be contrary to a strong public policy of Florida;
- Removed "the interest of the beneficiaries" from consideration of a trustee's duty where to administer the trust;
- Authorized a trustee to invest in investment instruments that are controlled by the trustee or its affiliate or from which the trustee or affiliate receives compensation, provides for notice of this to beneficiaries, and establishes a method by which a beneficiary may file an objection with the trustee;
- Created s. 518.117, F.S., authorizing a fiduciary to invest fiduciary funds pursuant to s. 660.417, F.S.; so long as the investment complies with among other things Florida's Prudent Investor Rule. This rule provides that a fiduciary has the responsibility to invest assets as a prudent investor would considering the purposes, terms, distribution requirements, and other circumstances of the trust.<sup>466</sup> In seeking to satisfy this standard, the trustee must exercise reasonable care and caution;
- Amended s. 660.417, F.S., regarding investments by fiduciaries, to add that a bank or trust company is not precluded from investing in investment instruments offered by that bank or trust company; and

The bill was then reported favorably with a Committee Substitute.

This analysis is drawn to the Committee Substitute.

On March 9, 2006, the Economic Development, Trade and Banking Committee adopted 6 technical amendments and 4 substantive amendments that provide as follows:

- Corrects a duplicate reference to "custodian";
- Corrects a typographical error ("of" to "or");
- Corrects a drafting error in s. 736.0403(3), F.S., as the subsection relates only to subparagraph (b) and not to the entire section. This conforms to existing law;
- Corrects a drafting error in s. 736.0403(4), F.S., as the subsection relates only to subparagraph (b) and not to the entire section. This conforms to existing law;
- Corrects a statutory cross reference;
- Amends the provisions of the bill to be more consistent with current Florida law found in s. 737.402(4), F.S.;
- Provides that the discretionary power of a trustee to pay the tax liabilities of the settlor that are generated by the trust assets does not subject the trust to claims of the creditors of the settlor. This change addresses the tax glitch created by an IRS ruling dealing with grantor retained annuity trusts;
- Requires the trustee to disclose to the beneficiaries, in addition to compensation, the nature of any services performed for an investment fund by an affiliate of the trustee if the trustee or its affiliate earns any compensation from the fund;

- Extends the opt out to those beneficiaries in which the grantor has not made a specific decision in the trust document about whether investments in proprietary products is permissible; and
- Provides that if a trustee chooses not to initiate the affiliated investment opt out procedure and elects not to invest trust funds in affiliated investments as provided in the subsection, the law protects the trustee from liability for making that decision.

(2) Except as otherwise provided in subsection (3), interested persons may enter into a binding nonjudicial settlement agreement with respect to any matter involving a trust.

(3) A nonjudicial settlement agreement among the trustee and trust beneficiaries is valid only to the extent the terms

415 nonjudicial settlement may not be used to produce a result not 416 authorized by other provisions of this code, including, but not 417 limited to, terminating or modifying a trust in an impermissible 418 manner.

419 (4) Matters that may be resolved by a nonjudicial
420 settlement agreement include:

421 (a) The interpretation or construction of the terms of the 422 trust.

423 (b) The approval of a trustee's report or accounting.

424 (c) The direction to a trustee to refrain from performing 425 a particular act or the grant to a trustee of any necessary or 426 desirable power.

427 (d) The resignation or appointment of a trustee and the 428 determination of a trustee's compensation.

432 the trust.

433 (5) Any interested person may request the court to approve 434 or disapprove a nonjudicial settlement agreement.

435 736.0112 Qualification of foreign trustee.--Unless 436 otherwise doing business in this state, local qualification by a 437 foreign trustee is not required for the trustee to receive 438 distribution from a local estate. Nothing in this chapter shall 439 affect the provisions of s. 660.41.

of any immunity, power, privilege, duty, or right;

(f) Obtain a declaration of rights; or

(g) Determine any other matters involving trustees and beneficiaries.

(5) A proceeding for the construction of a testamentary trust may be filed in the probate proceeding for the testator's estate. The proceeding shall be governed by the Florida Probate Rules.

736.0202 Jurisdiction over trustee and beneficiary.--

(1) By accepting the trusteeship of a trust having its principal place of administration in this state or by moving the principal place of administration to this state, the trustee submits personally to the jurisdiction of the courts of this state regarding any matter involving the trust.

(2) With respect to their interests in the trust, the beneficiaries of a trust having its principal place of administration in this state are subject to the jurisdiction of the courts of this state regarding any matter involving the trust. By accepting a distribution from such a trust, the recipient submits personally to the jurisdiction of the courts of this state regarding any matter involving the distribution.

(3) This section does not preclude other methods of obtaining jurisdiction over a trustee, beneficiary, or other person receiving property from the trust.

736.0203 Subject-matter jurisdiction.--The circuit court has original jurisdiction in this state of all proceedings arising under this code.

HB 425 CS

2006
CS

736.0204 Venue.--Venue for actions and proceedings concerning trusts, including those under s. 736.0201, may be laid in:

(1) Any county where the venue is proper under chapter 47;

(2) Any county where the beneficiary suing or being sued resides or has its principal place of business; or

(3) The county where the trust has its principal place of administration.

736.0205 Trust proceedings; dismissal of matters relating to foreign trusts.--Over the objection of a party, the court shall not entertain proceedings under s. 736.0201 for a trust registered, or having its principal place of administration, in another state unless all interested parties could not be bound by litigation in the courts of the state where the trust is registered or has its principal place of administration. The court may condition a stay or dismissal of a proceeding under this section on the consent of any party to jurisdiction of the state where the trust is registered or has its principal place of business, or the court may grant a continuance or enter any other appropriate order.

736.0206 Proceedings for review of employment of agents and review of compensation of trustee and employees of trust.--

(1) After notice to all interested persons, the court may review the propriety of the employment by a trustee of any person, including any attorney, auditor, investment adviser, or other specialized agent or assistant, and the reasonableness of any compensation paid to that person or to the trustee.

2006
CS

522        (2) If the settlor's estate is being probated, and the 523        settlor's trust or the trustee of the settlor's trust is a 524        beneficiary under the settlor's will, the trustee, any person 525        employed by the trustee, or any interested person may have the 526        propriety of employment and the reasonableness of the 527        compensation of the trustee or any person employed by the 528        trustee determined in the probate proceeding.

529        (3) The burden of proof of the propriety of the employment 530        and the reasonableness of the compensation shall be on the 531        trustee and the person employed by the trustee. Any person who 532        is determined to have received excessive compensation from a 533        trust for services rendered may be ordered to make appropriate 534        refunds.

535        (4) Court proceedings to determine reasonable compensation
536        of a trustee or any person employed by a trustee, if required, 537        are a part of the trust administration process. The costs, 538        including attorney's fees, of the person assuming the burden of 539        proof of propriety of the employment and reasonableness of the 540        compensation shall be determined by the court and paid from the 541        assets of the trust unless the court finds the compensation paid 542        or requested to be substantially unreasonable. The court shall 543        direct from which part of the trust assets the compensation 544        shall be paid.

545        (5) The court may determine reasonable compensation for a 546        trustee or any person employed by a trustee without receiving 547        expert testimony. Any party may offer expert testimony after 548        notice to interested persons. If expert testimony is offered, a 549        reasonable expert witness fee shall be awarded by the court and

HB 425 CS

2006
CS

550 paid from the assets of the trust. The court shall direct from 551 which part of the trust assets the fee shall be paid.

552 (6) Persons given notice as provided in this section shall 553 be bound by all orders entered on the complaint.

554 (7) In a proceeding pursuant to subsection (2), the 555 petitioner may serve formal notice as provided in the Florida
556 Probate Rules, and such notice shall be sufficient for the court 557 to acquire jurisdiction over the person receiving the notice to 558 the extent of the person's interest in the trust.

559 736.0207 Trust contests.--An action to contest the 560 validity of all or part of a trust may not be commenced until 561 the trust becomes irrevocable, except this section does not 562 prohibit such action by the guardian of the property of an 563 incapacitated settlor.

564 Section 3. Part III of chapter 736, Florida Statutes,
565 consisting of sections 736.0301, 736.0302, 736.0303, 736.0304,
566 736.0305, and 736.0306, is created to read:

568 PART III
569 REPRESENTATION
570

571 736.0301 Representation; basic effect.--

572 (1) Notice, information, accountings, or reports given to 573 a person who may represent and bind another person under this 574 part may serve as a substitute for and have the same effect as 575 notice, information, accountings, or reports given directly to 576 the other person.

HB 425 CS

2006
CS

577       (2) Actions taken by a person who represents the interests
578 of another person under this part are binding on the person 579 whose interests are represented to the same extent as if the 580 actions had been taken by the person whose interests are 581 represented.

582       (3) Except as otherwise provided in s. 736.0602, a person
583 under this part who represents a settlor lacking capacity may 584 receive notice and give a binding consent on the settlor's 585 behalf.

586       (4) A trustee is not liable for giving notice, 587 information, accountings, or reports to a beneficiary who is 588 represented by another person under this part and nothing in 589 this part prohibits the trustee from giving notice, information, 590 accountings, or reports to the person represented.

591       736.0302 Representation by holder of power of 592 appointment.--

593       (1) The holder of a power of appointment may represent and 594 bind persons whose interests, as permissible appointees, takers
595 in default, or otherwise, are subject to the power.

596       (2) Subsection (1) does not apply to:

597       (a) Any matter determined by the court to involve fraud or 598 bad faith by the trustee;

599       (b) A power of a trustee to distribute trust property; or 600       (c) A power of appointment held by a person while the 601 person is the sole trustee.

602       736.0303 Representation by fiduciaries and parents.--To 603 the extent there is no conflict of interest between the

HB 425 CS

2006
CS

representative and the person represented or among those being represented with respect to a particular question or dispute:

(1) A guardian of the property may represent and bind the estate that the guardian of the property controls.

(2) An agent having authority to act with respect to the particular question or dispute may represent and bind the principal.

(3) A trustee may represent and bind the beneficiaries of the trust.

(4) A personal representative of a decedent's estate may represent and bind persons interested in the estate.

(5) A parent may represent and bind the parent's unborn child, or the parent's minor child if a guardian of the property for the minor child has not been appointed.

736.0304 Representation by person having substantially identical interest.--Unless otherwise represented, a minor, incapacitated, or unborn individual, or a person whose identity or location is unknown and not reasonably ascertainable, may be represented by and bound by another person having a substantially identical interest with respect to the particular question or dispute, but only to the extent there is no conflict of interest between the representative and the person represented.

736.0305 Appointment of representative.--

(1) If the court determines that an interest is not represented under this part, or that the otherwise available representation might be inadequate, the court may appoint a representative to receive notice, give consent, and otherwise

HB 425 CS

2006
CS

632 represent, bind, and act on behalf of a minor, incapacitated, or 633 unborn individual, or a person whose identity or location is 634 unknown. If not precluded by a conflict of interest, a 635 representative may be appointed to represent several persons or 636 interests.

637 (2) A representative may act on behalf of the individual 638 represented with respect to any matter arising under this code, 639 whether or not a judicial proceeding concerning the trust is 640 pending.

641 (3) In making decisions, a representative may consider 642 general benefits accruing to the living members of the 643 represented individual's family.

644 736.0306 Designated representative.--

645 (1) If authorized in the trust instrument, one or more 646 persons may be designated to represent and bind a beneficiary 647 and receive any notice, information, accounting, or report.

648 (2) Except as otherwise provided in this code, a person
649 designated, as provided in subsection (1) may not represent and 650 bind a beneficiary while that person is serving as trustee.

651 (3) Except as otherwise provided in this code, a person
652 designated, as provided in subsection (1) may not represent and 653 bind another beneficiary if the person designated also is a 654 beneficiary, unless:

655 (a) That person was named by the settlor; or

656 (b) That person is the beneficiary's spouse or a 657 grandparent or descendant of a grandparent of the beneficiary or 658 the beneficiary's spouse.

(4) No person designated, as provided in subsection (1) is liable to the beneficiary whose interests are represented, or to anyone claiming through that beneficiary, for any actions or omissions to act made in good faith.

Section 4. Part IV of chapter 736, Florida Statutes, consisting of sections 736.0401, 736.0402, 736.0403, 736.0404, 736.0405, 736.0406, 736.0407, 736.0408, 736.0409, 736.0410, 736.04113, 736.04115, 736.0412, 736.0413, 736.0414, 736.0415, 736.0416, and 736.0417, is created to read:

PART IV

CREATION, VALIDITY, MODIFICATION, AND TERMINATION

736.0401 Methods of creating trust.--A trust may be created by:

(1) Transfer of property to another person as trustee during the settlor's lifetime or by will or other disposition taking effect on the settlor's death;

(2) Declaration by the owner of property that the owner holds identifiable property as trustee; or

(3) Exercise of a power of appointment in favor of a trustee.

736.0402 Requirements for creation.--

(1) A trust is created only if:

(a) The settlor has capacity to create a trust.

(b) The settlor indicates an intent to create the trust.

(c) The trust has a definite beneficiary or is:

1. A charitable trust;

HB 425 CS

2006
CS

687        2. A trust for the care of an animal, as provided in s.
688        736.0408; or
689        3. A trust for a noncharitable purpose, as provided in s.
690        736.0409.
691        (d) The trustee has duties to perform.
692        (e) The same person is not the sole trustee and sole
693        beneficiary.
694        (2) A beneficiary is definite if the beneficiary can be 695        ascertained now or in the future, subject to any applicable rule 696        against perpetuities.
697        (3) A power of a trustee to select a beneficiary from an 698        indefinite class is valid. If the power is not exercised within 699        a reasonable time, the power fails and the property subject to 700        the power passes to the persons who would have taken the 701        property had the power not been conferred.
702        736.0403 Trusts created in other jurisdictions;
703        formalities required for revocable trusts.--
704        (1) A trust not created by will is validly created if the 705        creation of the trust complies with the law of the jurisdiction 706        in which the trust instrument was executed or the law of the 707        jurisdiction in which, at the time of creation, the settlor was 708        domiciled.
709        (2) Notwithstanding subsection (1):
710        (a) No trust or confidence of or in any messuages, lands, 711        tenements, or hereditaments shall arise or result unless the 712        trust complies with the provisions of s. 689.05.
713        (b)1. The testamentary aspects of a revocable trust, 714        executed by a settlor who is a domiciliary of this state at the time of execution, are invalid unless the trust instrument is executed by the settlor with the formalities required for the execution of a will in this state. For purposes of this subsection, the term "testamentary aspects" means those provisions of the trust instrument that dispose of the trust property on or after the death of the settlor other than to the settlor's estate.

HB 425 CS

2006

2. This paragraph does not apply to trusts established as part of an employee annuity described in s. 403 of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986, as amended, an individual retirement account as described in s. 408 of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986, as amended, a Keogh (HR-10) Plan, or a retirement or other plan that is qualified under s. 401 of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986, as amended.

3. This paragraph applies to trusts created on or after the effective date of this code. Section 737.111, as in effect prior to the effective date of this code, continues to apply to trusts created before the effective date of this code.

736.0404 Trust purposes.--A trust may be created only to the extent the purposes of the trust are lawful, not contrary to public policy, and possible to achieve. A trust and its terms must be for the benefit of its beneficiaries.

736.0405 Charitable purposes; enforcement.--

(1) A trust may be created for charitable purposes. Charitable purposes include, but are not limited to, the relief of poverty; the advancement of arts, sciences, education, or religion; and the promotion of health, governmental, or municipal purposes.

HB 425 CS

2006
CS

743       (2) If the terms of a charitable trust do not indicate a 744 particular charitable purpose or beneficiary, the court may 745 select one or more charitable purposes or beneficiaries. The 746 selection must be consistent with the settlor's intent to the 747 extent such intent can be ascertained.

748       (3) The settlor of a charitable trust, among others, has 749 standing to enforce the trust.

750       736.0406 Effect of fraud, duress, mistake, or undue 751 influence.--A trust is void if the creation of the trust is 752 procured by fraud, duress, mistake, or undue influence. Any part 753 of the trust is void if procured by such means, but the 754 remainder of the trust not procured by such means is valid if 755 the remainder is not invalid for other reasons.

756       736.0407 Evidence of oral trust.--Except as required by s.
757 736.0403 or a law other than this code, a trust need not be 758 evidenced by a trust instrument but the creation of an oral 759 trust and its terms may be established only by clear and 760 convincing evidence.

761       736.0408 Trust for care of an animal.--

762       (1) A trust may be created to provide for the care of an 763 animal alive during the settlor's lifetime. The trust terminates 764 on the death of the animal or, if the trust was created to 765 provide for the care of more than one animal alive during the 766 settlor's lifetime, on the death of the last surviving animal.

767       (2) A trust authorized by this section may be enforced by 768 a person appointed in the terms of the trust or, if no person is 769 appointed, by a person appointed by the court. A person having 770 an interest in the welfare of the animal may request the court

HB 425 CS

2006
CS

771 to appoint a person to enforce the trust or to remove a person
772 appointed.

773 (3) Property of a trust authorized by this section may be 774 applied only to the intended use of the property, except to the 775 extent the court determines that the value of the trust property
776 exceeds the amount required for the intended use. Except as 777 otherwise provided in the terms of the trust, property not 778 required for the intended use must be distributed to the 779 settlor, if then living, otherwise as part of the settlor's
780 estate.

781 736.0409 Noncharitable trust without ascertainable
782 beneficiary.--Except as otherwise provided in s. 736.0408 or by 783 another provision of law, the following rules apply:

784 (1) A trust may be created for a noncharitable purpose
785 without a definite or definitely ascertainable beneficiary or 786 for a noncharitable but otherwise valid purpose to be selected
787 by the trustee. The trust may not be enforced for more than 21
788 years.

789 (2) A trust authorized by this section may be enforced by 790 a person appointed in the terms of the trust or, if no person is 791 appointed, by a person appointed by the court.

792 (3) Property of a trust authorized by this section may be 793 applied only to the intended use of the property, except to the 794 extent the court determines that the value of the trust property
795 exceeds the amount required for the intended use. Except as 796 otherwise provided in the terms of the trust, property not 797 required for the intended use must be distributed to the

HB 425 CS

2006
CS

settlor, if then living, otherwise as part of the settlor's estate.

736.0410 Modification or termination of trust; proceedings for disapproval of nonjudicial acts.--

(1) In addition to the methods of termination prescribed by ss. 736.04113-736.0414, a trust terminates to the extent the trust expires or is revoked or is properly distributed pursuant to the terms of the trust.

(2) A proceeding to disapprove a proposed modification or termination under s. 736.0412 or a trust combination or division under s. 736.0417 may be commenced by any beneficiary.

(3) A proceeding to disapprove a proposed termination under s. 736.0414(1) may be commenced by any qualified beneficiary.

736.04113 Judicial modification of irrevocable trust when modification is not inconsistent with settlor's purpose.--

(1) Upon the application of a trustee of the trust or any qualified beneficiary, a court at any time may modify the terms of a trust that is not then revocable in the manner provided in subsection (2), if:

(a) The purposes of the trust have been fulfilled or have become illegal, impossible, wasteful, or impracticable to fulfill;

(b) Because of circumstances not anticipated by the settlor, compliance with the terms of the trust would defeat or substantially impair the accomplishment of a material purpose of the trust; or

(c) A material purpose of the trust no longer exists.

HB 425 CS

2006
CS

826        (2) In modifying a trust under this section, a court may:
 827        (a) Amend or change the terms of the trust, including 828 terms governing distribution of the trust income or principal or 829 terms governing administration of the trust;
 830        (b) Terminate the trust in whole or in part;
 831        (c) Direct or permit the trustee to do acts that are not 832 authorized or that are prohibited by the terms of the trust; or 833        (d) Prohibit the trustee from performing acts that are 834 permitted or required by the terms of the trust.
 835        (3) In exercising discretion to modify a trust under this 836 section:
 837        (a) The court shall consider the terms and purposes of the 838 trust, the facts and circumstances surrounding the creation of 839 the trust, and extrinsic evidence relevant to the proposed
 840 modification.
 841        (b) The court shall consider spendthrift provisions as a 842 factor in making a decision but the court is not precluded from 843 modifying a trust because the trust contains spendthrift
 844 provisions.
 845        (4) The provisions of this section are in addition to, and 846 not in derogation of, rights under the common law to modify,
 847 amend, terminate, or revoke trusts.
 848        736.04115 Judicial modification of irrevocable trust when 849 modification is in best interest of beneficiaries.--
 850        (1) Without regard to the reasons for modification
 851 provided in s. 736.04113, if compliance with the terms of a 852 trust is not in the best interests of the beneficiaries, upon 853 the application of a trustee or any qualified beneficiary, a

HB 425 CS

2006
CS

854 court may at any time modify a trust that is not then revocable 855 as provided in s. 736.04113(2).

856 (2) In exercising discretion to modify a trust under this 857 section:

858 (a) The court shall exercise discretion in a manner that 859 conforms to the extent possible with the intent of the settlor, 860 taking into account the current circumstances and best interests
861 of the beneficiaries.

862 (b) The court shall consider the terms and purposes of the 863 trust, the facts and circumstances surrounding the creation of 864 the trust, and extrinsic evidence relevant to the proposed
865 modification.

866 (c) The court shall consider spendthrift provisions as a
867 factor in making a decision but the court is not precluded from 868 modifying a trust because the trust contains spendthrift
869 provisions.

870 (3) This section shall not apply to:

871 (a) Any trust created prior to January 1, 2001.

872 (b) Any trust created after December 31, 2000, if:

873 1. Under the terms of the trust, all beneficial interests
874 in the trust must vest or terminate within the period prescribed 875 by the rule against perpetuities in s. 689.225(2), 876 notwithstanding s. 689.225(2)(f).

877 2. The terms of the trust expressly prohibit judicial 878 modification.

879 (4) For purposes of subsection (3), a revocable trust
880 shall be treated as created when the right of revocation
881 terminates.

HB 425 CS

CS

(5) The provisions of this section are in addition to, and not in derogation of, rights under the common law to modify, amend, terminate, or revoke trusts.

736.0412 Nonjudicial modification of irrevocable trust.--

(1) After the settlor's death, a trust may be modified at any time as provided in s. 736.04113(2) upon the unanimous agreement of the trustee and all qualified beneficiaries.

(2) Modification of a trust as authorized in this section is not prohibited by a spendthrift clause or by a provision in the trust instrument that prohibits amendment or revocation of the trust.

(3) An agreement to modify a trust under this section is binding on a beneficiary whose interest is represented by another person under part III of this code.

(4) This section shall not apply to:

(a) Any trust created prior to January 1, 2001.

(b) Any trust created after December 31, 2000, if, under the terms of the trust, all beneficial interests in the trust must vest or terminate within the period prescribed by the rule against perpetuities in s. 689.225(2), notwithstanding s. 689.225(2)(f), unless the terms of the trust expressly authorize nonjudicial modification.

(c) Any trust for which a charitable deduction is allowed or allowable under the Internal Revenue Code until the termination of all charitable interests in the trust.

(5) For purposes of subsection (4), a revocable trust shall be treated as created when the right of revocation terminates.

HB 425 CS

2006
CS

910        (6) The provisions of this section are in addition to, and 911 not in derogation of, rights under the common law to modify,
912 amend, terminate, or revoke trusts.

913        736.0413 Cy pres.--

914        (1) If a particular charitable purpose becomes unlawful, 915 impracticable, impossible to achieve, or wasteful, the court may 916 apply the doctrine of cy pres to modify or terminate the trust
917 by directing that the trust property be applied or distributed, 918 in whole or in part, in a manner consistent with the settlor's
919 charitable purposes.

920        (2) A proceeding to modify or terminate a trust under this 921 section may be commenced by a settlor, a trustee, or any 922 qualified beneficiary.

923        736.0414 Modification or termination of uneconomic
924 trust.--

925        (1) After notice to the qualified beneficiaries, the 926 trustee of a trust consisting of trust property having a total
927 value less than $50,000 may terminate the trust if the trustee
928 concludes that the value of the trust property is insufficient
929 to justify the cost of administration.

930        (2) Upon application of a trustee or any qualified 931 beneficiary, the court may modify or terminate a trust or remove 932 the trustee and appoint a different trustee if the court
933 determines that the value of the trust property is insufficient
934 to justify the cost of administration.

935        (3) Upon termination of a trust under this section, the 936 trustee shall distribute the trust property in a manner
937 consistent with the purposes of the trust. The trustee may enter

HB 425 CS

2006
CS

938 into agreements or make such other provisions that the trustee 939 deems necessary or appropriate to protect the interests of the 940 beneficiaries and the trustee and to carry out the intent and 941 purposes of the trust.

942 (4) The existence of a spendthrift provision in the trust
943 does not make this section inapplicable unless the trust
944 instrument expressly provides that the trustee may not terminate 945 the trust pursuant to this section.

946 (5) This section does not apply to an easement for 947 conservation or preservation.

948 736.0415 Reformation to correct mistakes.--Upon 949 application of a settlor or any interested person, the court may 950 reform the terms of a trust, even if unambiguous, to conform the 951 terms to the settlor's intent if it is proved by clear and 952 convincing evidence that both the accomplishment of the 953 settlor's intent and the terms of the trust were affected by a 954 mistake of fact or law, whether in expression or inducement. In 955 determining the settlor's original intent, the court may 956 consider evidence relevant to the settlor's intent even though 957 the evidence contradicts an apparent plain meaning of the trust
958 instrument.

959 736.0416 Modification to achieve settlor's tax
960 objectives.--Upon application of any interested person, to 961 achieve the settlor's tax objectives the court may modify the 962 terms of a trust in a manner that is not contrary to the 963 settlor's probable intent. The court may provide that the 964 modification has retroactive effect.

965 736.0417 Combination and division of trusts.--

HB 425 CS

2006
CS

966       (1) After notice to the qualified beneficiaries, a trustee
967 may combine two or more trusts into a single trust or divide a 968 trust into two or more separate trusts, if the result does not 969 impair rights of any beneficiary or adversely affect achievement
970 of the purposes of the trusts or trust, respectively.

971       (2) Subject to the terms of the trust, the trustee may 972 take into consideration differences in federal tax attributes
973 and other pertinent factors in administering the trust property
974 of any separate account or trust, in making applicable tax
975 elections, and in making distributions. A separate trust created 976 by severance must be treated as a separate trust for all 977 purposes from the date on which the severance is effective. The 978 effective date of the severance may be retroactive to a date
979 before the date on which the trustee exercises such power.

980       Section 5. Part V of chapter 736, Florida Statutes,
981 consisting of sections 736.0501, 736.0502, 736.0503, 736.0504, 982 736.0505, 736.05053, 736.05055, 736.0506, and 736.0507, is 983 created to read:

984
985                   PART V

986           CREDITORS' CLAIMS; SPENDTHRIFT AND DISCRETIONARY TRUSTS
987

988       736.0501 Rights of beneficiary's creditor or assignee.--To 989 the extent a beneficiary's interest is not subject to a 990 spendthrift provision, the court may authorize a creditor or 991 assignee of the beneficiary to reach the beneficiary's interest 992 by attachment of present or future distributions to or for the 993 benefit of the beneficiary or by other means. The court may limit the award to such relief as is appropriate under the circumstances.

HB 425 CS

2006
CS

736.0502 Spendthrift provision.--

(1) A spendthrift provision is valid only if the provision restrains both voluntary and involuntary transfer of a beneficiary's interest. This subsection does not apply to any trust in existence on the effective date of this code.

(2) A term of a trust providing that the interest of a beneficiary is held subject to a spendthrift trust, or words of similar import, is sufficient to restrain both voluntary and involuntary transfer of the beneficiary's interest.

(3) A beneficiary may not transfer an interest in a trust in violation of a valid spendthrift provision and, except as otherwise provided in this part, a creditor or assignee of the beneficiary may not reach the interest or a distribution by the trustee before receipt of the interest or distribution by the beneficiary.

(4) A valid spendthrift provision does not prevent the appointment of interests through the exercise of a power of appointment.

736.0503 Exceptions to spendthrift provision.--

(1) As used in this section, the term "child" includes any person for whom an order or judgment for child support has been entered in this or any other state.

(2) To the extent provided in subsection (3), a spendthrift provision is unenforceable against:

HB 425 CS

2006
CS

(a) A beneficiary's child, spouse, or former spouse who has a judgment or court order against the beneficiary for support or maintenance.

(b) A judgment creditor who has provided services for the protection of a beneficiary's interest in the trust.

(c) A claim of this state or the United States to the extent a law of this state or a federal law so provides.

(3) Except as otherwise provided in this subsection, a claimant against which a spendthrift provision may not be enforced may obtain from a court, or pursuant to the Uniform Interstate Family Support Act, an order attaching present or future distributions to or for the benefit of the beneficiary. The court may limit the award to such relief as is appropriate under the circumstances. Notwithstanding this subsection, the remedies provided in this subsection apply to a claim by a beneficiary's child, spouse, former spouse, or a judgment creditor described in paragraph (2) (a) or paragraph (2) (b) only as a last resort upon an initial showing that traditional methods of enforcing the claim are insufficient.

736.0504 Discretionary trusts; effect of standard.--

(1) Whether or not a trust contains a spendthrift provision, a creditor of a beneficiary may not compel a distribution that is subject to the trustee's discretion, even if:

(a) The discretion is expressed in the form of a standard of distribution; or

(b) The trustee has abused the discretion.

HB 425 CS

2006
CS

(2) If the trustee's discretion to make distributions for the trustee's own benefit is limited by an ascertainable standard, a creditor may not reach or compel distribution of the beneficial interest except to the extent the interest would be subject to the creditor's claim were the beneficiary not acting as trustee.

(3) This section does not limit the right of a beneficiary to maintain a judicial proceeding against a trustee for an abuse of discretion or failure to comply with a standard for distribution.

736.0505 Creditors' claims against settlor.--

(1) Whether or not the terms of a trust contain a spendthrift provision, the following rules apply:

(a) The property of a revocable trust is subject to the claims of the settlor's creditors during the settlor's lifetime to the extent the property would not otherwise be exempt by law if owned directly by the settlor.

(b) With respect to an irrevocable trust, a creditor or assignee of the settlor may reach the maximum amount that can be distributed to or for the settlor's benefit. If a trust has more than one settlor, the amount the creditor or assignee of a particular settlor may reach may not exceed the settlor's interest in the portion of the trust attributable to that settlor's contribution.

(c) Notwithstanding paragraph (b), the assets of an irrevocable trust shall not be subject to the claims of an existing or subsequent creditor or assignee of the settlor, in whole or in part, solely because of the existence of a discretionary power granted to the trustee by the terms of the trust or any other provision of law to pay directly to the taxing authorities or to reimburse the settlor for any tax on trust income or principal that is payable by the settlor under the law imposing such tax.

2006
CS

(2) For purposes of this section:

(a) During the period the power may be exercised, the holder of a power of withdrawal is treated in the same manner as the settlor of a revocable trust to the extent of the property subject to the power.

(b) Upon the lapse, release, or waiver of the power, the holder is treated as the settlor of the trust only to the extent the value of the property affected by the lapse, release, or waiver exceeds the greater of the amount specified in:

1. Section 2041(b) (2) or s. 2514(e); or
2. Section 2503(b), of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986, as amended.

736.05053 Trustee's duty to pay expenses and obligations of settlor's estate.--

(1) A trustee of a trust described in s. 733.707(3) shall pay to the personal representative of a settlor's estate any amounts that the personal representative certifies in writing to the trustee are required to pay the expenses of the administration and obligations of the settlor's estate. Payments made by a trustee, unless otherwise provided in the trust instrument, must be charged as expenses of the trust without a contribution from anyone. The interests of all beneficiaries of

HB 425 CS

2006
CS

1103 such a trust are subject to the provisions of this subsection;
1104 however, the payments must be made from assets, property, or the 1105 proceeds of the assets or property, other than assets proscribed
1106 in s. 733.707(3), that are included in the settlor's gross
1107 estate for federal estate tax purposes.

1108 (2) Unless a settlor provides by will, or designates in a 1109 trust described in s. 733.707(3) funds or property passing under 1110 the trust to be used as designated, the expenses of the 1111 administration and obligations of the settlor's estate must be 1112 paid from the trust in the following order:

1113 (a) Property of the residue of the trust remaining after 1114 all distributions that are to be satisfied by reference to a 1115 specific property or type of property, fund, or sum.

1116 (b) Property that is not to be distributed from specified 1117 or identified property or a specified or identified item of 1118 property.

1119 (c) Property that is to be distributed from specified or 1120 identified property or a specified or identified item of 1121 property.

1122 (3) Trust distributions that are to be satisfied from 1123 specified or identified property must be classed as 1124 distributions to be satisfied from the general assets of the 1125 trust and not otherwise disposed of in the trust instrument on 1126 the failure or insufficiency of funds or property from which 1127 payment should be made, to the extent of the insufficiency.
1128 Trust distributions given for valuable consideration abate with 1129 other distributions of the same class only to the extent of the 1130 excess over the value of the consideration until all others of

HB 425 CS

2006
CS

1131 the same class are exhausted. Except as provided in this 1132 section, trust distributions abate equally and ratably and 1133 without preference or priority between real and personal 1134 property. When a specified or identified item of property that 1135 has been designated for distribution in the trust instrument or 1136 that is charged with a distribution is sold or taken by the 1137 trustee, other beneficiaries shall contribute according to their 1138 respective interests to the beneficiary whose property has been 1139 sold or taken. Before distribution, the trustee shall determine 1140 the amounts of the respective contributions and such amounts 1141 must be paid or withheld before distribution is made.

1142 (4) The trustee shall pay the expenses of trust
1143 administration, including compensation of trustees and attorneys 1144 of the trustees, before and in preference to the expenses of the 1145 administration and obligations of the settlor's estate.

1146 736.05055 Notice of trust.--

1147 (1) Upon the death of a settlor of a trust described in s.
1148 733.707(3), the trustee must file a notice of trust with the 1149 court of the county of the settlor's domicile and the court
1150 having jurisdiction of the settlor's estate.

1151 (2) The notice of trust must contain the name of the 1152 settlor, the settlor's date of death, the title of the trust, if 1153 any, the date of the trust, and the name and address of the 1154 trustee.

1155 (3) If the settlor's probate proceeding has been 1156 commenced, the clerk shall notify the trustee in writing of the 1157 date of the commencement of the probate proceeding and the file 1158 number.

HB 425 CS

2006
CS

1159       (4) The clerk shall file and index the notice of trust in 1160 the same manner as a caveat unless there exists a probate 1161 proceeding for the settlor's estate, in which case the notice of 1162 trust must be filed in the probate proceeding and the clerk
1163 shall send a copy to the personal representative.

1164       (5) The clerk shall send a copy of any caveat filed 1165 regarding the settlor to the trustee, and the notice of trust to 1166 any caveator, unless there is a probate proceeding pending and 1167 the personal representative and the trustee are the same.

1168       (6) Any proceeding affecting the expenses of the 1169 administration or obligations of the settlor's estate prior to 1170 the trustee filing a notice of trust are binding on the trustee.

1171       (7) The trustee's failure to file the notice of trust does 1172 not affect the trustee's obligation to pay expenses of 1173 administration and obligations of the settlor's estate as 1174 provided in s. 733.607(2).

1175       736.0506 Overdue distribution.--

1176       (1) As used in this section, the term "mandatory 1177 distribution" means a distribution of income or principal the 1178 trustee is required to make to a beneficiary under the terms of 1179 the trust, including a distribution on termination of the trust.
1180 The term does not include a distribution subject to the exercise 1181 of the trustee's discretion even if:

1182       (a) The discretion is expressed in the form of a standard 1183 of distribution; or

1184       (b) The terms of the trust authorizing a distribution
1185 couple language of discretion with language of direction.

HB 425 CS

2006
CS

1186        (2) A creditor or assignee of a beneficiary may reach a 1187 mandatory distribution of income or principal, including a 1188 distribution upon termination of the trust, if the trustee has 1189 not made the distribution to the beneficiary within a reasonable 1190 time after the designated distribution date, whether or not a 1191 trust contains a spendthrift provision.

1192        736.0507 Personal obligations of trustee.--Except to the 1193 extent of the trustee's interest in the trust other than as a 1194 trustee, trust property is not subject to personal obligations 1195 of the trustee, even if the trustee becomes insolvent or 1196 bankrupt.

1197        Section 6. Part VI of chapter 736, Florida Statutes, 1198 consisting of sections 736.0601, 736.0602, 736.0603, and 1199 736.0604, is created to read:

1205 capacity required to create, amend, revoke, or add property to a 1206 revocable trust, or to direct the actions of the trustee of a 1207 revocable trust, is the same as that required to make a will.

1208        736.0602 Revocation or amendment of revocable trust.--

1209        (1) Unless the terms of a trust expressly provide that the 1210 trust is irrevocable, the settlor may revoke or amend the trust.
1211 This subsection does not apply to a trust created under an 1212 instrument executed before the effective date of this code.

HB 425 CS

(c) Upon the revocation or amendment of the trust by fewer than all of the settlors, the trustee shall promptly notify the other settlors of the revocation or amendment.

(3) Subject to s. 736.0403(2), the settlor may revoke or amend a revocable trust:

(a) By substantial compliance with a method provided in the terms of the trust; or

(b) If the terms of the trust do not provide a method, by:

736.0603 Settlor's powers; powers of withdrawal.--

(1) While a trust is revocable, the duties of the trustee are owed exclusively to the settlor.

(2) During the period the power may be exercised, the holder of a power of withdrawal has the rights of a settlor of a revocable trust under this section to the extent of the property subject to the power.

736.0604 Limitation on action contesting validity of revocable trust.--An action to contest the validity of a trust that was revocable at the settlor's death is barred, if not commenced within the earlier of:

(1) The time as provided in chapter 95; or

1297 trustee's duties only if the court finds that a bond is needed 1298 to protect the interests of the beneficiaries or is required by 1300 requirement.

1301       (2) The court may specify the amount of a bond, the 1342 does not exist;

1343 (c) A trustee resigns;

1344 (d) A trustee is disqualified or removed;

1345 (e) A trustee dies; or

1346 (f) A trustee is adjudicated to be incapacitated.

1347 (2) If one or more cotrustees remain in office, a vacancy
1348 in a trusteeship need not be filled. A vacancy in a trusteeship 1349 must be filled if the trust has no remaining trustee.

HB 425 CS

2006
CS

(3) A vacancy in a trusteeship of a noncharitable trust that is required to be filled must be filled in the following order of priority:

(a) By a person named or designated pursuant to the terms of the trust to act as successor trustee.

(b) By a person appointed by unanimous agreement of the qualified beneficiaries.

(c) By a person appointed by the court.

(4) A vacancy in a trusteeship of a charitable trust that is required to be filled must be filled in the following order of priority:

(b) By a person selected by unanimous agreement of the charitable organizations expressly designated to receive distributions under the terms of the trust.

(c) By a person appointed by the court.

(5) The court may appoint an additional trustee or special fiduciary whenever the court considers the appointment necessary for the administration of the trust, whether or not a vacancy in a trusteeship exists or is required to be filled.

736.0705 Resignation of trustee.--

(1) A trustee may resign:

(a) Upon at least 30 days' notice to the qualified beneficiaries, the settlor, if living, and all cotrustees; or

(b) With the approval of the court.

HB 425 CS

2006
CS

(2) In approving a resignation, the court may issue orders and impose conditions reasonably necessary for the protection of the trust property.

(3) Any liability of a resigning trustee or of any sureties on the trustee's bond for acts or omissions of the trustee is not discharged or affected by the trustee's resignation.

736.0706 Removal of trustee.--

(1) The settlor, a cotrustee, or a beneficiary may request the court to remove a trustee or a trustee may be removed by the court on the court's own initiative.

(2) The court may remove a trustee if:

(a) The trustee has committed a serious breach of trust;

(b) The lack of cooperation among cotrustees substantially impairs the administration of the trust;

(c) Due to the unfitness, unwillingness, or persistent failure of the trustee to administer the trust effectively, the court determines that removal of the trustee best serves the interests of the beneficiaries; or

(d) There has been a substantial change of circumstances or removal is requested by all of the qualified beneficiaries, the court finds that removal of the trustee best serves the interests of all of the beneficiaries and is not inconsistent with a material purpose of the trust, and a suitable cotrustee or successor trustee is available.

(3) Pending a final decision on a request to remove a trustee, or in lieu of or in addition to removing a trustee, the court may order such appropriate relief under s. 736.1001(2) as may be necessary to protect the trust property or the interests of the beneficiaries.

HB 425 CS

736.0707 Delivery of property by former trustee.--

(1) Unless a cotrustee remains in office or the court otherwise orders and until the trust property is delivered to a successor trustee or other person entitled to the property, a trustee who has resigned or been removed has the duties of a trustee and the powers necessary to protect the trust property.

(2) A trustee who has resigned or been removed shall within a reasonable time deliver the trust property within the trustee's possession to the cotrustee, successor trustee, or other person entitled to the property, subject to the right of the trustee to retain a reasonable reserve for the payment of debts, expenses, and taxes. The provisions of this subsection are in addition to and are not in derogation of the rights of a removed or resigning trustee under the common law.

736.0708 Compensation of trustee.--

(1) If the terms of a trust do not specify the trustee's compensation, a trustee is entitled to compensation that is reasonable under the circumstances.

(2) If the terms of a trust specify the trustee's compensation, the trustee is entitled to be compensated as specified but the court may allow more or less compensation if:

(a) The duties of the trustee are substantially different from those contemplated when the trust was created; or

(b) The compensation specified by the terms of the trust would be unreasonably low or high.

HB 425 CS

2006
CS

(3) If the trustee has rendered other services in connection with the administration of the trust, the trustee shall also be allowed reasonable compensation for the other services rendered in addition to reasonable compensation as trustee.

736.0709 Reimbursement of expenses.--

(1) A trustee is entitled to be reimbursed out of the trust property, with interest as appropriate, for reasonable expenses that were properly incurred in the administration of the trust.

(2) An advance by the trustee of money for the protection of the trust gives rise to a lien against trust property to secure reimbursement with reasonable interest.

DUTIES AND POWERS OF TRUSTEE

736.0801 Duty to administer trust.--Upon acceptance of a trusteeship, the trustee shall administer the trust in good faith, in accordance with its terms and purposes and the interests of the beneficiaries, and in accordance with this code.

HB 425 CS

2006
CS

736.0802 Duty of loyalty.--

(1) As between a trustee and the beneficiaries, a trustee shall administer the trust solely in the interests of the beneficiaries.

(2) Subject to the rights of persons dealing with or assisting the trustee as provided in s. 736.1016, a sale, encumbrance, or other transaction involving the investment or management of trust property entered into by the trustee for the trustee's own personal account or which is otherwise affected by a conflict between the trustee's fiduciary and personal interests is voidable by a beneficiary affected by the transaction unless:

(a) The transaction was authorized by the terms of the trust;

(b) The transaction was approved by the court;

(c) The beneficiary did not commence a judicial proceeding within the time allowed by s. 736.1008;

(d) The beneficiary consented to the trustee's conduct, ratified the transaction, or released the trustee in compliance with s. 736.1012;

(f) The transaction was consented to in writing by a settlor of the trust while the trust was revocable.

(3) A sale, encumbrance, or other transaction involving the investment or management of trust property is presumed to be affected by a conflict between personal and fiduciary interests

HB 425 CS

2006
CS

1487 if the sale, encumbrance, or other transaction is entered into 1488 by the trustee with:

1489 (a) The trustee's spouse;
 1490 (b) The trustee's descendants, siblings, parents, or their 1491 spouses;
 1492 (c) An officer, director, employee, agent, or attorney of 1493 the trustee; or 1494 (d) A corporation or other person or enterprise in which 1495 the trustee, or a person that owns a significant interest in the 1496 trustee, has an interest that might affect the trustee's best 1497 judgment.

1498 (4) A transaction not concerning trust property in which 1499 the trustee engages in the trustee's individual capacity 1500 involves a conflict between personal and fiduciary interests if 1501 the transaction concerns an opportunity properly belonging to 1502 the trust.

1503 (5) (a) An investment by a trustee authorized by lawful 1504 authority to engage in trust business, as defined in s.
 1505 658.12(20), in investment instruments, as defined in s.
 1506 660.25(6), that are owned or controlled by the trustee or its 1507 affiliate, or from which the trustee or its affiliate receives 1508 compensation for providing services in a capacity other than as 1509 trustee, is not presumed to be affected by a conflict between 1510 personal and fiduciary interests provided the investment
 1511 otherwise complies with chapters 518 and 660 and the trustee
 1512 complies with the disclosure requirements of this subsection.

1513 (b) A trustee who invests trust funds in investment 1514 instruments that are owned or controlled by the trustee or its

HB 425 CS

2006
CS

1515 affiliate shall disclose the following to all qualified
1516 beneficiaries:

1517 1. Notice that the trustee has invested trust funds in 1518 investment instruments owned or controlled by the trustee or its 1519 affiliate.

1520 2. The identity of the investment instruments.

1521 3. The identity and relationship to the trustee of any 1522 affiliate that owns or controls the investment instruments.

1523 (c) A trustee who invests trust funds in investment
1524 instruments with respect to which the trustee or its affiliate 1525 receives compensation for providing services in a capacity other 1526 than as trustee shall disclose to all qualified beneficiaries 1527 the nature of the services provided by the trustee or its 1528 affiliate and all compensation, including, but not limited to, 1529 fees or commissions, paid or to be paid by the account and 1530 received or to be received by an affiliate arising from such 1531 affiliated investment.

1532 (d) Disclosure required by this subsection shall be made
1533 at least annually unless there has been no change in the method
1534 or increase in the rate at which such compensation is calculated 1535 since the most recent disclosure. The disclosure may be given in 1536 a trust disclosure document as defined in s. 736.1008, in a copy 1537 of the prospectus for the investment instrument, in any other 1538 written disclosure prepared for the investment instrument under 1539 applicable federal or state law, or in a written summary that 1540 includes all compensation received or to be received by the 1541 trustee and any affiliate of the trustee and an explanation of the manner in which such compensation is calculated, either as a percentage of the assets invested or by some other method.

(e) This subsection shall apply as follows:

1. This subsection does not apply to qualified investment instruments or to a trust for which a right of revocation exists.

2. For investment instruments other than qualified investment instruments, paragraphs (a), (b), (c), and (d) shall apply to irrevocable trusts created on or after July 1, 2007, that expressly authorize the trustee, by specific reference to this subsection, to invest in investment instruments owned or controlled by the trustee or its affiliate.

3. For investment instruments other than qualified investment instruments, paragraphs (a), (b), (c), and (d) shall apply to irrevocable trusts not described in subparagraph 2. only as follows:

a. Such paragraphs shall not apply until 60 days after the statement required in paragraph (f) is provided and no objection is made or any objection which is made has been terminated.

(I) An objection is made if, within 60 days after the date of the statement required in paragraph (f), a super majority of the eligible beneficiaries deliver to the trustee written objections to the application of this subsection to such trust. An objection shall be deemed to be delivered to the trustee on the date the objection is mailed to the mailing address listed in the notice provided in paragraph (f).

(II) An objection is terminated upon the earlier of the receipt of consent from a super majority of eligible

HB 425 CS

2006
CS

1570 beneficiaries of the class that made the objection or the 1571 resolution of the objection pursuant to this subparagraph.

1572 (III) If an objection is delivered to the trustee, the 1573 trustee may petition the court for an order overruling the 1574 objection and authorizing the trustee to make investments under 1575 this subsection. The burden shall be on the trustee to show good 1576 cause for the relief sought.

1577 (IV) Any qualified beneficiary may petition the court for 1578 an order to prohibit, limit, or restrict a trustee's authority 1579 to make investments under this subsection. The burden shall be 1580 upon the petitioning beneficiary to show good cause for the 1581 relief sought.

1582 (V) The court may award costs and attorney's fees relating 1583 to any petition under this subparagraph in the same manner as in 1584 chancery actions. When costs and attorney's fees are to be paid 1585 out of the trust, the court, in its discretion, may direct from 1586 which part of the trust such costs and fees shall be paid.

1587 b. The objection of a super majority of eligible 1588 beneficiaries under this subparagraph may thereafter be removed 1589 by the written consent of a super majority of the class or 1590 classes of those eligible beneficiaries that made the objection.

1591 (f)1. Any time prior to initially investing in any 1592 investment instrument described in this subsection other than a 1593 qualified investment instrument, the trustee of a trust
1594 described in subparagraph (e)3. shall provide to all qualified 1595 beneficiaries a statement containing the following:

HB 425 CS

2006

a. The name, telephone number, street address, and mailing address of the trustee and of any individuals who may be contacted for further information.

b. A statement that, unless a super majority of the eligible beneficiaries objects to the application of this subsection to the trust within 60 days after the date the statement pursuant to this subsection was delivered, this subsection shall apply to the trust.

c. A statement that, if this subsection applies to the trust, the trustee will have the right to make investments in investment instruments, as defined in s. 660.25(6), that are owned or controlled by the trustee or its affiliate, or from which the trustee or its affiliate receives compensation for providing services in a capacity other than as trustee, and that the trustee or its affiliate may receive fees in addition to the trustee's compensation for administering the trust.

A statement by the trustee is not delivered if the statement is accompanied by another written communication other than a written communication by the trustee that refers only to the statement.

2. For purposes of paragraph (e) and this paragraph:

a. "Eligible beneficiaries" means:

(I) If at the time the determination is made there are one or more beneficiaries as described in s. 736.0103(14)(c), the beneficiaries described in s. 736.0103(14)(a) and (c); or

HB 425 CS

2006
CS

1622        (II) If there is no beneficiary described in s.
1623        736.0103(14)(c), the beneficiaries described in s.
1624        736.0103(14)(a) and (b).

1625        b. "Super majority of the eligible beneficiaries" means:
1626        (I) If at the time the determination is made there are one 1627        or more beneficiaries as described in s. 736.0103(14)(c), at 1628        least two-thirds in interest of the beneficiaries described in 1629        s. 736.0103(14)(a) or two-thirds in interest of the 1630        beneficiaries described in s. 736.0103(14)(c), if the interests 1631        of the beneficiaries are reasonably ascertainable; otherwise, 1632        two-thirds in number of either such class; or 1633        (II) If there is no beneficiary as described in s.

1634        736.0103(14)(c), at least two-thirds in interest of the 1635        beneficiaries described in s. 736.0103(14)(a) or two-thirds in 1636        interest of the beneficiaries described in s. 736.0103(14)(b), 1637        if the interests of the beneficiaries are reasonably 1638        ascertainable; otherwise, two-thirds in number of either such 1639        class.

1640        c. "Qualified investment instrument" means a mutual fund, 1641        common trust fund, or money market fund described in and 1642        governed by s. 736.0816(3).

1643        d. An irrevocable trust is created upon execution of the 1644        trust instrument. If a trust that was revocable when created 1645        thereafter becomes irrevocable, the irrevocable trust is created 1646        when the right of revocation terminates.

1647        (g) Nothing in this chapter is intended to create or imply 1648        a duty for the trustee to seek the application of this 1649        subsection to invest in investment instruments described in

HB 425 CS

2006
CS

1650 paragraph (a), and no inference of impropriety shall be made as 1651 a result of a trustee electing not to invest trust assets in 1652 investment instruments described in paragraph (a).

1653 (6) In voting shares of stock or in exercising powers of 1654 control over similar interests in other forms of enterprise, the 1655 trustee shall act in the best interests of the beneficiaries. If 1656 the trust is the sole owner of a corporation or other form of 1657 enterprise, the trustee shall elect or appoint directors or 1658 other managers who will manage the corporation or enterprise in 1659 the best interests of the beneficiaries.

1660 (7) This section does not preclude the following
1661 transactions, if fair to the beneficiaries:

1662 (a) An agreement between a trustee and a beneficiary
1663 relating to the appointment or compensation of the trustee;

1664 (b) A payment of reasonable compensation to the trustee;

1665 (c) A transaction between a trust and another trust, the 1666 decedent's estate, or a guardian of the property of which the 1667 trustee is a fiduciary or in which a beneficiary has an 1668 interest;

1669 (d) A deposit of trust money in a regulated financial-1670 service institution operated by the trustee; or

1671 (e) An advance by the trustee of money for the protection
1672 of the trust.

1673 (8) This section does not preclude the employment of 1674 persons, including, but not limited to, attorneys, accountants, 1675 investment advisers, or agents, even if they are the trustee, an 1676 affiliate of the trustee, or otherwise associated with the 1677 trustee, to advise or assist the trustee in the exercise of any

HB 425 CS

2006
CS

1678 of the trustee's powers and to pay reasonable compensation and 1679 costs incurred in connection with such employment from the 1680 assets of the trust; to act without independent investigation on 1681 their recommendations; and, instead of acting personally, to 1682 employ one or more agents to perform any act of administration, 1683 whether or not discretionary.

1684 (9) The court may appoint a special fiduciary to act with 1685 respect to any proposed transaction that might violate this 1686 section if entered into by the trustee.

1687 (10) Payment of costs or attorney's fees incurred in any 1688 trust proceeding from the assets of the trust may be made by the 1689 trustee without the approval of any person and without court
1690 authorization, except that court authorization shall be required 1691 if an action has been filed or defense asserted against the 1692 trustee based upon a breach of trust. Court authorization is not 1693 required if the action or defense is later withdrawn or 1694 dismissed by the party that is alleging a breach of trust or 1695 resolved without a determination by the court that the trustee 1696 has committed a breach of trust.

1697 736.0803 Impartiality.--If a trust has two or more 1698 beneficiaries, the trustee shall act impartially in 1699 administering the trust property, giving due regard to the 1700 beneficiaries' respective interests.

1701 736.0804 Prudent administration.--A trustee shall 1702 administer the trust as a prudent person would, by considering 1703 the purposes, terms, distribution requirements, and other 1704 circumstances of the trust. In satisfying this standard, the 1705 trustee shall exercise reasonable care, skill, and caution.

HB 425 CS

2006
CS

1706        736.0805 Expenses of administration.--In administering a 1707 trust, the trustee shall only incur expenses that are reasonable 1708 in relation to the trust property, the purposes of the trust, 1709 and the skills of the trustee.

1710        736.0806 Trustee's skills.--A trustee who has special 1711 skills or expertise, or is named trustee in reliance on the 1712 trustee's representation that the trustee has special skills or 1713 expertise, shall use those special skills or expertise.

1714        736.0807 Delegation by trustee.--

1715        (1) A trustee may delegate duties and powers that a 1716 prudent trustee of comparable skills could properly delegate
1717 under the circumstances. The trustee shall exercise reasonable 1718 care, skill, and caution in:

1719        (a) Selecting an agent.

1720        (b) Establishing the scope and terms of the delegation, 1721 consistent with the purposes and terms of the trust.

1722        (c) Reviewing the agent's actions periodically, in order
1723 to monitor the agent's performance and compliance with the terms 1724 of the delegation.

1725        (2) In performing a delegated function, an agent owes a 1726 duty to the trust to exercise reasonable care to comply with the 1727 terms of the delegation.

1728        (3) A trustee who complies with subsection (1) is not 1729 liable to the beneficiaries or to the trust for an action of the 1730 agent to whom the function was delegated.

1731        (4) By accepting a delegation of powers or duties from the 1732 trustee of a trust that is subject to the law of this state, an 1733 agent submits to the jurisdiction of the courts of this state.

HB 425 CS

736.0808 Powers to direct.--

(1) Subject to ss. 736.0403(2) and 736.0602(3)(a), the trustee may follow a direction of the settlor that is contrary to the terms of the trust while a trust is revocable.

(2) If the terms of a trust confer on a person other than the settlor of a revocable trust, the power to direct certain actions of the trustee, the trustee shall act in accordance with an exercise of the power unless the attempted exercise is manifestly contrary to the terms of the trust or the trustee knows the attempted exercise would constitute a serious breach of a fiduciary duty that the person holding the power owes to the beneficiaries of the trust.

(3) The terms of a trust may confer on a trustee or other person a power to direct the modification or termination of the trust.

(4) A person, other than a beneficiary, who holds a power to direct is presumptively a fiduciary who, as such, is required to act in good faith with regard to the purposes of the trust and the interests of the beneficiaries. The holder of a power to direct is liable for any loss that results from breach of a fiduciary duty.

736.0809 Control and protection of trust property.--A trustee shall take reasonable steps to take control of and protect the trust property.

736.0810 Recordkeeping and identification of trust property.--

(1) A trustee shall keep clear, distinct, and accurate records of the administration of the trust.

HB 425 CS

2006
CS

1762        (2) A trustee shall keep trust property separate from the 1763 trustee's own property.

1764        (3) Except as otherwise provided in subsection (4), a 1765 trustee shall cause the trust property to be designated so that 1766 the interest of the trust, to the extent feasible, appears in 1767 records maintained by a party other than a trustee or 1768 beneficiary.

1769        (4) If the trustee maintains records clearly indicating 1770 the respective interests, a trustee may invest as a whole the 1771 property of two or more separate trusts.

1772        736.08105 Duty to ascertain marketable title of trust real 1773 property.--A trustee holding title to real property received 1774 from a settlor or estate shall not be required to obtain title 1775 insurance or proof of marketable title until a marketable title
1776 is required for a sale or conveyance of the real property.

1777        736.0811 Enforcement and defense of claims.--A trustee 1778 shall take reasonable steps to enforce claims of the trust and 1779 to defend claims against the trust.

1780        736.0812 Collecting trust property.--A trustee shall take 1781 reasonable steps to compel a former trustee or other person to 1782 deliver trust property to the trustee and, except as provided in 1783 s. 736.08125, to redress a breach of trust known to the trustee 1784 to have been committed by a former trustee.

1785        736.08125 Protection of successor trustees.--

1786        (1) A successor trustee is not personally liable for 1787 actions taken by any prior trustee, nor does any successor 1788 trustee have a duty to institute any proceeding against any 1789 prior trustee, or file any claim against any prior trustee's

1790 estate, for any of the prior trustee's actions as trustee under 1791 any of the following circumstances:

1792 (a) As to a successor trustee who succeeds a trustee who 1793 was also the settlor of a trust that was revocable during the 1794 time that the settlor served as trustee;

1795 (b) As to any beneficiary who has waived any accounting 1796 required by s. 736.0813, but only as to the periods included in 1797 the waiver;

1798 (c) As to any beneficiary who has released the successor
1799 trustee from the duty to institute any proceeding or file any 1800 claim;

1801 (d) As to any person who is not an eligible beneficiary;
1802 or

1803 (e) As to any eligible beneficiary:

1804 1. If a supermajority of the eligible beneficiaries have 1810 successor trustee has notified the eligible beneficiary in 1811 writing of acceptance by the successor trustee in accordance 1812 with 736.0813(1) (a) and that writing advises the beneficiary 1813 that, unless the beneficiary delivers the written request within

HB 425 CS

2006
CS

1845        (b) Within 60 days after the date the trustee acquires
1846 knowledge of the creation of an irrevocable trust, or the date
1847 the trustee acquires knowledge that a formerly revocable trust 1848 has become irrevocable, whether by the death of the settlor or 1849 otherwise, the trustee shall give notice to the qualified 1850 beneficiaries of the trust's existence, the identity of the 1851 settlor or settlors, the right to request a copy of the trust
1852 instrument, and the right to accountings under this section.

1853        (c) Upon reasonable request, the trustee shall provide a 1854 qualified beneficiary with a complete copy of the trust
1855 instrument.

1856        (d) A trustee of an irrevocable trust shall provide a 1857 trust accounting, as set forth in s. 736.08135, to each 1858 qualified beneficiary annually and on termination of the trust
1859 or on change of the trustee.

1860        (e) Upon reasonable request, the trustee shall provide a 1861 qualified beneficiary with relevant information about the assets 1862 and liabilities of the trust and the particulars relating to 1863 administration.

1864
1865 Paragraphs (a) and (b) do not apply to an irrevocable trust
1866 created before the effective date of this code, or to a 1867 revocable trust that becomes irrevocable before the effective 1868 date of this code. Paragraph (a) does not apply to a trustee who 1869 accepts a trusteeship before the effective date of this code.

1870        (2) A qualified beneficiary may waive the trustee's duty 1871 to account under paragraph (1) (d). A qualified beneficiary may 1872 withdraw a waiver previously given. Waivers and withdrawals of prior waivers under this subsection must be in writing.

HB 425 CS

2006
CS

Withdrawals of prior waivers are effective only with respect to accountings for future periods.

(3) The representation provisions of part III apply with respect to all rights of a qualified beneficiary under this section.

(4) As provided in s. 736.0603(1), the trustee's duties under this section extend only to the settlor while a trust is revocable.

(5) This section applies to trust accountings rendered for accounting periods beginning on or after January 1, 2008.

736.08135 Trust accountings.--

(1) A trust accounting must be a reasonably understandable report from the date of the last accounting or, if none, from the date on which the trustee became accountable, that adequately discloses the information required in subsection (2).

(2)(a) The accounting must begin with a statement identifying the trust, the trustee furnishing the accounting, and the time period covered by the accounting.

(b) The accounting must show all cash and property transactions and all significant transactions affecting administration during the accounting period, including compensation paid to the trustee and the trustee's agents. Gains and losses realized during the accounting period and all receipts and disbursements must be shown.

(c) To the extent feasible, the accounting must identify and value trust assets on hand at the close of the accounting period. For each asset or class of assets reasonably capable of valuation, the accounting shall contain two values, the asset acquisition value or carrying value and the estimated current value. The accounting must identify each known noncontingent liability with an estimated current amount of the liability if known.

HB 425 CS

2006

(d) To the extent feasible, the accounting must show significant transactions that do not affect the amount for which the trustee is accountable, including name changes in investment holdings, adjustments to carrying value, a change of custodial institutions, and stock splits.

(e) The accounting must reflect the allocation of receipts, disbursements, accruals, or allowances between income and principal when the allocation affects the interest of any beneficiary of the trust.

(f) The trustee shall include in the final accounting a plan of distribution for any undistributed assets shown on the final accounting.

(3) This section applies to all trust accountings rendered for any accounting periods beginning on or after January 1, 2003.

736.0814 Discretionary powers; tax savings.--

(1) Notwithstanding the breadth of discretion granted to a trustee in the terms of the trust, including the use of such terms as "absolute," "sole," or "uncontrolled," the trustee shall exercise a discretionary power in good faith and in accordance with the terms and purposes of the trust and the interests of the beneficiaries. A court shall not determine that a trustee abused its discretion merely because the court would

HB 425 CS

2006
CS

1929 have exercised the discretion in a different manner or would not 1930 have exercised the discretion.

1931 (2) Subject to subsection (3) and unless the terms of the 1932 trust expressly indicate that a rule in this subsection does not 1933 apply, a person who is a beneficiary and a trustee may not:

1934 (a) Make discretionary distributions of either principal 1935 or income to or for the benefit of that trustee, except to 1936 provide for that trustee's health, education, maintenance, or 1937 support as described in ss. 2041 and 2514 of the Internal 1938 Revenue Code;

1939 (b) Make discretionary allocations of receipts or expenses
1940 as between principal and income, unless the trustee acts in a 1941 fiduciary capacity whereby the trustee has no power to enlarge 1942 or shift any beneficial interest except as an incidental 1943 consequence of the discharge of the trustee's fiduciary duties;

1944 (c) Make discretionary distributions of either principal 1945 or income to satisfy any of the trustee's legal support 1946 obligations; or

1947 (d) Exercise any other power, including, but not limited 1948 to, the right to remove or to replace any trustee, so as to 1949 cause the powers enumerated in paragraph (a), paragraph (b), or 1950 paragraph (c) to be exercised on behalf of, or for the benefit 1951 of, a beneficiary who is also a trustee.

1952 (3) Subsection (2) does not apply to:

1953 (a) A power held by the settlor of the trust;

1954 (b) A power held by the settlor's spouse who is the 1955 trustee of a trust for which a marital deduction, as defined in

HB 425 CS

2006
CS

1956 s. 2056(a) or s. 2523(a) of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986, 1957 as amended, was previously allowed;

1958 (c) Any trust during any period that the trust may be 1959 revoked or amended by its settlor; or

1960 (d) A trust if contributions to the trust qualify for the 1961 annual exclusion under s. 2503(c) of the Internal Revenue Code 1962 of 1986, as amended.

1963 (4) A power whose exercise is limited or prohibited by 1964 subsection (2) may be exercised by the remaining trustees whose 1965 exercise of the power is not so limited or prohibited. If there 1966 is no trustee qualified to exercise the power, on petition by 1967 any qualified beneficiary, the court may appoint an independent 1968 trustee with authority to exercise the power.

1969 (5) A person who has the right to remove or to replace a 1970 trustee does not possess nor may that person be deemed to 1971 possess, by virtue of having that right, the powers of the 1972 trustee that is subject to removal or to replacement.

1973 736.08147 Duty to distribute trust income.--If a will or 1974 trust instrument granting income to the settlor's or testator's 1975 spouse for life is silent as to the time of distribution of 1976 income and the frequency of distributions, the trustee shall 1977 distribute all net income, as defined in chapter 738, to the 1978 spouse no less frequently than annually. This provision shall 1979 apply to any trust established before, on, or after July 1,
1980 2007, unless the trust instrument expressly directs or permits
1981 net income to be distributed less frequently than annually.

2136 736.08163 Powers of trustees relating to environmental or 2149 property or to respond to an actual or threatened violation of 2150 an environmental law affecting that property;

2151 (b) Take, on behalf of the trust, any action necessary to 2152 prevent, abate, or otherwise remedy an actual or potential 2153 violation of an environmental law affecting property held by the 2154 trustee, before or after initiation of an enforcement action by 2155 a governmental body;

2156 (c) Refuse to accept property in trust if the trustee 2157 determines that any property to be donated or conveyed to the 2158 trustee is contaminated with a hazardous substance or is being 2159 used or has been used for an activity directly or indirectly
2160 involving a hazardous substance, which circumstance could result 2161 in liability to the trust or trustee or otherwise impair the 2162 value of the assets to be held;

2163 (d) Settle or compromise at any time any claim against the 2164 trust or trustee that may be asserted by a governmental body or 2165 private party that involves the alleged violation of an 2166 environmental law affecting property of any trust over which the 2167 trustee has responsibility;

2168 (e) Disclaim any power granted by any document, law, or 2169 rule of law that, in the sole judgment of the trustee, may cause
2170 the trustee to incur personal liability, or the trust to incur
2171 liability, under any environmental law;

2172 (f) Decline to serve as a trustee, or having undertaken to 2173 serve as a trustee, resign at any time, if the trustee believes 2174 there is or may be a conflict of interest in its fiduciary 2175 capacity and in its individual capacity because of potential 2176 claims or liabilities that may be asserted against the trustee

HB 425 CS

2006
CS

2177 on behalf of the trust by reason of the type or condition of the 2178 assets held; or

2179 (g) Charge against the income and principal of the trust
2180 the cost of any inspection, investigation, review, abatement, 2181 response, cleanup, or remedial action that this section 2182 authorizes the trustee to take and, if the trust terminates or 2183 closes or the trust property is transferred to another trustee, 2184 hold assets sufficient to cover the cost of cleaning up any 2185 known environmental problem.

2186 (3) A trustee is not personally liable to any beneficiary
2187 or any other person for a decrease in value of assets in a trust 2188 by reason of the trustee's compliance or efforts to comply with 2189 an environmental law, specifically including any reporting
2190 requirement under that law.

2191 (4) A trustee that acquires ownership or control of a 2192 vessel or other property, without having owned, operated, or 2193 materially participated in the management of that vessel or 2194 property before assuming ownership or control as trustee, is not 2195 considered an owner or operator for purposes of liability under 2196 chapter 376, chapter 403, or any other environmental law. A 2197 trustee that willfully, knowingly, or recklessly causes or 2198 exacerbates a release or threatened release of a hazardous 2199 substance is personally liable for the cost of the response, to 2200 the extent that the release or threatened release is 2201 attributable to the trustee's activities. This subsection does 2202 not preclude the filing of claims against the assets that 2203 constitute the trust held by the trustee or the filing of 2204 actions against the trustee in its representative capacity and

HB 425 CS

2006
CS

2205 in any such action, an award or judgment against the trustee
2206 must be satisfied only from the assets of the trust.

2207 (5) The acceptance by the trustee of the property or a
2208 failure by the trustee to inspect or investigate the property
2209 does not create any inference as to whether there is liability
2210 under an environmental law with respect to that property.

2211 (6) For the purposes of this section, the term "hazardous 2212 substance" means a substance defined as hazardous or toxic, or 2213 any contaminant, pollutant, or constituent thereof, or otherwise 2214 regulated, by an environmental law.

2215 (7) This section does not apply to any trust created under 2216 a document executed before July 1, 1995, unless the trust is 2217 amendable and the settlor amends the trust at any time to 2218 incorporate the provisions of this section.

2219 736.08165 Administration pending outcome of contest or 2220 other proceeding.--

2221 (1) Pending the outcome of a proceeding filed to determine 2222 the validity of all or part of a trust or the beneficiaries of 2223 all or part of a trust, the trustee shall proceed with the 2224 administration of the trust as if no proceeding had been 2225 commenced, except no action may be taken and no distribution may 2226 be made to a beneficiary in contravention of the rights of those 2227 persons who may be affected by the outcome of the proceeding.

2228 (2) Upon motion of a party and after notice to interested 2229 persons, a court, on good cause shown, may make an exception to 2230 the prohibition under subsection (1) and authorize the trustee 2231 to act or to distribute trust assets to a beneficiary subject to any conditions the court, in the court's discretion, may impose, including the posting of bond by the beneficiary.

736.0817 Distribution on termination.--Upon the occurrence of an event terminating or partially terminating a trust, the 2266        (b) Enjoin the trustee from committing a breach of trust;

 2267        (c) Compel the trustee to redress a breach of trust by 2288 to the beneficiary an amount the court determines will restore 2289 the beneficiary, in whole or in part, to his or her appropriate 2290 position.

2291 (b) To the extent the breach of trust has resulted in a 2292 distribution to a beneficiary that is too large, the court may 2293 restore the beneficiaries, the trust, or both, in whole or in 2294 part, to their appropriate positions by requiring the trustee to 2295 withhold an amount from one or more future distributions to the 2296 beneficiary who received the distribution that was too large or

2301 the greater of:

2302 (a) The amount required to restore the value of the trust 2303 property and trust distributions to what they would have been if 2304 the breach had not occurred, including lost income, capital
2305 gain, or appreciation that would have resulted from proper 2306 administration; or

2307 (b) The profit the trustee made by reason of the breach.

2308 (2) Except as otherwise provided in this subsection, if 2309 more than one person, including a trustee or trustees, is liable
2310 to the beneficiaries for a breach of trust, each liable person 2311 is entitled to pro rata contribution from the other person or 2312 persons. A person is not entitled to contribution if the person 2313 committed the breach of trust in bad faith. A person who 2314 received a benefit from the breach of trust is not entitled to

HB 425 CS

2315     contribution from another person to the extent of the benefit 2316     received.

2317             (3)   In determining the pro rata shares of liable persons 2318     in the entire liability for a breach of trust:

2319             (a)   Their relative degrees of fault shall be the basis for 2320     allocation of liability.

2321             (b)   If equity requires, the collective liability of some 2322     as a group shall constitute a single share.

2323             (c)   Principles of equity applicable to contribution
2324     generally shall apply.

2325             (4)   The right of contribution shall be enforced as 2326     follows:

2327             (a)   Contribution may be enforced by separate action, 2328     whether or not judgment has been entered in an action against 2329     two or more liable persons for the same breach of trust.

2330             (b)   When a judgment has been entered in an action against 2331     two or more liable persons for the same breach of trust,
2332     contribution may be enforced in that action by judgment in favor 2333     of one judgment defendant against any other judgment defendants 2334     by motion upon notice to all parties to the action.

2335             (c)   If there is a judgment for breach of trust against the 2336     liable person seeking contribution, any separate action by that 2337     person to enforce contribution must be commenced within 1 year
2338     after the judgment has become final by lapse of time for appeal 2339     or after appellate review.

2340             (d)   If there is no judgment for the breach of trust 2341     against the liable person seeking contribution, the person's 2342     right of contribution is barred unless the person has:

2343        1. Discharged by payment the common liability within the 2344 period of the statute of limitations applicable to the 2345 beneficiary's right of action against the liable person and the 2346 person has commenced an action for contribution within 1 year 2347 after payment, or

2348        2. Agreed, while action is pending against the liable
2349 person, to discharge the common liability and has within 1 year 2350 after the agreement paid the liability and commenced the 2351 person's action for contribution.

2352        (5) The beneficiary's recovery of a judgment for breach of 2353 trust against one liable person does not of itself discharge
2354 other liable persons from liability for the breach of trust 2355 unless the judgment is satisfied. The satisfaction of the 2356 judgment does not impair any right of contribution.

2357        (6) The judgment of the court in determining the liability 2358 of several defendants to the beneficiary for breach of trust is 2359 binding upon such defendants in determining the right of such 2360 defendants to contribution.

2362 breach of trust pending on July 1, 2007, under which causes of 2363 action the right of contribution among persons jointly and 2364 severally liable is involved and to all causes of action filed 2365 after July 1, 2007.

2366        736.1003 Damages in absence of breach.--Absent a breach of 2367 trust, a trustee is not liable to a beneficiary for a loss or 2368 depreciation in the value of trust property or for not having 2369 made a profit.

2374           (b) In proceedings arising under ss. 736.0410-736.0417, 2375
2376 the court shall award taxable costs as in chancery actions, 2377 including attorney fees and guardian ad litem fees.

2378           (2) When awarding taxable costs under this section,
2379 including attorney fees and guardian ad litem fees, the court,
2380 in its discretion, may direct payment from a party's interest,
2381 if any, in the trust or enter a judgment that may be satisfied 2382 from other property of the party, or both.

2383           736.1005 Attorney's fees for services to the trust.--

2384           (1) Any attorney who has rendered services to a trust may 2385 be awarded reasonable compensation from the trust. The attorney 2386 may apply to the court for an order awarding attorney's fees
2387 and, after notice and service on the trustee and all 2388 beneficiaries entitled to an accounting under s. 736.0813, the 2389 court shall enter an order on the fee application.

2390           (2) Whenever attorney's fees are to be paid out of the 2391 trust, the court, in its discretion, may direct from what part 2392 of the trust the fees shall be paid.

2393           (3) Except when a trustee's interest may be adverse in a 2394 particular matter, the attorney shall give reasonable notice in 2395 writing to the trustee of the attorney's retention by an 2396 interested person and the attorney's entitlement to fees 2397 pursuant to this section. A court may reduce any fee award for 2400 date of reasonable notice. In exercising this discretion, the 2401 court may exclude compensation for services rendered after the 2402 reasonable notice date but prior to the date of actual notice.

2403 736.1006 Costs in trust proceedings.--

2404 (1) In all trust proceedings, costs may be awarded as in 2410 (1) If the trustee of a revocable trust retains an 2411 attorney to render legal services in connection with the initial 2412 administration of the trust, the attorney is entitled to 2413 reasonable compensation for those legal services, payable from 2414 the assets of the trust without court order. The trustee and the 2415 attorney may agree to compensation that is determined in a 2416 manner or amount other than the manner or amount provided in 2417 this section. The agreement is not binding on a person who bears 2418 the impact of the compensation unless that person is a party to 2419 or otherwise consents to be bound by the agreement. The 2420 agreement may provide that the trustee is not individually

2421 liable for the attorney's fees and costs.

2422 (2) Unless otherwise agreed, compensation based on the 2423 value of the trust assets immediately following the settlor's 2424 death and the income earned by the trust during initial 2431 specifically defined legal services shall be compensated as 2432 provided in the retaining agreement. If the amount or method of 2433 determining compensation is not provided in the agreement, the 2510 (d) Review of an estate tax return and preparation or 2511 review of other tax returns required to be filed by the trustee.

2512 (e) Preparation of decedent's federal estate tax return.
2513 If this return is prepared by the attorney, a fee of one-half of 2514 1 percent up to a value of $10 million and one-fourth of 1
2515 percent on the value in excess of $10 million, of the gross 2516 estate as finally determined for federal estate tax purposes, is 2517 presumed to be reasonable compensation for the attorney for this 2518 service. These fees shall include services for routine audit of 2519 the return, not beyond the examining agent level, if required.

2520 (f) Purchase, sale, lease, or encumbrance of real property
2521 by the trustee or involvement in zoning, land use,
2522 environmental, or other similar matters.

2523 (g) Legal advice regarding carrying on of decedent's 2524 business or conducting other commercial activity by the trustee.

2538 trustee or award compensation for extraordinary services if the 2539 facts and circumstances of the particular administration 2540 warrant. In determining reasonable compensation, the court shall 2541 consider all of the following factors giving such weight to each 2542 as the court may determine to be appropriate:

2543 (a) The promptness, efficiency, and skill with which the 2544 initial administration was handled by the attorney.

2545 (b) The responsibilities assumed by, and potential
2546 liabilities of, the attorney.

2547 (c) The nature and value of the assets that are affected
2548 by the decedent's death.

2549 (d) The benefits or detriments resulting to the trust or 2550 the trust's beneficiaries from the attorney's services.

2551 (e) The complexity or simplicity of the administration and 2552 the novelty of issues presented.

2553 (f) The attorney's participation in tax planning for the 2554 estate, the trust, and the trust's beneficiaries and tax return
2555 preparation or review and approval.

2556 (g) The nature of the trust assets, the expenses of 2557 administration, and the claims payable by the trust and the 2558 compensation paid to other professionals and fiduciaries.

2559 (h) Any delay in payment of the compensation after the 2560 services were furnished.

2561 (i) Any other relevant factors.

2562 (7) The court may determine reasonable attorney's 2563 compensation without receiving expert testimony. Any party may 2564 offer expert testimony after notice to interested persons. If 2565 expert testimony is offered, an expert witness fee may be 2566 awarded by the court and paid from the assets of the trust. The 2567 court shall direct from what part of the trust the fee is to be 2568 paid.

2569 (8) If a separate written agreement regarding compensation 2570 exists between the attorney and the settlor, the attorney shall 2571 furnish a copy to the trustee prior to commencement of 2572 employment and, if employed, shall promptly file and serve a 2573 copy on all interested persons. A separate agreement or a 2574 provision in the trust suggesting or directing the trustee to 2575 retain a specific attorney does not obligate the trustee to 2576 employ the attorney or obligate the attorney to accept the 2577 representation but, if the attorney who is a party to the 2578 agreement or who drafted the trust is employed, the compensation 2579 paid shall not exceed the compensation provided in the 2580 agreement.

2581 (9) Court proceedings to determine compensation, if 2582 required, are a part of the trust administration process and the 2583 costs, including fees for the trustee's attorney, shall be 2584 determined by the court and paid from the assets of the trust 2585 unless the court finds the attorney's fees request to be 2586 substantially unreasonable. The court shall direct from what 2587 part of the trust the fees are to be paid.

2588 (10) As used in this section, the term "initial trust 2589 administration" means administration of a revocable trust during 2590 the period that begins with the death of the settlor and ends on 2591 the final distribution of trust assets outright or to continuing 2592 trusts created under the trust agreement but, if an estate tax continued regular administration of the trust.

736.1008 Limitations on proceedings against trustees.--

(1) Except as provided in subsection (2), all claims by a beneficiary against a trustee for breach of trust are barred as provided in chapter 95 as to:

(a) All matters adequately disclosed in a trust disclosure document issued by the trustee, with the limitations period beginning on the date of receipt of adequate disclosure.

(b) All matters not adequately disclosed in a trust disclosure document if the trustee has issued a final trust accounting and has given written notice to the beneficiary of the availability of the trust records for examination and that any claims with respect to matters not adequately disclosed may be barred unless an action is commenced within the applicable limitations period provided in chapter 95. The limitations period begins on the date of receipt of the final trust accounting and notice.

(2) Unless sooner barred by adjudication, consent, or limitations, a beneficiary is barred from bringing an action against a trustee for breach of trust with respect to a matter that was adequately disclosed in a trust disclosure document unless a proceeding to assert the claim is commenced within 6 months after receipt from the trustee of the trust disclosure document or a limitation notice that applies to that disclosure document, whichever is received later.

CS

(3) When a trustee has not issued a final trust accounting or has not given written notice to the beneficiary of the availability of the trust records for examination and that claims with respect to matters not adequately disclosed may be barred, a claim against the trustee for breach of trust based on a matter not adequately disclosed in a trust disclosure document accrues when the beneficiary has actual knowledge of the trustee's repudiation of the trust or adverse possession of trust assets, and is barred as provided in chapter 95.

(4) As used in this section, the term:

(a) "Trust disclosure document" means a trust accounting or any other written report of the trustee. A trust disclosure document adequately discloses a matter if the document provides sufficient information so that a beneficiary knows of a claim or reasonably should have inquired into the existence of a claim with respect to that matter.

(b) "Trust accounting" means an accounting that adequately discloses the information required by and that substantially complies with the standards set forth in s. 736.08135.

(c) "Limitation notice" means a written statement of the trustee that an action by a beneficiary against the trustee for breach of trust based on any matter adequately disclosed in a trust disclosure document may be barred unless the action is commenced within 6 months after receipt of the trust disclosure document or receipt of a limitation notice that applies to that trust disclosure document, whichever is later. A limitation notice may but is not required to be in the following form: "An action for breach of trust based on matters disclosed in a trust

2649 accounting or other written report of the trustee may be subject 2650 to a 6-month statute of limitations from the receipt of the 2651 trust accounting or other written report. If you have questions, 2652 please consult your attorney."

2653 (5) For purposes of this section, a limitation notice
2654 applies to a trust disclosure document when the limitation 2655 notice is:

2656 (a) Contained as a part of the trust disclosure document
2657 or as a part of another trust disclosure document received 2658 within 1 year prior to the receipt of the latter trust
2659 disclosure document;

2660 (b) Accompanied concurrently by the trust disclosure 2661 document or by another trust disclosure document that was 2662 received within 1 year prior to the receipt of the latter trust
2663 disclosure document;

2664 (c) Delivered separately within 10 days after the delivery
2665 of the trust disclosure document or of another trust disclosure 2666 document that was received within 1 year prior to the receipt of 2667 the latter trust disclosure document. For purposes of this 2668 paragraph, a limitation notice is not delivered separately if 2669 the notice is accompanied by another written communication, 2670 other than a written communication that refers only to the 2671 limitation notice; or

2672 (d) Received more than 10 days after the delivery of the 2673 trust disclosure document but only if the limitation notice

2683       (6)   This section applies to trust accountings for 2684   accounting periods beginning on or after January 1, 2008, and to 2685   written reports, other than trust accountings, received by a 2686   beneficiary on or after January 1, 2008.

2687       736.1009   Reliance on trust instrument.--A trustee who acts 2688   in reasonable reliance on the terms of the trust as expressed in 2689   the trust instrument is not liable to a beneficiary for a breach 2690   of trust to the extent the breach resulted from the reliance.

2691       736.1010   Event affecting administration or 2692   distribution.--If the happening of an event, including marriage, 2693   divorce, performance of educational requirements, or death,
2694   affects the administration or distribution of a trust, a trustee 2695   who has exercised reasonable care to ascertain the happening of 2696   the event is not liable for a loss resulting from the trustee's 2697   lack of knowledge.

2698       736.1011   Exculpation of trustee.--

2699       (1)   A term of a trust relieving a trustee of liability for 2700   breach of trust is unenforceable to the extent that the term:

2701       (a)   Relieves the trustee of liability for breach of trust 2702   committed in bad faith or with reckless indifference to the 2703   purposes of the trust or the interests of the beneficiaries; or

2704        (b) Was inserted into the trust instrument as the result 2705 of an abuse by the trustee of a fiduciary or confidential
2706 relationship with the settlor.

2707        (2) An exculpatory term drafted or caused to be drafted by 2708 the trustee is invalid as an abuse of a fiduciary or 2709 confidential relationship unless the trustee proves that the 2710 exculpatory term is fair under the circumstances and that the 2711 term's existence and contents were adequately communicated 2712 directly to the settlor.

2713        736.1012 Beneficiary's consent, release, or 2714 ratification.--A trustee is not liable to a beneficiary for 2715 breach of trust if the beneficiary consented to the conduct 2716 constituting the breach, released the trustee from liability for 2717 the breach, or ratified the transaction constituting the breach, 2718 unless:

2719        (1) The consent, release, or ratification of the 2720 beneficiary was induced by improper conduct of the trustee; or

2721        (2) At the time of the consent, release, or ratification, 2722 the beneficiary did not know of the beneficiary's rights or of 2723 the material facts relating to the breach.

2724        736.1013 Limitation on personal liability of trustee.--

2725        (1) Except as otherwise provided in the contract, a 2726 trustee is not personally liable on a contract properly entered 2727 into in the trustee's fiduciary capacity in the course of 2728 administering the trust if the trustee in the contract disclosed
2729 the fiduciary capacity.

2730        (2) A trustee is personally liable for torts committed in 2731 the course of administering a trust or for obligations arising from ownership or control of trust property only if the trustee is personally at fault.

(3) A claim based on a contract entered into by a trustee in the trustee's fiduciary capacity, on an obligation arising from ownership or control of trust property, or on a tort committed in the course of administering a trust may be asserted in a judicial proceeding against the trustee in the trustee's fiduciary capacity, whether or not the trustee is personally liable for the claim.

(4) Issues of liability between the trust estate and the trustee individually may be determined in a proceeding for accounting, surcharge, or indemnification or in any other appropriate proceeding.

736.1014 Limitations on actions against certain trusts.--

(1) After the death of a settlor, no creditor of the settlor may bring, maintain, or continue any direct action against a trust described in s. 733.707(3), the trustee of the trust, or any beneficiary of the trust that is dependent on the individual liability of the settlor. Such claims and causes of action against the settlor shall be presented and enforced against the settlor's estate as provided in part VII of chapter 733 and the personal representative of the settlor's estate may obtain payment from the trustee of a trust described in s. 733.707(3) as provided in ss. 733.607(2), 733.707(3), and 736.05053.

(2) This section does not preclude a direct action against a trust described in s. 733.707(3), the trustee of the trust, or

HB 425 CS

2006
CS

2759 a beneficiary of the trust that is not dependent on the 2760 individual liability of the settlor.

2761 (3) This section does not affect the lien of any duly 2762 recorded mortgage or security interest or the lien of any person 2763 in possession of personal property or the right to foreclose and 2764 enforce the mortgage or lien.

2765 736.1015 Interest as general partner.--

2766 (1) Unless personal liability is imposed in the contract, 2767 a trustee who holds an interest as a general partner in a 2768 general or limited partnership is not personally liable on a 2769 contract entered into by the partnership after the trust's 2770 acquisition of the interest if the fiduciary capacity was 2771 disclosed in the contract or in a statement previously filed
2772 pursuant to a Uniform Partnership Act or Uniform Limited 2773 Partnership Act.

2774 (2) A trustee who holds an interest as a general partner
2775 is not personally liable for torts committed by the partnership 2776 or for obligations arising from ownership or control of the 2777 interest unless the trustee is personally at fault.

2778 (3) If the trustee of a revocable trust holds an interest 2779 as a general partner, the settlor is personally liable for 2780 contracts and other obligations of the partnership as if the 2781 settlor were a general partner.

2782 736.1016 Protection of person dealing with trustee.--

2783 (1) A person other than a beneficiary who in good faith
2784 assists a trustee or who in good faith and for value deals with 2785 a trustee, without knowledge that the trustee is exceeding or

HB 425 CS

2006
CS

2786 improperly exercising the trustee's powers, is protected from 2787 liability as if the trustee properly exercised the power.

2788 (2) A person other than a beneficiary who in good faith
2789 deals with a trustee is not required to inquire into the extent 2790 of the trustee's powers or the propriety of their exercise.

2791 (3) A person who in good faith delivers assets to a 2792 trustee need not ensure their proper application.

2793 (4) A person other than a beneficiary who in good faith
2794 assists a former trustee or who in good faith and for value 2795 deals with a former trustee, without knowledge that the 2796 trusteeship has terminated, is protected from liability as if 2797 the former trustee were still a trustee.

2798 (5) Comparable protective provisions of other laws 2799 relating to commercial transactions or transfer of securities by 2800 fiduciaries prevail over the protection provided by this 2801 section.

2802 736.1017 Certification of trust.--

2803 (1) Instead of furnishing a copy of the trust instrument 2804 to a person other than a beneficiary, the trustee may furnish to 2805 the person a certification of trust containing the following 2806 information:

2807 (a) The trust exists and the date the trust instrument was 2808 executed.

2809 (b) The identity of the settlor.

2810 (c) The identity and address of the currently acting
2811 trustee.

2812 (d) The powers of the trustee.

HB 425 CS

CS

(e) The revocability or irrevocability of the trust and the identity of any person holding a power to revoke the trust.

(f) The authority of cotrustees to sign or otherwise authenticate and whether all or less than all are required in order to exercise powers of the trustee.

(g) The manner of taking title to trust property.

(2) A certification of trust may be signed or otherwise authenticated by any trustee.

(3) A certification of trust must state that the trust has not been revoked, modified, or amended in any manner that would cause the representations contained in the certification of trust to be incorrect.

(4) A certification of trust need not contain the dispositive terms of a trust.

(5) A recipient of a certification of trust may require the trustee to furnish copies of any excerpts from the original trust instrument and later amendments that designate the trustee and confer upon the trustee the power to act in the pending transaction.

(6) A person who acts in reliance on a certification of trust without knowledge that the representations contained in the certification are incorrect is not liable to any person for so acting and may assume without inquiry the existence of the facts contained in the certification. Knowledge of the terms of the trust may not be inferred solely from the fact that a copy of all or part of the trust instrument is held by the person relying on the certification.

HB 425 CS

2006
CS

(7) A person who in good faith enters into a transaction in reliance on a certification of trust may enforce the transaction against the trust property as if the representations contained in the certification were correct.

(8) This section does not limit the right of a person to obtain a copy of the trust instrument when required to be furnished by law or in a judicial proceeding concerning the trust.

736.1018 Improper distribution or payment; liability of distributee.--Any person who received a distribution or was paid improperly from a trust shall return the assets or funds received and the income from those assets or interest on the funds from the date of distribution or payment unless the distribution or payment cannot be questioned because of adjudication, estoppel, or limitations. If the person does not have the assets or funds, the value of the assets or funds at the date of disposition, income from the assets or funds, and gain received by the person from the assets or funds shall be returned.

Section 11. Part XI of chapter 736, Florida Statutes, consisting of sections 736.1101, 736.1102, 736.1103, 736.1104, 736.1105, 736.1106, 736.1107, and 736.1108, is created to read:

736.1101 Rules of construction; general provisions.--Except as provided in s. 736.0105(2):

HB 425 CS

2006
CS

2868        (1) The intent of the settlor as expressed in the terms of 2869 the trust controls the legal effect of the dispositions made in 2870 the trust.

2871        (2) The rules of construction as expressed in this part 2872 shall apply unless a contrary intent is indicated by the terms
2873 of the trust.

2874        736.1102 Construction of generic terms.--Adopted persons
2875 and persons born out of wedlock are included in class gift
2876 terminology and terms of relationship, in accordance with rules
2877 for determining relationships for purposes of intestate 2878 succession.

2879        736.1103 Gifts to multi-generation classes to be per 2881 generation classes shall be per stirpes.

2882        736.1104 Killer not entitled to receive property or other 2883 benefits by reason of victim's death.--

2884        (1) A beneficiary of a trust who unlawfully and 2885 intentionally kills or unlawfully and intentionally participates 2886 in procuring the death of the settlor or another person on whose 2887 death such beneficiary's interest depends, is not entitled to 2888 any trust interest, including homestead, dependent on the 2889 victim's death and such interest shall devolve as though the 2890 killer had predeceased the victim.

2891        (2) A final judgment of conviction of murder in any degree
2892 is conclusive for the purposes of this section. In the absence 2893 of a murder conviction in any degree, the court may determine by 2894 the greater weight of the evidence whether the killing was 2895 unlawful and intentional for purposes of this section.

HB 425 CS

2006
CS

2896        736.1105   Dissolution of marriage; effect on revocable 2897 trust.--Unless the trust instrument or the judgment for 2898 dissolution of marriage or divorce expressly provides otherwise,
2899 if a revocable trust is executed by a husband or wife as settlor 2900 prior to annulment of the marriage or entry of a judgment for 2901 dissolution of marriage or divorce of the settlor from the 2902 settlor's spouse, any provision of the trust that affects the 2903 settlor's spouse will become void upon annulment of the marriage
2904 or entry of the judgment of dissolution of marriage or divorce 2905 and any such trust shall be administered and construed as if the 2906 settlor's spouse had died on the date of the annulment or on 2907 entry of the judgment for dissolution of marriage or divorce.

2908        736.1106   Antilapse; survivorship with respect to future
2909 interests under terms of inter vivos and testamentary trusts;
2910 substitute takers.--

2911        (1)   As used in this section, the term:

2912        (a)   "Beneficiary" means the beneficiary of a future 2913 interest and includes a class member if the future interest is 2914 in the form of a class gift.

2915        (b)   "Distribution date," with respect to a future
2916 interest, means the time when the future interest is to take 2917 effect in possession or enjoyment. The distribution date need 2918 not occur at the beginning or end of a calendar day, but can 2919 occur at a time during the course of a day.

2920        (c)   "Future interest" includes an alternative future
2921 interest and a future interest in the form of a class gift.

2922        (d)   "Future interest under the terms of a trust" means a 2923 future interest created by an inter vivos or testamentary transfer to an existing trust or creating a trust or by an exercise of a power of appointment to an existing trust directing the continuance of an existing trust, designating a beneficiary of an existing trust, or creating a trust.

CS

(e) "Surviving beneficiary" or "surviving descendant" means a beneficiary or a descendant who did not predecease the distribution date or is not deemed to have predeceased the distribution date by operation of law.

(2) A future interest under the terms of a trust is contingent upon the beneficiary surviving the distribution date.
Unless a contrary intent appears in the trust instrument, if a beneficiary of a future interest under the terms of a trust fails to survive the distribution date, and the deceased beneficiary leaves surviving descendants, a substitute gift is created in the beneficiary's surviving descendants. They take per stirpes the property to which the beneficiary would have been entitled if the beneficiary had survived the distribution date.

(3) In the application of this section:

(a) Words of survivorship attached to a future interest are a sufficient indication of an intent contrary to the application of this section.

(b) A residuary clause in a will is not a sufficient indication of an intent contrary to the application of this section, whether or not the will specifically provides that lapsed or failed devises are to pass under the residuary clause.

HB 425 CS

2006
CS

2950       (4) If, after the application of subsections (2) and (3), 2951 there is no surviving taker, the property passes in the 2952 following order:

2953       (a) If the future interest was created by the exercise of 2954 a power of appointment, the property passes under the donor's 2955 gift-in-default clause, if any, which clause is treated as 2956 creating a future interest under the terms of a trust.

2957       (b) If no taker is produced by the application of 2958 paragraph (a) and the trust was created in a nonresiduary devise 2959 or appointment in the transferor's will, the property passes 2960 under the residuary clause in the transferor's will. For 2961 purposes of this section, the residuary clause is treated as 2962 creating a future interest under the terms of a trust.

2963       (c) If no taker is produced by the application of 2964 paragraph (a) or paragraph (b), the property passes to those 2965 persons, including the state, and in such shares as would 2966 succeed to the transferor's intestate estate under the intestate
2967 succession law of the transferor's domicile if the transferor 2968 died when the disposition is to take effect in possession or 2969 enjoyment.

2971 For purposes of paragraphs (b) and (c), the term "transferor" 2972 with respect to a future interest created by the exercise of a 2973 power of appointment, means the donor if the power was a 2974 nongeneral power and the donee if the power was a general power.

2975       (5) This section applies to all trusts other than trusts
2976 that were irrevocable before the effective date of this code.

CS

2977 736.1107 Change in securities; accessions;
2978 nonademption.--A gift of specific securities, rather than their 2979 equivalent value, entitles the beneficiary only to:

2980 (1) As much of the gifted securities of the same issuer
2981 held by the trust estate at the time of the occurrence of the 2982 event entitling the beneficiary to distribution.

2983 (2) Any additional or other securities of the same issuer
2984 held by the trust estate because of action initiated by the 2985 issuer, excluding any acquired by exercise of purchase options.

2986 (3) Securities of another issuer held by the trust estate
2987 as a result of a merger, consolidation, reorganization, or other 2988 similar action initiated by the original issuer.

2989 736.1108 Penalty clause for contest.--

2990 (1) A provision in a trust instrument purporting to 2991 penalize any interested person for contesting the trust
2992 instrument or instituting other proceedings relating to a trust
2993 estate or trust assets is unenforceable.

2994 (2) This section applies to trusts created on or after 2995 October 1, 1993. For purposes of this subsection, a revocable 2996 trust shall be treated as created when the right of revocation 2997 terminates.

d. Evidence of compliance with the provisions of subparagraph 6., if required.

e. If a personal property timeshare plan is created with respect to accommodations and facilities that are located on or in an oceangoing vessel, including a "documented vessel" or a "foreign vessel," as defined and governed by 46 U.S.C., chapter 301:

(I) In making the transfer required in sub-subparagraph c., the developer shall use as its transfer instrument a document that establishes and protects the continuance of the use rights in the subject accommodations and facilities in a manner that is enforceable by the trust or owners' association.

such permitted lien, or a prorated portion thereof if less than all of the accommodations on the vessel are subject to the timeshare plan, shall be common expenses of the timeshare plan.

3671 instrument creating such use rights as a lien against the 3672 vessel.

3673 (IV) In addition to the disclosures required by s.
3674 721.07(5), the public offering statement and purchase contract
3675 must contain a disclosure in conspicuous type in substantially 3676 the following form:

3678 The laws of the State of Florida govern the offering of this 3679 timeshare plan in this state. There are inherent risks in 3680 purchasing a timeshare interest in this timeshare plan because 3681 the accommodations and facilities of the timeshare plan are 3682 located on a vessel that will sail into international waters and 3683 into waters governed by many different jurisdictions. Therefore, 3684 the laws of the State of Florida cannot fully protect your 3685 purchase of an interest in this timeshare plan. Specifically, 3686 management and operational issues may need to be addressed in 3687 the jurisdiction in which the vessel is registered, which is 3688 (insert jurisdiction in which vessel is registered) . Concerns 3689 of purchasers may be sent to (insert name of applicable 3690 regulatory agency and address) .

3692 4. Trust.--

3693 a. If the subject accommodations or facilities, or all use 3694 rights therein, are to be transferred into a trust in order to 3695 comply with this paragraph, such transfer shall take place
3696 pursuant to this subparagraph.

3697 b. Prior to the transfer by each interestholder of the 3698 subject accommodations and facilities, or all use rights

therein, to a trust, any lien or other encumbrance against such accommodations and facilities, or use rights therein, shall be made subject to a nondisturbance and notice to creditors instrument pursuant to subsection (3). No transfer pursuant to this subparagraph shall become effective until the trustee accepts such transfer and the responsibilities set forth herein. A trust established pursuant to this subparagraph shall comply with the following provisions:

(I) The trustee shall be an individual or a business entity authorized and qualified to conduct trust business in this state. Any corporation authorized to do business in this state may act as trustee in connection with a timeshare plan pursuant to this chapter. The trustee must be independent from any developer or managing entity of the timeshare plan or any interestholder of any accommodation or facility of such plan.

(II) The trust shall be irrevocable so long as any purchaser has a right to occupy any portion of the timeshare property pursuant to the timeshare plan.

(III) The trustee shall not convey, hypothecate, mortgage, assign, lease, or otherwise transfer or encumber in any fashion any interest in or portion of the timeshare property with respect to which any purchaser has a right of use or occupancy unless the timeshare plan is terminated pursuant to the timeshare instrument, or such conveyance, hypothecation, mortgage, assignment, lease, transfer, or encumbrance is approved by a vote of two-thirds of all voting interests of the timeshare plan and such decision is declared by a court of competent jurisdiction to be in the best interests of the 3727 purchasers of the timeshare plan. The trustee shall notify the 3728 division in writing within 10 days after receiving notice of the 3729 filing of any petition relating to obtaining such a court order.

3730 The division shall have standing to advise the court of the 3731 division's interpretation of the statute as it relates to the 3732 petition.

3733       (IV) All purchasers of the timeshare plan or the owners'
3734 association of the timeshare plan shall be the express
3735 beneficiaries of the trust. The trustee shall act as a fiduciary 3736 to the beneficiaries of the trust. The personal liability of the 3737 trustee shall be governed by ss. 736.08125, 736.08163, 736.1013,
3738 and 736.1015 ~~s. 737.306~~. The agreement establishing the trust 3739 shall set forth the duties of the trustee. The trustee shall be 3740 required to furnish promptly to the division upon request a copy 3741 of the complete list of the names and addresses of the owners in 3742 the timeshare plan and a copy of any other books and records of 3743 the timeshare plan required to be maintained pursuant to s.
3744 721.13 that are in the possession, custody, or control of the 3745 trustee. All expenses reasonably incurred by the trustee in the 3746 performance of its duties, together with any reasonable 3747 compensation of the trustee, shall be common expenses of the 3748 timeshare plan.

3749       (V) The trustee shall not resign upon less than 90 days'
3750 prior written notice to the managing entity and the division. No
3751 resignation shall become effective until a substitute trustee, 3752 approved by the division, is appointed by the managing entity
3753 and accepts the appointment.

3754           (VI) The documents establishing the trust arrangement
3755 shall constitute a part of the timeshare instrument.

3756           (VII) For trusts holding property in a timeshare plan 3757 located outside this state, the trust and trustee holding such 3758 property shall be deemed in compliance with the requirements of 3759 this subparagraph if such trust and trustee are authorized and 3760 qualified to conduct trust business under the laws of such 3761 jurisdiction and the agreement or law governing such trust 3762 arrangement provides substantially similar protections for the 3763 purchaser as are required in this subparagraph for trusts
3764 holding property in a timeshare plan in this state.

3765           (VIII) The trustee shall have appointed a registered agent 3766 in this state for service of process. In the event such a 3767 registered agent is not appointed, service of process may be 3768 served pursuant to s. 721.265.

3769           5. Owners' association.--

3770           a. If the subject accommodations or facilities, or all use 3771 rights therein, are to be transferred into an owners' 3772 association in order to comply with this paragraph, such 3773 transfer shall take place pursuant to this subparagraph.

3774           b. Prior to the transfer by each interestholder of the 3775 subject accommodations and facilities, or all use rights
3776 therein, to an owners' association, any lien or other 3777 encumbrance against such accommodations and facilities, or use 3778 rights therein, shall be made subject to a nondisturbance and 3779 notice to creditors instrument pursuant to subsection (3). No
3780 transfer pursuant to this subparagraph shall become effective 3781 until the owners' association accepts such transfer and the 3782 responsibilities set forth herein. An owners' association 3783 established pursuant to this subparagraph shall comply with the 3784 following provisions:

3785       (I) The owners' association shall be a business entity
3786 authorized and qualified to conduct business in this state.
3787 Control of the board of directors of the owners' association 3788 must be independent from any developer or managing entity of the 3789 timeshare plan or any interestholder.

3790       (II) The bylaws of the owners' association shall provide 3791 that the corporation may not be voluntarily dissolved without 3792 the unanimous vote of all owners of personal property timeshare 3793 interests so long as any purchaser has a right to occupy any 3794 portion of the timeshare property pursuant to the timeshare
3795 plan.

3796       (III) The owners' association shall not convey, 3797 hypothecate, mortgage, assign, lease, or otherwise transfer or 3800 right of use or occupancy, unless the timeshare plan is 3801 terminated pursuant to the timeshare instrument, or unless such 3802 conveyance, hypothecation, mortgage, assignment, lease, 3803 transfer, or encumbrance is approved by a vote of two-thirds of 3804 all voting interests of the association and such decision is 3805 declared by a court of competent jurisdiction to be in the best 3806 interests of the purchasers of the timeshare plan. The owners'

3807 association shall notify the division in writing within 10 days 3808 after receiving notice of the filing of any petition relating to 3809 obtaining such a court order. The division shall have standing

HB 425 CS

2006
CS

3810 to advise the court of the division's interpretation of the 3811 statute as it relates to the petition.

3812 (IV) All purchasers of the timeshare plan shall be members 3813 of the owners' association and shall be entitled to vote on 3814 matters requiring a vote of the owners' association as provided 3815 in this chapter or the timeshare instrument. The owners' 3816 association shall act as a fiduciary to the purchasers of the 3817 timeshare plan. The articles of incorporation establishing the 3818 owners' association shall set forth the duties of the owners'
3819 association. All expenses reasonably incurred by the owners' 3820 association in the performance of its duties, together with any 3821 reasonable compensation of the officers or directors of the 3822 owners' association, shall be common expenses of the timeshare
3823 plan.

3824 (V) The documents establishing the owners' association
3825 shall constitute a part of the timeshare instrument.

3826 (VI) For owners' associations holding property in a 3827 timeshare plan located outside this state, the owners'
3828 association holding such property shall be deemed in compliance
3829 with the requirements of this subparagraph if such owners'
3830 association is authorized and qualified to conduct owners' 3831 association business under the laws of such jurisdiction and the 3832 agreement or law governing such arrangement provides 3833 substantially similar protections for the purchaser as are 3834 required in this subparagraph for owners' associations holding 3835 property in a timeshare plan in this state.

3836 (VII) The owners' association shall have appointed a 3837 registered agent in this state for service of process. In the

HB 425 CS

2006
CS

3838 event such a registered agent cannot be located, service of 3839 process may be made pursuant to s. 721.265.

3840       6. Personal property subject to certificate of title.--If 3841 any personal property that is an accommodation or facility of a 3842 timeshare plan is subject to a certificate of title in this 3843 state pursuant to chapter 319 or chapter 328, the following 3844 notation must be made on such certificate of title pursuant to 3850 Statutes, and the transferee or lienor agrees to be bound by all 3851 of the obligations set forth therein.

3852       7. If the developer has previously provided a certified 3853 copy of any document required by this paragraph, she or he may 3854 for all subsequent disbursements substitute a true and correct
3855 copy of the certified copy, provided no changes to the document 3856 have been made or are required to be made.

3857       8. In the event that use rights relating to an 3859 to subparagraph 4. or into an owners' association pursuant to 3860 subparagraph 5., all other interestholders, including the owner 3861 of the underlying fee or underlying personal property, must 3863 pursuant to subsection (3).

(5) The value of trust assets shall be determined on an asset-by-asset basis and shall be conclusive if reasonable and determined in good faith. Determinations based on appraisals performed within 2 years before or after the valuation date shall be presumed reasonable. Section 44. Paragraph (a) of subsection (12) of section 739.102, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

739.102 Definitions.--As used in this chapter, the term:

(12) "Trust" means:

(a) An express trust (including an honorary trust or a trust under s. 736.0408 ~~737.116~~), charitable or noncharitable, with additions thereto, whenever and however created; and

As used in this chapter, the term "trust" does not include a constructive trust or a resulting trust.

Section 45. Paragraphs (b) and (f) of subsection (6) of section 744.331, Florida Statutes, are amended to read:

744.331 Procedures to determine incapacity.--

(6) ORDER DETERMINING INCAPACITY.--If, after making findings of fact on the basis of clear and convincing evidence, the court finds that a person is incapacitated with respect to the exercise of a particular right, or all rights, the court shall enter a written order determining such incapacity. A person is determined to be incapacitated only with respect to those rights specified in the order.

(b) When an order determines that a person is incapable of exercising delegable rights, the court must consider and find whether there is an alternative to guardianship which will sufficiently address the problems of the incapacitated person. A guardian must be appointed to exercise the incapacitated person's delegable rights unless the court finds there is an alternative. A guardian may not be appointed if the court finds there is an alternative to guardianship which will sufficiently address the problems of the incapacitated person. In any order declaring a person incapacitated the court must find that alternatives to guardianship were considered and that no alternative to guardianship will sufficiently address the problems of the ward.

(f) Upon the filing of a verified statement by an interested person stating:

1. That he or she has a good faith belief that the alleged incapacitated person's trust, trust amendment, or durable power of attorney is invalid; and

2. A reasonable factual basis for that belief, the trust, trust amendment, or durable power of attorney shall not be deemed to be an alternative to the appointment of a guardian. The appointment of a guardian does not limit the court's power to determine that certain authority granted by a durable power of attorney is to remain exercisable by the attorney in fact. 4514       Section 47. Subsections (11) and (18) of section 744.441,

4516       744.441 Powers of guardian upon court approval.--After 4517 obtaining approval of the court pursuant to a petition for 4518 authorization to act, a plenary guardian of the property, or a 4528 lifetime. If the court denies a request that a guardian be 4529 authorized to bring an action described in s. 736.0207, the court shall review the continued need for a guardian and the extent of the need for delegation of the ward's rights.

(18) When the ward's will evinces an objective to obtain a United States estate tax charitable deduction by use of a split interest trust (as that term is defined in s. 736.1201 ~~737.501~~), but the maximum charitable deduction otherwise allowable will not be achieved in whole or in part, execute a codicil on the ward's behalf amending said will to obtain the maximum charitable deduction allowable without diminishing the aggregate value of the benefits of any beneficiary under such will.

Section 48. Section 744.462, Florida Statutes, is created to read:

744.462 Determination regarding alternatives to guardianship.--Any judicial determination concerning the validity of the ward's durable power of attorney, trust, or trust amendment shall be promptly reported in the guardianship proceeding by the guardian of the property. If the instrument has been judicially determined to be valid or if, after the appointment of a guardian, a petition is filed alleging that there is an alternative to guardianship which will sufficiently address the problems of the ward, the court shall review the continued need for a guardian and the extent of the need for delegation of the ward's rights.

SUMMARY ANALYSIS

Probate is the legal process for payment of the bills of the deceased, and distribution of the deceased's property to heirs. Current law pertaining to wills and estates is provided in the Florida Probate Code. The Probate Code provides filing deadlines for various actions and proceedings. This bill revises the time period for these deadlines from "within" to a time "on or before" a certain date. This change to the filing deadlines removes the provision requiring filing between certain time periods and allows for earlier filing of certain documents.

This bill modifies the Probate Code and the banking laws to: provide procedures for opening safe-deposit boxes leased or co-leased by a decedent, provide search procedures of safe-deposit boxes where the lessee has died and the decedent's safe-deposit box is co-leased, and provide for when access to safe-deposit boxes leased in two or more names will be granted.

The bill does not appear to have a fiscal impact on state or local governments.

FULL ANALYSIS

I. SUBSTANTIVE ANALYSIS

A. HOUSE PRINCIPLES ANALYSIS:

Empower families -- This bill may serve or benefit families who might potentially otherwise lose the right to property in an estate proceeding.

Provide limited government -- This bill appears to both increase and decrease procedural requirements in probate proceedings.

B. EFFECT OF PROPOSED CHANGES:

Background

Probate is the legal process for payment of the bills of the deceased, and distribution of the deceased's property to heirs. In general, the assets of the deceased are used first to pay the cost of the probate proceeding, then are used to pay the outstanding debts of the deceased, and the remainder paid to the heirs. If the deceased left a valid will, the estate is "testate", and the assets are distributed according to the will. If the deceased did not, the estate is "intestate", and the assets are distributed according to statute. There are two significant exceptions to these general rules. The concepts of homestead and exempt property transfer property to certain surviving dependents before such property is subject to being sold to pay creditors; and the elective share may provide a different inheritance for a surviving spouse than the spouse would otherwise receive by operation of the will and of probate law.

Commencement of Probate, Notice of Administration

A probate case is commenced by the filing of a Petition for Administration.<sup>1</sup> The court must appoint a personal representative, who is the person responsible to the court for collecting the assets of the deceased and transferring those assets to the creditors and heirs entitled to those assets. One of the first duties of the personal representative is to give notice to creditors and heirs of the existence of the probate proceeding and the appointment of the personal representative. This is accomplished by the publication and service of a Notice to Creditors, and by the serving of a Notice of Administration on the surviving spouse and beneficiaries.

Section 733.212, F.S., requires the personal representative to promptly serve a copy of the notice of administration upon the decedent's surviving spouse, beneficiaries, the trustee of any trust and each trust beneficiary, and persons who may be entitled to exempt property. The notice must:

- Provide the name of the decedent;
- List the file number of the estate, the designation and address of the court in which the proceedings are pending;
- Provide the name and address of the personal representative and the personal representative's attorney; and
- State that interested persons are required to file with the court any objection by an interested person on whom the notice was served that challenges the validity of the will, the qualifications of the personal representative, venue, or jurisdiction of the court within 3 months after the date of service of a copy of the notice of administration on the objecting person.

Exempt Property

The Florida Probate Code provides that if a decedent was domiciled in Florida at the time of death, the surviving spouse, or if there is no surviving spouse, the children of the decedent, have the right to take certain property, which property is not subject to being sold to pay the claims of creditors. Such property is known as "exempt property".<sup>2</sup> Exempt property consists of:

- Household furniture, furnishings, and appliances in the decedent's usual place of abode, up to a net value of $10,000 as of the date of death;<sup>3</sup>
- All automobiles held in the decedent's name and regularly used by the decedent or members of the decedent's immediate family as their personal automobiles;<sup>4</sup>
- Florida prepaid college program contracts purchased and Florida college savings agreements;<sup>5</sup>
- Death benefits for certain teachers and school administrators.<sup>6</sup>

Section 732.402, F.S., provides that persons entitled to exempt property are deemed to have waived their rights to such property unless (1) a petition for determination of exempt property is filed by or on behalf of the persons entitled to the exempt property within four months after the date of service of the notice of administration; or (2) within 40 days from the date of termination of any proceeding involving the construction, admission to probate, or validity of the will or involving any other matter affecting any part of the estate subject to the statute.<sup>7</sup>

Exempt property is in addition to protected homestead property. The entitlement to homestead property<sup>8</sup> is automatic and decedent's surviving spouse or children are not required to file a petition of determination to receive the homestead property.

Elective Share

The surviving spouse of a person who dies domiciled in Florida has the right to elect to take a share of the estate of the decedent, known as the elective share,<sup>9</sup> instead of the share of the estate provided for in the will or provided for in the laws of intestacy. The elective share is for the express purpose of caring for the surviving spouse.<sup>10</sup> The elective share is 30% of the elective estate.<sup>11</sup> The elective share is reduced by the value of any property passing to the spouse in the decedent's will, under intestacy, or as a pretermitted spouse. The elective share is in addition to the spouse's right to exempt property, a family allowance, and homestead.<sup>12</sup>

Section 732.2135, F.S. provides that the elective share election must be filed within the earlier of (1) six months after the service of a copy of the notice of administration on the surviving spouse or attorney-in-fact or guardian of the property of the surviving spouse; or (2) two years after the decedent's death. An election may be withdrawn within eight months after the decedent's death, but before the court's order of contribution.

Timing for Filing for Elective Share and Exempt Property

Because the current law provides that the timing requirements for making an election, withdrawing an election, and filing for a petition for determination of exempt property must be "within" a certain period, it is possible that a court may find that a spouse or child of a decedent has filed a notice too early. In such case, a spouse or child could lose their right to exempt property or to the elective share.

Timing of Objections to the Validity of the Will, the Personal Representative, the Venue, or the Jurisdiction of the Court

Section 733.212(3), F.S., provides that "the notice of administration shall state" that an interested person must object to the validity of the will, the qualifications of the personal representative, the venue, or the jurisdiction of the court by filing a petition or other pleading requesting relief within 3 months after the date of service of a copy of the notice of administration on the objecting person, or the objection is forever barred. The window of time for filing an objection under this section has the same possibility of penalizing people that file too early as the filing deadlines for the elective share and exempt property.

Access to Safe-Deposit Boxes

Part of the Probate Code revisions enacted by the Legislature in 2002 addressed procedures for granting access to safe-deposit boxes to personal representatives and other fiduciaries. These revisions caused there to be some inconsistencies between the Probate Code and the Banking Code. The procedures set forth in s. 655.935, F.S., addressing the search procedures upon the death of a lessee, are arguably in conflict with the provisions of s. 733.6065, F.S., which are procedures addressing the initial opening of the safe-deposit box with the personal representative of a decedent lessee. The procedures of s. 733.6065, F.S., and s. 655.935, F.S., are also arguably in conflict with 655.937, F.S., which provides that a bank must grant access to the box to a co-lessee, regardless of whether another lessee is competent or living. The conflict consists of one statute that sets forth access rights and procedures, which must be followed upon the death of one co-lessee, and the other statute that sets forth rights of the surviving co-lessee.

Effect of Bill

Timing for Filing for an Elective Share

This bill amends s. 732.2135, F.S., to provide that a surviving spouse must file for the elective share election "on or before" the earlier of the date that is 6 months after the date of service of a copy of the notice of administration or the date that is 2 years after the date of the decedent's death.

Section 732.2135, F.S. is also amended to provide that the surviving spouse, guardian, or personal representative may withdraw an elective share election "on or before the earlier of the date that is" 8 months after the date of the decedent's death or the date of a court order of contribution. This bill removes the word "within", and allows people entitled to an elective share to file anytime before the time limit provided instead of having to file in between certain periods of time.

Timing for Filing for Exempt Property

This bill amends s. 732.402, F.S., relating to exempt property, by making the same changes to the word "within" as were made in the section relating to the elective share. This bill provides that a person entitled to exempt property is deemed to have waived his or her rights to exempt property unless a petition of determination of exempt property is filed "on or before the later of the date that is" 4 months after the date of service of the notice of administration or the date that is 40 days after the date of termination of any proceeding involving the estate.

Notice of Administration

This bill amends s. 733.212, F.S., to require that a notice of administration include notice to a surviving spouse and beneficiaries of the timing deadlines for filing for an elective share and exempt property.

Timing of Objections to Validity of the Will, the Personal Representative, the Venue, or the Jurisdiction of the Court

This bill also amends s. 733.212, F.S., to remove the "within" from the timing requirements, provided in the notice of administration, for filing a petition or other pleading objecting to the validity of the will, the qualifications of the personal representative, the venue, or the jurisdiction of the court. This bill extends the filing deadline to be "on or before the date that is" (instead of "within") 3 months after the date of service of a copy of the notice of administration on the objecting person, or those objections are forever barred. This change reflects the same revision to the filing deadlines made to exempt property and the elective share.

Timing of Service

This bill creates s. 733.212(8), F.S. to provide that, for determining deadlines established by reference to the date of the service of a copy of the notice of administration, service is deemed to occur on the date the waiver is filed.

Access to Safe-Deposit Boxes

This bill amends s. 655.935, F.S., of the banking laws, to provide that upon the death of a lessor, the lessee must allow a person qualified under this section to open and examine the contents of a safe-deposit box leased and co-leased by a decedent. Section 655.935, F.S., is also amended to provide that the access granted in this section is not to be considered the initial opening of the safe-deposit box pursuant to s. 733.6065, F.S., which is the section pertaining to the opening of a decedent's safe-deposit box.

This bill amends s. 655.937, F.S., to provide that when a safe-deposit box is leased in the names of two or more lessees, that access to the safe-deposit box will be granted to:

- Any one or more of the persons acting as personal representatives;
- Any one or more of the persons otherwise acting as fiduciaries if authorized in writing, which writing is signed by all other persons so acting;
- Any agent authorized in writing, which writing is signed by all persons acting as fiduciaries;
- The person named in a court order for the purpose, or if no order has been served upon the lessor, the spouse, a parent, an adult descendant, or a person named as a personal representative in a copy of a purported will produced by such person;
- The personal representative of the estate of either or any of such lessee who is deceased, or the guardian of the property of either or any of such lessees who is incapacitated.

This bill also provides that the right of access by a co-lessee is separate from the rights and responsibilities of other persons who may be granted access to a safe-deposit box after the death or incapacity of another co-lessee. This provision makes the distinction between this section that pertains to access to safe-deposit boxes leased in two or more names, and s. 655.935, F.S. and s. 733.6065, F.S., which also provide for when there is a co-lessee, and provide procedures for when a co-lessee of a safe-deposit box dies.

The co-lessee and any other person granted access to the safe-deposit box in s. 655.937, F.S., may make a written inventory of the box which will be conducted by the person making the request in the presence of one other person. Each person present shall verify the contents of the box by signing a copy of the inventory under penalties of perjury.

This bill also provides that if the person making the written inventory is not a surviving co-lessee, the other person may be a surviving co-lessee, an employee of the institution where the box is located, or an attorney licensed in Florida.

This bill amends s. 733.6065(1), F.S., of the probate code, to specify that the procedure for the initial opening of a safe-deposit box include safe-deposit boxes leased or co-leased by the decedent. Section 733.6065(2), F.S., is amended to provide that the right to open and examine the contents of a safe-deposit box leased by a decedent, or any documents delivered by a decedent for safekeeping, and to receive items as provided for in s. 655.935, F.S., is separate from the rights provided for in 733.6065(1), F.S.

Section 655.935, F.S., s. 655.937, F.S., and s. 733.6065, F.S., all pertain to access to safe-deposit boxes, whether they are leased or co-leased, and procedures for when a lessee or co-lessee is a decedent. This bill revises these provisions found in the probate code and the banking laws by removing possible conflicts and providing conformity between the similar provisions.

C. SECTION DIRECTORY:

Section 1 amends 655.935, F.S., revising search procedure on death of lessee.

Section 2 amends 655.936, F.S., removing words "foreign" and "resident" from the statute.

Section 3 amends 655.937, F.S., revising access to safe-deposit boxes leased in two or more names.

Section 4 amends s. 732.2135, F.S., revising the time-period for when an election must be filed and for an election withdrawal.

Section 5 amends s. 732.402, F.S., revising the time-period when a person entitled to exempt property must file a petition for determination of exempt property.

Section 6 amends 733.212, F.S., revising what must be included in a notice of administration, and extending the deadlines for filing petitions objecting to the validity of the will, qualifications of the personal representative, the venue, or the jurisdiction of the court or other pleadings requesting relief in accordance with the Florida Probate rules.

Section 7 amends 733.6065, F.S., revising procedures for opening a safe-deposit box.

Section 8 provides an effective date of July 1, 2006.

1. Revenues:

None.

2. Expenditures:

None.

B. FISCAL IMPACT ON LOCAL GOVERNMENTS:

1. Revenues:

None.

2. Expenditures:

C. DIRECT ECONOMIC IMPACT ON PRIVATE SECTOR:

Where the personal representative cannot find a person entitled to receive a copy of the notice of administration, the personal representative is required to publish the notice in a newspaper of general circulation. This bill increases the information required to be published in the notice of administration. The number of lines that the notice takes up on a page determines the cost to the estate. By increasing the amount of information in the notice, this bill adds to the length of the notice, and as a result, the cost of publication to the estate and heirs will likely increase.

D. FISCAL COMMENTS:

None.

III. COMMENTS

A. CONSTITUTIONAL ISSUES:

1. Applicability of Municipality/County Mandates Provision:

This bill does not appear to require counties or municipalities to take an action requiring the expenditure of funds, reduce the authority that counties or municipalities have to raise revenue in the aggregate, nor reduce the percentage of state tax shared with counties or municipalities.

2. Other:

B. RULE-MAKING AUTHORITY:

C. DRAFTING ISSUES OR OTHER COMMENTS:

IV. AMENDMENTS/COMMITTEE SUBSTITUTE & COMBINED BILL CHANGES

On January 11, 2006, the Civil Justice Committee adopted one amendment to this bill. The amendment revises the statutes that provide for access to safe-deposit boxes following the death of the lessor and creating an optional inventory by someone other than the personal representative if the safe-deposit box is co-leased. The bill was then reported favorably with a committee substitute.

SUMMARY ANALYSIS

A notary public is an appointed public officer, commissioned by the Governor, whose function is to administer oaths, take acknowledgments of deeds and other instruments, attest to or certify photocopies of certain documents, and perform other duties.

This bill requires a notary to maintain a journal of notarial acts. The record in the journal must include the date, time, and type of notarial act; the title or name of the document or transaction; the printed name and signature of the signer; and the signer's complete address, telephone number, and specific type of identification presented by the signer. A notary who is either an attorney licensed in this state or who is employed by an attorney licensed in this state is not required to maintain a journal.

This bill also authorizes a notary public to charge $10 dollars for each signature notarized, rather than per document. However, the bill prohibits notaries public from charging fees for services to a U.S. military veteran, firefighter, or law enforcement officer applying for a pension, allotment, allowance, compensation, insurance policy, or other benefit resulting from public service.

This bill does not appear to have a fiscal impact on state or local governments.

FULL ANALYSIS

I. SUBSTANTIVE ANALYSIS

A. HOUSE PRINCIPLES ANALYSIS:

Provide limited government -- This bill increases the regulation of notaries public.

B. EFFECT OF PROPOSED CHANGES:

Present Situation

A notary public (hereinafter "notary" or "notaries") is a "public officer appointed and commissioned by the Governor whose function is to administer oaths; to take acknowledgments of deeds and other instruments; to attest to or certify photocopies of certain documents; and to perform other duties specified by law."<sup>1</sup>

Chapter 117, F.S.,<sup>2</sup> provides for notaries and directs that the Governor is authorized to appoint as many notaries as necessary.<sup>3</sup> A notary must be at least 18 years of age, maintain legal residence in the state throughout the commission, and possess the ability to read, write, and understand English.

Once appointed, a notary serves a four-year term.<sup>4</sup> During the term of office, a notary must post and maintain a $7,500 bond payable to any individual harmed as a result of a notaries breach of duty.<sup>5</sup> The bond must be approved and filed with the Department of State and executed by a surety company that is authorized to transact business in Florida.<sup>6</sup> If a surety pays an individual harmed by the notary for breach of duty, the company must notify the Governor of the payment and the underlying circumstances.<sup>7</sup>

Duties of a Notary

Suspension of a Notary

The Governor can suspend a notary for any of the grounds provided in Art. 4, s. 7, Fla. Const.<sup>17</sup> The Governor also may suspend a notary for grounds of malfeasance, misfeasance, or neglect of duty, as specified in s. 117.01(4), F.S.<sup>18</sup>

Effect of Bill

The bill requires a notary to maintain a journal of notarial acts.<sup>19</sup> The journal is to contain each notarial act in sequential order. The record in the journal must include the date, time, and type of notarial act; the title or name of the document or transaction; the printed name and signature of the signer; and the signer's complete address, telephone number, and specific type of identification presented by the signer.<sup>20</sup> Moreover, the notarial journal must be maintained by a notary for at least 5 years after the date of the last entry. Should a journal be stolen, lost, misplaced, destroyed, or rendered unusable, the notary is required to immediately notify the Executive Office of the Governor in writing of the circumstances of the incident. Finally, failure by a notary to comply with these requirements could result in the suspension or non-renewal of the notary's public commission by the Executive Office of the Governor.

A notary who is either an attorney licensed in this state or who is employed by an attorney licensed in this state is not required to maintain a journal of notarial acts.

Current law allows a notary to charge up to $10 per notarial act.<sup>21</sup> This bill permits a notary to charge $10 per signature notarized, rather than $10 per notarial act. However, a notary may not charge fees for services to a U.S. military veteran, firefighter, or law enforcement officer who is applying for a pension, allotment, allowance, compensation, insurance policy, or other benefit resulting from public service.

C. SECTION DIRECTORY:

Section 1 amends s. 117.05, F.S., regarding notary fees.

Section 2 creates s. 117.071, F.S., requiring a notary to maintain a journal of each notarial act.

<sup>18</sup> Grounds of malfeasance, misfeasance, or neglect of duty, specified in section 117.01(4), F.S., include, but are not limited to: a material false statement on the application; a complaint found to have merit by the Governor; failure to cooperate or respond to an investigation by the Governor's Office or the Department of State regarding a complaint; Official misconduct as defined in s. 838.022, F.S.; false or misleading advertising relating to notary public services; unauthorized practice of law; failure to report a change in address or telephone number within the required time or failure to request an amended commission following a name change; commission of fraud, misrepresentation, or any intentional violation of ch. 117, F.S.; charging fees in excess of fees authorized by law; or failure to maintain the required bond.

<sup>19</sup> In 1998, the Legislature enacted a law that required all electronic notarizations to be logged in a journal. See, ch. 98-246, L.O.F.; s. 117.20, F.S., (1998 Supp.). Each notarial act memorialized in the journal had to include certain information and be kept at least five years. If the journal was lost or stolen, the notary had to notify the Governor's Office or the Department of State. The notary public had to let the Governor's Office or the Department of State inspect the journal at any time it requested. In 1999, the law was repealed. See, s. 165, ch. 99-251, L.O.F. Although Florida law does not currently require the use of a notary journal, the Governor's Reference Manual for Notaries recommends that notaries voluntarily maintain a journal. Reference Manual, at 42.

Section 3 provides an effective date of January 1, 2007.

II. FISCAL ANALYSIS & ECONOMIC IMPACT STATEMENT

A. FISCAL IMPACT ON STATE GOVERNMENT:

1. Revenues:

The bill does not create, modify, amend, or eliminate a state revenue source.

2. Expenditures:

The bill does not create, modify, amend, or eliminate a state expenditure.

B. FISCAL IMPACT ON LOCAL GOVERNMENTS:

1. Revenues:

The bill does not create, modify, amend, or eliminate a local revenue source.

2. Expenditures:

The bill does not create, modify, amend, or eliminate a local expenditure.

C. DIRECT ECONOMIC IMPACT ON PRIVATE SECTOR:

A notary public must purchase a journal for recording notarial acts.<sup>22</sup>

D. FISCAL COMMENTS:

Due to the new requirements of this bill, the amount of time necessary for a notary public to notarize a document may be increased, thereby potentially increasing the cost of businesses that rely on notary services.

III. COMMENTS

A. CONSTITUTIONAL ISSUES:

1. Applicability of Municipality/County Mandates Provision:

This bill does not appear to require counties or municipalities to take an action requiring the expenditure of funds, reduce the authority that counties or municipalities have to raise revenue in the aggregate, nor reduce the percentage of state tax shared with counties or municipalities.

2. Other:

None.

B. RULE-MAKING AUTHORITY:

None.

C. DRAFTING ISSUES OR OTHER COMMENTS:

Public Records Law

Under s. 119.07(1)(a), F.S.:

<sup>22</sup> Journals of notarial acts can be purchased for between $11.95, with space for over 700 entries, to $34.99, which provides space for 775 notarizations.

Every person who has custody of a public record shall permit the record to be inspected and copied by any person desiring to do so, at any reasonable time, under reasonable conditions, and under supervision by the custodian of the public records.

As used in s. 119.07, F.S., the term "public records" means:

all documents, papers, letters, maps, books, tapes, photographs, films, sound recordings, data processing software, or other material, regardless of the physical form, characteristics, or means of transmission, made or received pursuant to law or ordinance or in connection with the transaction of official business by any agency.<sup>23</sup>

As used in s. 119.07, F.S., the term "agency" means:

any state, county, district, authority, or municipal officer, department, division, board, bureau, commission, or other separate unit of government created or established by law including, for the purposes of this chapter, the Commission on Ethics, the Public Service Commission, and the Office of Public Counsel, and any other public or private agency, person, partnership, corporation, or business entity acting on behalf of any public agency.<sup>24</sup>

Because a notary public is a public officer under the State Constitution, the notary journal required by this bill may be a public record that is available for inspection and copying pursuant to Art. I, s. 24(a), Fla. Const. and ch. 119, F.S.

Journal Requirement

The Reference Manual drafted by the Governor's Task Force on Notaries Public in 1989 suggested the mandatory use of journals.<sup>25</sup> Moreover, while notary journals are not required to maintain a journal under current law, the Reference Manual recommends "any notary who is concerned with liability may want to consider this protective measure to provide a permanent record of his or her notarial acts."<sup>26</sup> Furthermore, the National Notary Association maintains that the use of a notarial journal will assist in preventing real estate fraud. It appears that the NNA's chief tool in preventing real estate fraud is the requirement that each document signer place a thumbprint in the notarial journal; a requirement absent from this bill.

Detractors of the bill point to the increased responsibility a notary would have for each signature as being unduly cumbersome. Their concern revolves around the additional time needed for a notary need to comply with the new requirements.

IV. AMENDMENTS/COMMITTEE SUBSTITUTE & COMBINED BILL CHANGES

On February 22, 2006, the Civil Justice Committee adopted an amendment removing everything after the enacting clause. The amendment modified the bill in the following manner:

- An exception to the journal requirement was created. A notary who is either an attorney licensed in this state or who is employed by an attorney licensed in this state is not required to maintain a journal of notarial acts.
- In the event a notary's journal is stolen, lost, misplaced, destroyed, or rendered unusable, the amendment requires the notary to notify solely the Executive Office of the Governor.

<sup>23</sup> Section 119.011(11), F.S.

<sup>25</sup> Reference Manual, at 42.

<sup>26</sup> Id., at 43.

- The title was corrected.

The bill was then reported favorably with a committee substitute.

SUMMARY ANALYSIS

A statute of limitations establishes a fixed time period within which a lawsuit must be commenced after a cause of action has accrued. A statute of repose is similar to a statute of limitations, yet different in that a statute of repose bars a suit a fixed time after the defendant acts in some way. This bill reduces the 4-year statute of limitations for actions founded on the design, planning, or construction of an improvement to real property by changing when the statute will begin to run from the latest to the earliest occurrence of specified events. This bill also reduces the statute of repose for actions founded on the design, planning, or construction of an improvement to real property from 15 years to 10 years with the time running from the earliest occurrence of specified events.

Condominium contractors, subcontractors, and suppliers give condominium developers and unit owners warranties of fitness for the work done and supplies used. This bill provides that the warranty of fitness will only apply to work or materials specified in the construction contract, and to buildings designated as a condominium in the construction contract.

When existing improvements are converted to ownership as a residential condominium, the developer must establish reserve accounts for capital expenditures and deferred maintenance. This bill provides that this requirement applies only where the construction of the improvement was commenced prior to being designated as a condominium by the developer, and that in these circumstances warranties of fitness requirements do not apply.

This bill provides that the reductions in limitations periods in this bill apply to any action commenced on or after July 1, 2006, regardless of when the cause of action accrued. There is an exception providing that any action that would not have been barred prior to the changes made by this bill can be commenced before July 1, 2007. If the action is not commenced by this date and is barred by the changes made to the statute of limitations and repose in this bill, then it will be barred.

This bill does not appear to have a fiscal impact on state or local governments.

FULL ANALYSIS

I. SUBSTANTIVE ANALYSIS

A. HOUSE PRINCIPLES ANALYSIS:

Provide limited government -- This bill reduces the length of the statute of limitations and repose for actions founded on the design, planning, or construction of an improvement to real property.

Promote personal responsibility -- This bill requires that litigants commence their cause of action in a more timely fashion from when the cause of action has accrued.

B. EFFECT OF PROPOSED CHANGES:

Statute of Limitations and Repose for Construction Defects

A statute of limitations establishes a fixed time period within which lawsuits must be commenced after a cause of action has accrued.<sup>1</sup> Once a claim has been extinguished by the applicable statute of limitations, the claim cannot be revived because a constitutionally protected property right to be free from the claim has vested in the defendant.<sup>2</sup> The statutes of limitation are primarily governed by ch. 95, F.S., although statutes of limitation are found in other parts of the statutes as well. Statutes of limitation are designed to encourage plaintiffs to assert their causes of action with reasonable diligence when evidence is fresh and available.<sup>3</sup> Statutes of limitation protect defendants against claims asserted when evidence is lost and after the facts have become obscure from the lapse of time, defective memory, or death and removal of witnesses.<sup>4</sup>

A statute of repose is similar to a statute of limitations. A statute of repose bars a suit after a fixed period of time after the defendant acts in some way, even if this period ends before the plaintiff has suffered any injury. Although phrased in similar language imposing time limits within which legal proceedings on a cause of action must be commenced, a statute of repose is not a true statute of limitations because it begins to run not from accrual of the cause of action, but from an established or fixed event, such as the delivery of a product or the completion of work, which is unrelated to accrual of the cause of action.<sup>5</sup> Moreover, unlike a statute of limitations, a statute of repose abolishes or completely eliminates the underlying substantive right of action, not just the remedy available to the plaintiff, upon expiration of the limitation period specified in the statute of repose.<sup>6</sup>

Section 95.11(3)(c), F.S. currently provides that actions founded on a deficiency in the design, planning, or construction of an improvement to real property, whether founded on contract or on negligence,<sup>7</sup> are subject to a 4-year statute of limitations. The 4-year time period of the statute of limitations begins to run from the latest date of the following events:

- Actual possession by the owner;
- The issuance of a certificate of occupancy;
- Abandonment of construction if not completed; or

<sup>3</sup> Thermo Air Contractors, Inc. v. Travelers Indem. Co., 277 So. 2d 47 (Fla. 3rd DCA 1973); Foremost Properties, Inc. v. Gladman, 100 So. 2d 669 (Fla. 1st DCA 1958).

- Completion or termination of the contract between the professional engineer, registered architect, or licensed contractor and his or her employer.

An exception to the 4-year statute of limitations is provided for when an action involves a latent defect. A latent defect is a hidden flaw, weakness or imperfection in an article which a seller knows about, but the buyer cannot discover by a reasonable inspection. Under these circumstances the 4-year statute of limitation does not begin to run until the defect is discovered or should have been discovered through due diligence. However, whether the action is based on a latent defect or not the statute of repose for an action founded on the design, planning, or construction of an improvement to real property provides that the action must be commenced within 15 years after the date of the following, whichever is latest:

- Date of actual possession by the owner;
- The date of the issuance of a certificate of occupancy;
- The date of abandonment of construction if not completed; or
- The date of completion or termination of the contract between the professional engineer, registered architect, or licensed contractor and his or her employer.

This bill amends s. 95.11(3)(c), F.S., to provide that the 4-year time period of the statute of limitations begins to run from the "earliest" of the following events (except when the action involves a latent defect):

- Actual possession by the owner;
- The issuance of a certificate of occupancy;
- Abandonment of construction if not completed; or
- Completion or termination of the contract between the professional engineer, registered architect, or licensed contractor and his or her employer.

This bill also reduces the statute of repose from 15 years to 10 years for any action founded on the design, planning, or construction of an improvement to real property. The time will begin to run when the earliest of the following events occurs:

- Actual possession by the owner;
- The issuance of a certificate of occupancy;
- Abandonment of construction if not completed; or
- Completion or termination of the contract between the professional engineer, registered architect, or licensed contractor and his or her employer.

Warranties of Fitness for Work and Materials Specified in a Condominium Construction Contract

Section 718.203, F.S. provides that the contractor, subcontractors, and suppliers grant to the developer and to the purchaser of each condominium unit an implied warranty of fitness as to the work performed or materials supplied by them.<sup>8</sup> Specifically, there is an implied warranty of fitness for three years from the completion of the construction of a building or improvement as to the roof and structural components of the building or improvement and as to mechanical and plumbing elements serving a building or an improvement, except for mechanical elements serving only one unit.<sup>9</sup> As to all other improvements and materials, there is an implied warranty of fitness for one year after all construction is completed.<sup>10</sup>

This bill amends s. 718.203(2), F.S., limiting the implied warranties of fitness that the contractor, subcontractors, and suppliers grant to the developer to only the work performed or materials supplied by them that are specified in their respective contracts. This bill also amends s. 718.203(6), F.S., to provide that the warranty provided in s. 718.203(2), F.S. applies only to a building or improvement that was designated as a condominium by the developer in its construction contract with the contractor or any amendment to the contract executed by the parties. This bill removes the language in current law which provides that nothing in this section affects condominiums where rights are established by contracts for the sale of 10% or more of the units in the condominium by the developer to prospective unit owners prior to July 1, 1974, or as to condominium buildings where construction has been commenced prior to July 1, 1974.

Condominium Conversion Reserve Accounts

A developer may create a condominium by converting existing, previously occupied improvements to condominium ownership. The developer must disclose the condition of the improvements and certain components, as well as the current estimated replacement costs.<sup>11</sup> Section 718.618, F.S. provides that when existing improvements are converted to ownership as a residential condominium, the developer must establish reserve accounts for capital expenditures and deferred maintenance.

This bill amends s. 718.618, F.S., creating subsection (9), which provides that s. 718.618, F.S. applies only to the conversion of existing improvements where construction of the improvement was commenced prior to its designation by the developer as a condominium. Therefore, reserve accounts will only have to be established for the purposes of conversion, where construction of the improvement started before it was designated as a condominium. When this occurs s. 718.203, F.S., which pertains to warranties, is not applicable.

Application of the Proposed Changes to s. 95.11(3)(c), F.S.

This bill provides that the proposed changes made by the bill to s. 95.11(3)(c), F.S. will apply to any action commenced on or after July 1, 2006, regardless of when the cause of action accrued. The changes made by this bill, shortening the statute of limitations for actions founded on the design, planning, or construction of an improvement to real property, would apply to any party whose action commenced on or after July 1, 2006, even if the cause of action accrued much earlier. Therefore, a party whose cause of action accrued prior to the changes in this bill, but the action commenced after July 1, 2006, could be barred from bringing the action by the shortening of the statute of repose from 15 years to 10 years. This bill does provide an exception, which deals with this issue, and provides that any action that would not have been barred under s. 95.11(3)(c), F.S., prior to the amendments made by this act may be commenced before July 1, 2007. If the action is not commenced by July 1, 2007 and is barred by the amendments to s. 95.11(3)(c), F.S., then the action will be barred. Therefore, people who would be barred from bringing a cause of action based on the new statute of limitations and repose, but not under the old statute have until July 1, 2007 to commence their cause of action or are forever barred.

C. SECTION DIRECTORY:

Section 1 amends s. 95.11(3)(c), F.S., shortening the statute of limitations and repose for actions founded on the design, planning, or construction of an improvement of real property.

Section 2 amends s. 718.203, F.S., to revise provisions related to when contractors, subcontractors, and suppliers must grant implied warranties of fitness to the developer and unit owners.

Section 3 amends s. 718.618(9), F.S., to provide for when provisions related to conversion reserve accounts and warranties are applicable.

Section 4 establishes specific provisions pertaining to the application of the changes to s. 95.11(3)(c), F.S. in this bill.

Section 5 provides an effective date of July 1, 2006.

1. Applicability of Municipality/County Mandates Provision:

This bill does not appear to require counties or municipalities to take an action requiring the expenditure of funds, reduce the authority that counties or municipalities have to raise revenue in the aggregate, nor reduce the percentage of state tax shared with counties or municipalities.

2. Other:

Although the right to commence an action is a valid and protected property interest,<sup>12</sup> a plaintiff has no vested right in a statute of limitations in effect when his or her cause of action accrues.<sup>13</sup> Thus, the time allowed for a suit may be either initially imposed or reduced by legislation enacted after the cause of action arose, provided the litigant still has a reasonable time left in which to enforce his or her right.<sup>14</sup> The changes to s. 95.11(3)(c), F.S., made in this bill do reduce the time allowed for a suit, after the cause of action arose, but the bill appears to give a litigant reasonable time to enforce his or her right before being completely barred.

SUMMARY ANALYSIS

Section 775.21, F.S., provides that a person convicted of certain enumerated sexual offenses must be designated a "sexual predator." Currently, there do not appear to be any statutory provisions prohibiting sexual predators from possessing a prescription drug that is designed to treat erectile dysfunction.

This bill prohibits a sexual predator from possessing a prescription drug for the purpose of treating erectile dysfunction. A sexual predator who violates this provision once commits a second degree misdemeanor. Subsequent violations are first degree misdemeanors.

This bill takes effect October 1, 2006.

FULL ANALYSIS

I. SUBSTANTIVE ANALYSIS

A. HOUSE PRINCIPLES ANALYSIS:

Safeguard Individual Liberty → This bill prohibits a sexual predator from possessing a prescription drug for the purpose of treating erectile dysfunction.

B. EFFECT OF PROPOSED CHANGES:

Sexual Predators

Section 775.21, F.S., provides that a person convicted of an enumerated sexual offense must be designated a "sexual predator." Specifically, a person must be designated a sexual predator if he or she has been convicted of:

1. A capital, life, or first-degree felony violation, or any attempt thereof, of one of the following offenses:
  - a. kidnapping or false imprisonment<sup>1</sup> where the victim is a minor and the defendant is not the victim's parent;
  - b. sexual battery;<sup>2</sup>
  - c. lewd or lascivious offenses;<sup>3</sup>
  - d. selling or buying a minors for child pornography;<sup>4</sup> or
  - e. a violation of a similar law of another jurisdiction.
2. Any felony violation of one of the following offenses where the offender has previously been convicted of or found to have committed, or has pled nolo contendere or guilty to, regardless of adjudication one of the following offenses:
  - a. kidnapping, false imprisonment or luring or enticing a child<sup>5</sup> where the victim is a minor and the defendant is not the victim's parent,
  - b. sexual battery;<sup>6</sup>
  - c. procuring a person under the age of 18 for prostitution;<sup>7</sup>
  - d. lewd or lascivious offenses;
  - e. lewd or lascivious battery on an elderly person;<sup>8</sup>
  - f. promoting sexual performance by a child;<sup>9</sup>
  - g. selling or buying a minors for child pornography; or
  - h. a violation of a similar law of another jurisdiction.<sup>10</sup>

In order to be counted as a prior felony, the felony must have resulted in a conviction sentenced separately or an adjudication of delinquency entered separately, prior to the current offense and sentenced or adjudicated separately from any other felony conviction that is to be counted as a prior felony.

If the sexual predator is in the custody or control of, or under the supervision of, the Department of Corrections (DOC), or is in the custody of a private correctional facility, the predator must register with

<sup>6</sup> Excluded are offenses contained in ss. 794.011(10) and 794.0235, F.S.

<sup>10</sup> Additionally, a person must be designated as a sexual predator if he or she committed one of the offenses listed in a. through h. above and has previously been convicted of the offense of selling or showing obscenity to a minor or using a computer to solicit sexual conduct of or with a minor [ss. 847.0133 or 847.0135, F.S.]

the DOC and provide specified information. Private correctional facilities are also governed by these requirements.

If the sexual predator is not in the custody or control of, or under the supervision of, the DOC, or is not in the custody of a private correctional facility, and the predator establishes or maintains a residence in this state, the predator must initially register in person at an Florida Department of Law Enforcement (FDLE) office, or at the sheriff's office in the county of residence within 48 hours after establishing permanent or temporary residence.

Within 48 hours of initial registration, a sexual predator who is not incarcerated and who resides in the community, including a predator under DOC supervision, must register at a driver's license office of the Department of Highway Safety and Motor Vehicles (DHSMV) and present proof of registration, provide specified information, and secure a driver's license, if qualified, or an identification card. Each time a sexual predator's driver's license or identification card is subject to renewal, and within 48 hours after any change in the predator's residence or name, he or she must report in person to a driver's license facility of the DHSMV and is subject to specified registration requirements. This information is provided to FDLE which maintains the statewide registry of all sexual predators and sexual offenders (discussed further below). The department maintains a searchable web-site containing the names and addresses of all sexual predators and offenders as well as a toll-free telephone number.

A sexual predator's failure to comply with registration requirements is a third degree felony.<sup>11</sup> A sexual predator is required to maintain registration for the duration of his or her life, unless the sexual predator has received a full pardon or has had a conviction set aside in a postconviction proceeding.

Erectile Dysfunction

The term erectile dysfunction (ED) covers a range of disorders, but usually refers to the inability to obtain an adequate erection for satisfactory sexual activity.<sup>12</sup> Approximately 30 million men in the United States have erectile dysfunction.<sup>13</sup> According to the Department of Health (DOH), some ED drugs must be obtained by prescription while others (e.g. herbal remedies, etc...) may be obtained over-the-counter without a prescription.

Currently, there do not appear to be any statutory provisions prohibiting a specific group of persons (e.g. sexual predators) from possessing an ED drug (prescription or otherwise).<sup>14</sup>

Effect of the Bill

This bill would prohibit a sexual predator from possessing a prescription drug, as defined in s. 499.003(25), F.S.<sup>15</sup>, for the purpose of treating ED. A sexual predator who violates this provision once commits a second degree misdemeanor<sup>16</sup>. Subsequent violations are first degree misdemeanors<sup>17</sup>.

There are a number of prescription and over-the-counter drugs that may cause erectile dysfunction.<sup>18</sup> Many people take such drugs to treat other medical conditions they may have (e.g. diuretics and antihypertensives, antidepressants, anti-anxiety drugs and antiepileptic drugs, antihistamines, Parkinson's disease medications, prostate cancer medications, and chemotherapy medications). Sexual predators who take have a medical condition which requires them to take a drug that, as a side effect, causes them to experience ED may challenge this bill.

IV. AMENDMENTS/COMMITTEE SUBSTITUTE & COMBINED BILL CHANGES

On February 15, 2006, the Criminal Justice Committee adopted a strike-all amendment to the bill and reported the bill favorably with committee substitute. The strike-all amendment:

- Removes the portion of the bill defining the term "drug";
- Removes the portion of the bill that would make it a crime for a person to distribute a drug treating erectile dysfunction to a sexual predator; and
- Re-words the portion of the bill relating to sexual predators possessing erectile dysfunction drugs.

SUMMARY ANALYSIS

A notary public is an appointed public officer, commissioned by the Governor, whose function is to administer oaths, take acknowledgments of deeds and other instruments, attest to or certify photocopies of certain documents, and perform other duties.

This bill requires a notary to maintain a journal of notarial acts. The record in the journal must include the date, time, and type of notarial act; the title or name of the document or transaction; the printed name and signature of the signer; and the signer's complete address, telephone number, and specific type of identification presented by the signer. A notary who is either an attorney licensed in this state or who is employed by an attorney licensed in this state is not required to maintain a journal.

This bill also authorizes a notary public to charge $10 dollars for each signature notarized, rather than per document. However, the bill prohibits notaries public from charging fees for services to a U.S. military veteran, firefighter, or law enforcement officer applying for a pension, allotment, allowance, compensation, insurance policy, or other benefit resulting from public service.

This bill does not appear to have a fiscal impact on state or local governments.

FULL ANALYSIS

I. SUBSTANTIVE ANALYSIS

A. HOUSE PRINCIPLES ANALYSIS:

Provide limited government -- This bill increases the regulation of notaries public.

B. EFFECT OF PROPOSED CHANGES:

Present Situation

A notary public (hereinafter "notary" or "notaries") is a "public officer appointed and commissioned by the Governor whose function is to administer oaths; to take acknowledgments of deeds and other instruments; to attest to or certify photocopies of certain documents; and to perform other duties specified by law."<sup>1</sup>

Chapter 117, F.S.,<sup>2</sup> provides for notaries and directs that the Governor is authorized to appoint as many notaries as necessary.<sup>3</sup> A notary must be at least 18 years of age, maintain legal residence in the state throughout the commission, and possess the ability to read, write, and understand English.

Once appointed, a notary serves a four-year term.<sup>4</sup> During the term of office, a notary must post and maintain a $7,500 bond payable to any individual harmed as a result of a notaries breach of duty.<sup>5</sup> The bond must be approved and filed with the Department of State and executed by a surety company that is authorized to transact business in Florida.<sup>6</sup> If a surety pays an individual harmed by the notary for breach of duty, the company must notify the Governor of the payment and the underlying circumstances.<sup>7</sup>

Duties of a Notary

A notary is approved to perform six functions: administer oaths or affirmations;<sup>8</sup> take acknowledgements;<sup>9</sup> attest to photocopies of certain documents;<sup>10</sup> solemnize marriage;<sup>11</sup> verify vehicle identification numbers;<sup>12</sup> and certify contents of a safe-deposit box.<sup>13</sup> With the exception of solemnizing a marriage, a notary public cannot charge more than $10 for each notarial act.<sup>14</sup> Any person who unlawfully possesses a notary public official seal or any papers or copies relating to notarial acts is guilty of a misdemeanor of the second degree,<sup>15</sup> as anyone who impersonates a notary.<sup>16</sup>

Suspension of a Notary

The Governor can suspend a notary for any of the grounds provided in Art. 4, s. 7, Fla. Const.<sup>17</sup> The Governor also may suspend a notary for grounds of malfeasance, misfeasance, or neglect of duty, as specified in s. 117.01(4), F.S.<sup>18</sup>

Effect of Bill

The bill requires a notary to maintain a journal of notarial acts.<sup>19</sup> The journal is to contain each notarial act in sequential order. The record in the journal must include the date, time, and type of notarial act; the title or name of the document or transaction; the printed name and signature of the signer; and the signer's complete address, telephone number, and specific type of identification presented by the signer.<sup>20</sup> Moreover, the notarial journal must be maintained by a notary for at least 5 years after the date of the last entry. Should a journal be stolen, lost, misplaced, destroyed, or rendered unusable, the notary is required to immediately notify the Executive Office of the Governor in writing of the circumstances of the incident. Finally, failure by a notary to comply with these requirements could result in the suspension or non-renewal of the notary's public commission by the Executive Office of the Governor.

A notary who is either an attorney licensed in this state or who is employed by an attorney licensed in this state is not required to maintain a journal of notarial acts.

Current law allows a notary to charge up to $10 per notarial act.<sup>21</sup> This bill permits a notary to charge $10 per signature notarized, rather than $10 per notarial act. However, a notary may not charge fees for services to a U.S. military veteran, firefighter, or law enforcement officer who is applying for a pension, allotment, allowance, compensation, insurance policy, or other benefit resulting from public service.

C. SECTION DIRECTORY:

Section 1 amends s. 117.05, F.S., regarding notary fees.

Section 2 creates s. 117.071, F.S., requiring a notary to maintain a journal of each notarial act.

<sup>18</sup> Grounds of malfeasance, misfeasance, or neglect of duty, specified in section 117.01(4), F.S., include, but are not limited to: a material false statement on the application; a complaint found to have merit by the Governor; failure to cooperate or respond to an investigation by the Governor's Office or the Department of State regarding a complaint; Official misconduct as defined in s. 838.022, F.S.; false or misleading advertising relating to notary public services; unauthorized practice of law; failure to report a change in address or telephone number within the required time or failure to request an amended commission following a name change; commission of fraud, misrepresentation, or any intentional violation of ch. 117, F.S.; charging fees in excess of fees authorized by law; or failure to maintain the required bond.

<sup>19</sup> In 1998, the Legislature enacted a law that required all electronic notarizations to be logged in a journal. See, ch. 98-246, L.O.F.; s. 117.20, F.S., (1998 Supp.). Each notarial act memorialized in the journal had to include certain information and be kept at least five years. If the journal was lost or stolen, the notary had to notify the Governor's Office or the Department of State. The notary public had to let the Governor's Office or the Department of State inspect the journal at any time it requested. In 1999, the law was repealed. See, s. 165, ch. 99-251, L.O.F. Although Florida law does not currently require the use of a notary journal, the Governor's Reference Manual for Notaries recommends that notaries voluntarily maintain a journal. Reference Manual, at 42.

<sup>20</sup> The National Notary Association ("NNA") compiled the Model Notary Act of 2002, which was an attempt to modernize the notary public office. The Act was the work of a drafting committee of individuals from the legal, business and governmental spheres. See http://www.nationalnotary.org/UserImages/Model\_Notary\_Act.pdf (last visited March 2, 2006). The Model Notary Act, in ss. 7-1 and 7-2, requires a notary to maintain a journal and suggests that the journal contain a list of information for each act performed; which would include the thumbprint of each principal and witness in a notarial act. The thumbprint requirement, along with several other requirements, was considered controversial by the committee. Comment, s. 7-2(a), Model Notary Act. The instant bill contains no such provision.

Section 3 provides an effective date of January 1, 2007.

II. FISCAL ANALYSIS & ECONOMIC IMPACT STATEMENT

A. FISCAL IMPACT ON STATE GOVERNMENT:

1. Revenues:

The bill does not create, modify, amend, or eliminate a state revenue source.

2. Expenditures:

The bill does not create, modify, amend, or eliminate a state expenditure.

B. FISCAL IMPACT ON LOCAL GOVERNMENTS:

1. Revenues:

The bill does not create, modify, amend, or eliminate a local revenue source.

2. Expenditures:

The bill does not create, modify, amend, or eliminate a local expenditure.

C. DIRECT ECONOMIC IMPACT ON PRIVATE SECTOR:

A notary public must purchase a journal for recording notarial acts.<sup>22</sup>

D. FISCAL COMMENTS:

Due to the new requirements of this bill, the amount of time necessary for a notary public to notarize a document may be increased, thereby potentially increasing the cost of businesses that rely on notary services.

III. COMMENTS

A. CONSTITUTIONAL ISSUES:

1. Applicability of Municipality/County Mandates Provision:

This bill does not appear to require counties or municipalities to take an action requiring the expenditure of funds, reduce the authority that counties or municipalities have to raise revenue in the aggregate, nor reduce the percentage of state tax shared with counties or municipalities.

2. Other:

None.

B. RULE-MAKING AUTHORITY:

None.

C. DRAFTING ISSUES OR OTHER COMMENTS:

Public Records Law

Under s. 119.07(1)(a), F.S.:

<sup>22</sup> Journals of notarial acts can be purchased for between $11.95, with space for over 700 entries, to $34.99, which provides space for 775 notarizations.

Every person who has custody of a public record shall permit the record to be inspected and copied by any person desiring to do so, at any reasonable time, under reasonable conditions, and under supervision by the custodian of the public records.

As used in s. 119.07, F.S., the term "public records" means:

all documents, papers, letters, maps, books, tapes, photographs, films, sound recordings, data processing software, or other material, regardless of the physical form, characteristics, or means of transmission, made or received pursuant to law or ordinance or in connection with the transaction of official business by any agency.<sup>23</sup>

As used in s. 119.07, F.S., the term "agency" means:

any state, county, district, authority, or municipal officer, department, division, board, bureau, commission, or other separate unit of government created or established by law including, for the purposes of this chapter, the Commission on Ethics, the Public Service Commission, and the Office of Public Counsel, and any other public or private agency, person, partnership, corporation, or business entity acting on behalf of any public agency.<sup>24</sup>

Because a notary public is a public officer under the State Constitution, the notary journal required by this bill may be a public record that is available for inspection and copying pursuant to Art. I, s. 24(a), Fla. Const. and ch. 119, F.S.

Journal Requirement

The Reference Manual drafted by the Governor's Task Force on Notaries Public in 1989 suggested the mandatory use of journals.<sup>25</sup> Moreover, while notary journals are not required to maintain a journal under current law, the Reference Manual recommends "any notary who is concerned with liability may want to consider this protective measure to provide a permanent record of his or her notarial acts."<sup>26</sup> Furthermore, the National Notary Association maintains that the use of a notarial journal will assist in preventing real estate fraud. It appears that the NNA's chief tool in preventing real estate fraud is the requirement that each document signer place a thumbprint in the notarial journal; a requirement absent from this bill.

Detractors of the bill point to the increased responsibility a notary would have for each signature as being unduly cumbersome. Their concern revolves around the additional time needed for a notary need to comply with the new requirements.

IV. AMENDMENTS/COMMITTEE SUBSTITUTE & COMBINED BILL CHANGES

On February 22, 2006, the Civil Justice Committee adopted an amendment removing everything after the enacting clause. The amendment modified the bill in the following manner:

- An exception to the journal requirement was created. A notary who is either an attorney licensed in this state or who is employed by an attorney licensed in this state is not required to maintain a journal of notarial acts.
- In the event a notary's journal is stolen, lost, misplaced, destroyed, or rendered unusable, the amendment requires the notary to notify solely the Executive Office of the Governor.

<sup>23</sup> Section 119.011(11), F.S.

<sup>25</sup> Reference Manual, at 42.

<sup>26</sup> Id., at 43.

- The title was corrected.

The bill was then reported favorably with a committee substitute.
